George Frederickson, 1978 Strategic Occidentalism Ignacio M. Sanchez Prado, 2018-08-15 Strategic Occidentalism examines the transformation in both aesthetics and infrastructure of Mexican fiction since the late 1970s During this time a framework has emerged characterized by the corporatization of publishing a frictional relationship between Mexican literature and global book markets and the desire of Mexican writers to break from dominant models of national culture In the course of this analysis Ignacio M Sanchez Prado engages with theories of world literature proposing that world literature is a construction produced at various levels including the national that must be studied from its material conditions of production in specific sites In particular he argues that Mexican writers have engaged in a strategic Occidentalism in which their idiosyncratic connections with world literature have responded to dynamics different from those identified by world systems or diffusionist theorists Strategic Occidentalism identifies three scenes in which a cosmopolitan aesthetics in Mexican world literature has been produced Sergio Pitol's translation of Eastern European and marginal British modernist literature the emergence of the Crack group as a polemic against the legacies of magical realism and the challenges of writers like Carmen Boullosa Cristina Rivera Garza and Ana Garc a Bergua to the roles traditionally assigned to Latin American writers in world literature Spain on Screen A. justice in particular by improving labour conditions was an essential precondition for universal peace Since then the ILO has seen successes and set backs it has been ridiculed and praised Much has been written about the ILO there are semi official histories and some critical studies on the organization s history have recently been published Yet further source based critical and comprehensive analyses of the organization s origins and development are still lacking The present collection of eighteen essays is an attempt to change this unsatisfactory situation by complementing those histories that already exist exploring new topics and offering new perspectives It is guided by the observation that the ILO s history is not primarily about elaborating beautiful texts and collecting impressive instruments for ratification but about effecting real change and more happiness in peoples lives

Urban Agriculture and City Sustainability II S. Mambretti,J.L. Miralles i Garcia,2020-12-07 As urban populations continue to increase it is essential to consider ways of reducing their impact in terms of the use of natural resources waste production and climate change The increasing number of people in cities requires new strategies to supply the necessary food with limited provision of land and decreasing resources This will become more challenging unless innovative solutions for growing and distributing food in urban environments are considered The scale of modern food production has created and exacerbated many vulnerabilities and the feeding of cities is now infinitely more complex As such the food system cannot be considered secure ethical or sustainable In the last few years there has been a rapid expansion in initiatives and projects exploring innovative methods and processes for sustainable food production The majority of these projects are focused on providing alternative models that shift the power back from the global food system to communities and farmers improving social cohesion health and wellbeing It is therefore not surprising that more people are looking towards urban farming initiatives as a potential solution These initiatives have demonstrated that urban agriculture has the potential to transform our living environment towards ecologically sustainable and healthy cities Urban agriculture can also contribute to energy natural resources land and water savings ecological diversity and urban management cost reductions The impact urban agriculture can have on the shape and form of our cities has never been fully addressed How cities embed these new approaches and initiatives as part of new urban developments and a city regeneration strategy is critical The 2nd International Conference on Urban Agriculture and City Sustainability addressed these challenges and the search for new solutions The presented papers which form this volume detail research works looking at how urban agriculture can contribute to achieving sustainable cities

The Radical Insufficiency of Human Life Aileen Dever,2000-01-01 The postromantic works of the Spaniard Rosal a de Castro and the Colombian Jos Asunci n Silva are indispensable in any anthology of 19th century Spanish and Latin American poetry However they found few appreciative readers during their lifetimes even while displaying two of the most sincere voices of the day Dever s book is unique it is the first comparison of Castro s and Silva s poetry Their works have meaningful differences but share remarkable likenesses in theme tone and style though it is doubtful that either was aware of the other's existence Of interest to feminist critics is an interpretation of Castro's literary vocation within a patriarchal society Using the ideas of three 20th century Spanish thinkers Jos Ortega y Gasset Xavier Zubiri and Pedro Laín Entralgo Devere applies the concept of radical insufficiency to a comparison of the poets' works Radical insufficiency holds that humans lack a determined being and fixed course for life thus norms are not available to make the world intelligible Humans experience feelings of uncertainty and emptiness which inevitably lead to anxiety Confronted by the mystery and pathos of human life Castro and Silva both describe futile attempts to overcome this insufficiency through creation and contemplation of art human relationships and religion The significance of these writers has transcended their own time when examined in the context of Spanish and Latin American authors and thinkers who succeeded them the importance of their works will continue to grow The Spanish
