Campbell,2022-05-03 An enthralling and compulsively readable memoir James Campbell is a marvelously charming teller of his improbable progress from high school dropout to literary critic and intellectual There is no resisting the humor and modesty the humanity and tenderness of his vivid account Phillip Lopate author of To Show and to Tell The Craft of Literary Nonfiction The writing throughout is excellent and measured August Kleinzahler author of Sleeping It Off in Rapid City In Just Go Down to the Road James Campbell a native Glaswegian recounts his years as an incipient juvenile delinquent arrested for stealing books and his young adulthood spent on the road in the early 1970s After dropping out of school at fifteen Campbell struggled with family relations and factory work Soon he threw it all off and went traveling through Europe the Near East and North Africa His was a bohemian existence he got along by hitchhiking and trading work for shelter In time Campbell settled back in Scotland Long a reader and writer he began working for local magazines and attending University His early encounters with well known authors including John Fowles and James Baldwin set him on his true path which took him to the position of long time writer of the NB column for the Times Literary Supplement Just Go Down to the Road ends as Campbell gets his first book deal and after an unlikely start and unorthodox education begins to find his place in the world of literature

The Curse of Iqbal: Memoir of a Ship Broker's Son Robert Stephen Hamlin,2014-10-01 Even as a little kid the author harbored visions of becoming a writer or perhaps a gym teacher Those dreams were deemed insufficiently ambitious to his parents who had experienced the Great Depression firsthand They gave all three of their children the best education money could buy Over two centuries ago the poet William Wordsworth My Heart Leaps Up wrote the child is father of the man For the author of this memoir studying the poets of the Romantic era of English literature was the highlight of all his many years of schooling And the dreams of the child never were completely snuffed out Through the twists and turns of a young man becoming an adult the author became subject to the draft lottery instituted to insure the country had an adequate supply of men to fight the North Vietnamese However before his number ever came up he found himself in a hospital bed after a week of unconsciousness in the intensive care ward He had been in a devastating car accident a head on collision that killed both driver and passenger of the car that hit him His injuries turned out to be mostly physical despite the ominous warning from his neurological surgeon He missed a year to operations physical therapy and relearning to walk but he walked away stronger in body mind and spirit While this book is no misery memoir it does in subtle tones remind the reader that we all are subject to things over which we have no control Seeing life through the prism of paralysis as he did the author long ago adopted an attitude of gratitude and acceptance Buoyed by an indomitable sense of humor and indefatigable spirit through the years he has remained up when many around him are down The informal yet chronological setting of the book will bring you along for many of the voyages the author took in the fifteen or so years after the accident but leaves you at the end quite literally up in the air as he ponders what life has in store for him next Whether the author is travelling by backpack or hunkered down in office suites in Manhattan his optimistic point of view continues to carry him through both loss and recovery through reinvention and rediscovery      Memoirs of Archbishop Temple: Memoir of early years, 1821-1848 Ernest Grey Sandford,1906      The Road to Somewhere: An American Memoir James A. Reeves,2011-08-09 During a five year cross country journey spanning 40 000 miles Reeves created a photo memoir of the neon corridors and dark corners a slow reckoning with his own compulsions and unexpected loss      The Blink of an Eye: A Memoir of Dying - and Learning How to Live Again Rikke Schmidt Kjaergaard,2019-05-14 A highly personal deeply affecting account of what it is to be yanked from a happy well ordered life and thrust into a sudden unimaginable terrifying darkness Rikke Schmidt Kjaergaard has done the impossible of putting into words an experience that would seem to be beyond expressing from the foreword by Bill Bryson It was New Year's Day Rikke Schmidt Kjaergaard a young mother and scientist was celebrating with family and friends when she was struck down with a sudden fever Within hours she'd suffered multiple organ failure and was clinically dead Then brought back to the edge of life trapped in a near death coma she was given a 5 percent chance of survival She awoke to find herself completely paralyzed with blinking as her sole means of communicating with the outside world The Blink of an Eye is Rikke's gripping account of being locked inside her own body and what it took to painstakingly relearn every basic life skill from breathing and swallowing speaking and walking to truly living again Much more than an account of recovery against all odds this is at its heart a celebration of love family and every little thing that matters when life hangs in the balance      On Wooden Wheels:The Memoir of Carla Nathans Schipper Stacey Goldring,2005-11-28 On Wooden Wheels tells the true story of Carla Nathans Schipper a Dutch woman who survived the Holocaust by concealing herself and her children After the war Carla confronted the emotional aftermath for herself and her daughters remarried left Europe for America and again escaped concealment by refusing to hide her son born with Down syndrome in a period when such children were condemned to live in the shadows On Wooden Wheels moves with force and determination throughout Carla's remarkable life      The Poetical Works, with Original Memoir. Illustrated by F. R. Pickersgill John Tenniel (etc.)

Edgar Allan Poe,1858      Waiting for the Apocalypse: A Memoir of Faith and Family Veronica Chater,2009-02-02 Recounts
