Many experiments have shown the human brain generally has very serious problems dealing with probability and chance A greater understanding of probability can help develop the intuition necessary to approach risk with the ability to make more informed and better decisions The first four chapters offer the standard content for an introductory probability course albeit presented in a much different way and order The chapters afterward include some discussion of different games different ideas that relate to the law of large numbers and many more mathematical topics not typically seen in such a book The use of games is meant to make the book and course feel like fun Since many of the early games discussed are casino games the study of those games along with an understanding of the material in later chapters should remind you that gambling is a bad idea you should think of placing bets in a casino as paying for entertainment Winning can obviously be a fun reward but should not ever be expected Changes for the Second Edition New chapter on Game Theory New chapter on Sports Mathematics The chapter on Blackjack which was Chapter 4 in the first edition appears later in the book

Reorganization has been done to improve the flow of topics and learning New sections on Arkham Horror Uno and Scrabble have been added Even more exercises were added The goal for this textbook is to complement the inquiry based learning movement In my mind concepts and ideas will stick with the reader more when they are motivated in an interesting way Here we use questions about various games not just casino games to motivate the mathematics and I would say that the writing emphasizes a just in time mathematics approach Topics are presented mathematically as questions about the games themselves are posed Table of Contents Preface 1 Mathematics and Probability 2 Roulette and Craps Expected Value 3 Counting Poker Hands 4 More Dice Counting and Combinations and Statistics 5 Game Theory Poker Bluffing and Other Games 6 Probability Stochastic Matrices Board Game Movement 7 Sports Mathematics Probability Meets Athletics 8 Blackjack Previous Methods Revisited 9 A Mix of Other Games 10 Betting Systems Can You Beat the System 11 Potpourri Assorted Adventures in Probability Appendices Tables Answers and Selected Solutions Bibliography Biography

The Gambling Act 2005 Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Culture, Media and Sport Committee, 2012-07-24 High street betting shops and casinos alike are currently allowed a maximum of four B2 FOBT gaming machines which allow stakes up to 100 and a 500 prize Casinos should instead be permitted to operate up to twenty B2 type gaming machines Limiting the number of B2 machines in betting shops has encouraged them to cluster in some high streets in order to satisfy customer demand Local Authorities should have the power to permit more than the four B2 machines per shop if they believe it will help with clustering The Committee also recommends that any local authority be able to make the decision as to whether or not they want a casino As a step towards this existing 1968 Act Casino licences should be made portable allowing operators to relocate to any local authority provided that they continue to be constrained by the need to obtain local authority approval a premises licence and planning permission The failure to set remote gambling taxation at a level at which online operators could remain within the UK has led to almost every online gambling operator moving offshore whilst most are still able to advertise and operate into the UK The Committee further recommends the Gambling Commission should introduce a new licence fee structure which reduces the current anomaly where small independent bookmakers pay much higher fees per shop than large chains Particularly given the absence of a significant UK regulated online sector or any Regional Casinos the Gambling Commission remains an overly expensive bureaucratic regulator
