A Fortunate Life Paddy Ashdown, 2010-09-25 Paddy Ashdown's autobiography was hailed as one of the most readable and exciting political life stories ever written of all precisely because it was so very much more This is the autobiography of an old fashioned Man of Action an adventurer to be compared more readily to Fitzroy Maclean than David Steel Ashdown's years as MP for Yeovil and leader of the Liberal Democrats pale alongside his time as a Royal Marine Commando in the Special Boat Squadron as a spy on military service in Northern Ireland and Indonesia and then subsequently perhaps his finest and most heroic role as the UN's High representative in war torn Bosnia As one reviewer remarked This must be the first political memoir to offer advice on the best way to execute a jungle ambush and on how to treat an open wound using red ants Ashdown's appeal which explains this book's hardback bestseller status is that he transcends party political allegiances and is seen as a genuinely honest and decent man unafraid to take on the hardest challenges

The Boy Who Biked the World: Part Three Alastair Humphreys, Tom Morgan-Jones, 2015-09-30 Tom was laughed at for day dreaming His dreams were of being an adventurer One day he decided to prove everyone wrong and set off cycling round the world Parts One and Two follow Tom crossing Europe and descending Africa then pedalling through the Americas to Alaska In Part Three Tom is on the last leg of his journey where he continues to discover strange and amazing sights and meet a host of fun characters He skids through the freezing temperatures of Siberia and in Japan even shares a steaming hot pool with some surprised monkeys He follows the Great Wall of China towards the mysterious lands of Central Asia and on crossing the world's largest inland sea is at last biking through Europe towards his home in Yorkshire Based on the author's personal experiences and with engaging illustrations maps and handwritten journal entries throughout this book provides an immersive experience for any young adventurer
