Depictions and Images of War in Edwardian Newspapers, 1899-1914 G. Wilkinson, 2002-12-13 Through a detailed examination of newspaper coverage from 1899 1914 this book seeks to understand the vicarious experience of warfare held by Edwardians at the outset of the First World War The attitudes towards and perceptions of war held by those who participated in it or encouraged others to do so are crucial to our understanding of the origins of the First World War Taking into account media history cultural studies and military history Wilkinson argues that the press depicted war as distant and safe beneficial and desirable and even as some kind of sport or game We are cautioned to avoid the same misconceptions of war in our own contemporary discussions of armed conflict

Discorrelated Images Shane Denson, 2020-09-18 In Discorrelated Images Shane Denson examines how computer generated digital images displace and transform the traditional spatial and temporal relationships that viewers had with conventional analog forms of cinema Denson analyzes works ranging from the Transformers series and Blade Runner 2049 to videogames and multimedia installations to show how what he calls discorrelated images images that do not correlate with the abilities and limits of human perception produce new subjectivities affects and potentials for perception and action Denson's theorization suggests that new media theory and its focus on technological development must now be inseparable from film and cinema theory There's more at stake in understanding discorrelated images Denson contends than just a reshaping of cinema the development of new technical imaging processes and the evolution of film and media studies discorrelated images herald a transformation of subjectivity itself and are essential to our ability to comprehend nonhuman agency

The Image of the Soldier in German Culture, 1871-1933 Paul Fox, 2017-12-14 This study examines the force of tradition in conservative German visual culture exploring thematic continuities in the post conflict representation of battlefield identities from the Franco Prussian War in 1870 71 to the demise of the Weimar Republic in 1933 Using over 40 representative images sampled from both high and popular culture Paul Fox discusses complex and interdependent visual responses to a wide spectrum of historical events spanning world war regional conflict internal security operations and border skirmishes The book demonstrates how all the artists illustrators and photographers whose work is addressed here were motivated to affirm German moral superiority on the battlefield They produced images that advanced dominant notions of how the ideal German man should behave when at war even when the outcome was defeat Their construction of an imagined martial masculinity based on aggressive moral superiority became so deeply rooted in German culture that it eventually provided the basis for a programmatic imagining of how Germany might again recover its standing as a great military power in Central Europe in the wake of defeat in 1918 The Image of the Soldier in German Culture 1871 1933 is an important volume for any historian interested cultural history the representation of armed conflict in European culture the history of modern Germany the Franco Prussian War and the First World War

This book explores the persona of the artist in Archaic and Classical Greek art and literature Guy Hedreen argues that artistic subjectivity first expressed in Athenian vase painting of the sixth century BCE and intensively explored by Euphronios developed alongside a self consciously constructed persona of the poet He explains how poets like Archilochos and Hipponax identified with the wily Homeric character of Odysseus as a prototype of the successful narrator and how the lame yet resourceful artist god Hephaistos is emulated by Archaic vase painters such as Kleitias In lyric poetry and pictorial art Hedreen traces a widespread conception of the artist or poet as socially marginal and sometimes physically imperfect but rhetorically clever technically peerless and a master of fiction Bringing together in a sustained analysis the roots of subjectivity across media this book offers a new way of studying the relationship between poetry and art in ancient Greece

The Soldier Image and State-Building in Modern China, 1924-1945 Yan Xu, 2019-02-15 Based on groundbreaking research, this book is the first of its kind to provide a close examination in English of the extensive imagery of the soldier figure in the war culture of early twentieth century China. This study moves away from the traditional military history perspectives and focuses on the neglected cultural aspect of the intersection of war and society in China during a crucial period that led to the eventual victory of the Chinese Communist Party over the Nationalist Party. Integrating history, literature and arts, this appealing narrative reveals multiple meanings of the soldier figure created by different political, social and cultural forces in modern China. Drawing from a wide range of sources including government documents, speeches, newspaper articles, memoirs, military textbooks and yangge drama, Yan Xu recounts stories of unforgettable Chinese political leaders including Chiang Kai-shek and Mao Zedong. She also examines the wartime experiences of previously marginalized social groups including women soldiers, wounded soldiers, student soldiers, military writers and vocational education professionals, giving voice to those largely forgotten by military historians. This book opens up a new area in modern Chinese history and Chinese military history by revealing that the cultural discourse on the soldier image is essential to understanding Chinese nationalism, state building and civil-military relations in the early twentieth century.
