Hotel Trópico Jerry Dávila,2010-08-03 In the wake of African decolonization Brazil attempted to forge connections with newly independent countries In the early 1960s it launched an effort to establish diplomatic ties with Africa in the 1970s it undertook trade campaigns to open African markets to Brazilian technology Hotel Trópico reveals the perceptions particularly regarding race of the diplomats and intellectuals who traveled to Africa on Brazil's behalf Jerry Dávila analyzes how their actions were shaped by ideas of Brazil as an emerging world power ready to expand its sphere of influence of Africa as the natural place to assert that influence given its historical slave trade ties to Brazil and of twentieth century Brazil as a racial democracy a uniquely harmonious mix of races and cultures While the experiences of Brazilian policymakers and diplomats in Africa reflected the logic of racial democracy they also exposed ruptures in this interpretation of Brazilian identity Did Brazil share a lusotropical identity with Portugal and its African colonies so that it was bound to support Portuguese colonialism at the expense of Brazil's ties with African nations Or was Brazil a country of

Africans of every color compelled to support decolonization in its role as a natural leader in the South Atlantic Drawing on interviews with retired Brazilian diplomats and intellectuals D vila shows the Brazilian belief in racial democracy to be about not only race but also Portuguese ethnicity
