Scott Thornton,Kathleen Schramm,2014-01-02 Ask Your Gynecologist was written for all of the women who cannot find the information they need to answer their questions about their bodies Drs Thornton and Schramm examine the most commonly asked questions and give valuable insight and advice about everything related to gynecology including pap smears the menstrual cycle family planning infections and disorders pregnancy and surgery Each chapter is divided into questions so readers can look up specific issues quickly Examples inspired by real women s situations are also included so readers can see that all of their questions are valid and worth asking Advice on how to choose a gynecologist when to make an appointment and how to ensure that daughters visit a doctor is also included as well as a full glossary and index Jill the Pill ,2006 Sisters Robin and Jill spend a day at the local festival A Princess of Kensington Sir Edward German,Basil Hood,1903

Spelling Cynthia Dee Buchanan,1967 Childfree and Sterilized Annily Campbell,1999-01-01 This book examines the relatively new social and medical phenomenon of women in the developed countries of the world choosing to remain childfree and electing for sterilization rather than continuing with other forms of contraception Twenty three voluntarily childfree sterilized women aged 22 to 51 years tell their stories revealing the struggles they faced in being women without children in a society which expects women to be mothers They describe the many barriers encountered on the way to being sterilized including prejudice from those around them as well as hostility and refusal from the medical profession The women recall how their reasons and decisions were ignored or pathologized by doctors who held unquestioned assumptions about how women should be Feminist and sociological perspectives are employed to highlight that voluntarily childfree women are perceived as abnormal not real women and are often the target of negative and critical comment Practices and Principles Mark Tunick,2021-03-09 A Japanese woman living in California attempts parent child suicide an ancient Japanese custom called oyako shinju in order to rid herself of shame upon learning that her husband has a mistress She survives but her two children are drowned in the attempt Since her attempt was made in accordance with the standards of Japanese culture should she be tried by the standards and laws of the United States Are there universally valid moral principles that dictate what is right Or are moral judgments culturally relative ultimately dictated by conventions and practices that vary among societies In Practices and Principles Mark Tunick takes up the debate between universalists and relativists and in political philosophy between communitarians and liberals each of which has roots in an earlier debate between Kant and Hegel Tunick focuses on three case studies promises contract law and the Fourth Amendment issue of privacy In his analysis he rejects both uncritical deference to social practice and draconian adherence to principles when making legal and ethical judgments He argues that we do not always need to choose between abstract principles and social practices Sometimes we appeal to both sometimes we need to appeal to shared social norms and sometimes where there is no ethical community we can appeal only to principles Ultimately Tunick rejects simplified arguments that force us to choose between either practices or principles universalism or relativism and liberalism or communitarianism The Epworth Herald ,1922
