Reynolds,1845 The Mysteries of London (Complete) George William MacArthur Reynolds,2020-09-28 BETWEEN the 10th and 13th centuries Civilisation withdrew from Egypt and Syria rested for a little space at Constantinople and then passed away to the western climes of Europe From that period these climes have been the grand laboratory in which Civilisation has wrought out refinement in every art and every science and whence it has diffused its benefits over the earth It has taught commerce to plough the waves of every sea with the adventurous keel it has enabled handfuls of disciplined warriors to subdue the mighty armaments of oriental princes and its daring sons have planted its banners amidst the eternal ice of the poles It has cut down the primitive forests of America carried trade into the interior of Africa annihilated time and distance by the aid of steam and now contemplates how to force a passage through Suez and Panama The bounties of Civilisation are at present almost everywhere recognised Nevertheless for centuries has Civilisation established and for centuries will it maintain its headquarters in the great cities of Western Europe and with Civilisation does Vice go hand in hand Amongst these cities there is one in which contrasts of a strange nature exist The most unbounded wealth is the neighbour of the most hideous poverty the most gorgeous pomp is placed in strong relief by the most deplorable squalor the most seducing luxury is only separated by a narrow wall from the most appalling misery The crumbs which fall from the tables of the rich would appear delicious viands to starving millions and yet those millions obtain them not In that city there are in all districts five prominent buildings the church in which the pious pray the gin palace to which the wretched poor resort to drown their sorrows the pawnbroker s where miserable creatures pledge their raiment and their children s raiment even unto the last rag to obtain the means of purchasing food and alas too often intoxicating drink the prison where the victims of a vitiated condition of society expiate the crimes to which they have been driven by starvation and despair and the workhouse to which the destitute the aged and the friendless hasten to lay down their aching heads and die And congregated together in one district of this city in an assemblage of palaces whence emanate by night the delicious sounds of music within whose walls the foot treads upon rich carpets whose sideboards are covered with plate whose cellars contain the choicest nectar of the temperate and torrid zones and whose inmates recline beneath velvet canopies feast at each meal upon the collated produce of four worlds and scarcely have to breathe a wish before they find it gratified *The Mysteries of London. Reynolds,1848 AIDS at 30 Victoria A. Harden,Anthony Fauci, MD,2012-01-01 Society was not prepared in 1981 for the appearance of a new infectious disease but we have since learned that emerging and reemerging diseases will continue to challenge humanity AIDS at 30 is the first history of HIV AIDS written for a general audience that emphasizes the medical response to the epidemic Award winning medical historian Victoria A Harden approaches the AIDS virus from philosophical and intellectual perspectives in the history of medical science discussing the process of scientific discovery scientific evidence and how laboratories found the cause of AIDS and developed therapeutic interventions Similarly her book places AIDS as the first infectious disease to be recognized simultaneously worldwide as a single phenomenon After years of believing that vaccines and antibiotics would keep deadly epidemics away researchers doctors patients and the public were forced to abandon the arrogant assumption that they had conquered infectious diseases By presenting an accessible discussion of the history of HIV AIDS and analyzing how aspects of society advanced or hindered the response to the disease AIDS at 30 illustrates for both medical professionals and general readers how medicine identifies and evaluates new infectious diseases quickly and what political and cultural factors limit the medical community s response Time
