Culture and Identity through English as a Lingua Franca Will Baker, 2015-07-01 The use of English as a global lingua franca has given rise to new challenges and approaches in our understanding of language and communication One area where ELF English as a lingua franca studies both from an empirical and theoretical orientation have the potential for significant developments is in our understanding of the relationships between language culture and identity ELF challenges traditional assumptions concerning the purported inexorable link between a language and a culture Due to the multitude of users and contexts of ELF communication the supposed language culture and identity correlation often conceived at the national level appears simplistic and naïve However it is equally naïve to assume that ELF is a culturally and identity neutral form of communication All communication involves participants purposes contexts and histories none of which are neutral Thus we need new approaches to understanding the relationship between language culture and identity which are able to account for the multifarious and dynamic nature of ELF communication

The Routledge Handbook of Pragmatics Anne Barron, Yueguo Gu, Gerard Steen, 2017-01-20 The Routledge Handbook of Pragmatics provides a state of the art overview of the wide breadth of research in pragmatics. An introductory section outlines a brief history, the main issues and key approaches and perspectives in the field, followed by a thought provoking introductory chapter on interdisciplinarity by Jacob L. Mey. A further thirty eight chapters cover both traditional and newer areas of pragmatic research, divided into four sections: Methods and modalities, Established fields, Pragmatics across disciplines, Applications of pragmatic research in today's world. With accessible, refreshing descriptions and discussions and with a look towards future directions, this Handbook is an essential resource for advanced undergraduates, postgraduates and researchers in pragmatics within English language and linguistics and communication studies.

English as a Lingua Franca among Adolescents Katharina Beuter, 2023-07-04. This volume is not only the first book length investigation into adolescents' use of English as a Lingua Franca (ELF), it also explores ELF in an African European context which has received little attention in ELF research so far. The book examines the interplay between language, culture and identity in adolescents' ELF interactions. It combines quantitative and qualitative approaches to explore strategies secondary school students employ in a German Tanzanian student exchange in order to reach their communicative goals. Introducing and drawing on the TeenELF corpus, the book investigates the speaker and situation specific potential of repetition and repair, complimenting laughter and humour as well as various practices of translanguaging. The study reveals ELF as a transcultural space in which different linguacultural influences meet and merge while meaning, rapport and identity are interactionally negotiated. In the face of an increasing interest in ELF informed pedagogy, the present approach investigates the communicative needs and competences of school students and derives both theoretical as well as classroom implications from its linguistic findings.

Handbook of Translation Studies Yves Gambier, Luc van Doorslaer, 2013-12-20. As a meaningful manifestation of how institutionalized the discipline has become, the new Handbook of Translation Studies is most welcome. It joins the other signs of maturation such as Summer Schools, the development of academic curricula, historical surveys, journals, book series, textbooks, terminologies, bibliographies and encyclopedias. The HTS aims at disseminating knowledge about translation and interpreting and providing easy access to a large range of topics, traditions and methods to a relatively broad audience, not only students who often adamantly prefer such user-friendliness, researchers and lecturers in Translation Studies, Translation, but also scholars and experts from other disciplines among which linguistics, sociology, history, psychology. In addition, the HTS addresses any of those with a professional or personal interest in the problems of translation, interpreting, localization, editing, etc. such as communication specialists, journalists, literary critics, editors, public servants, business managers, intercultural organization specialists, media specialists, marketing professionals. The usability, accessibility and flexibility of the HTS depend on the commitment of people who agree that Translation Studies does matter. All users are therefore invited to share their feedback. Any questions, remarks and suggestions for improvement can be sent to the editorial team at hts.kuleuven.be. Next to the book edition in printed and electronic PDF format, HTS is also available as an online resource connected with the Translation
