Imagination And Existence:

The Theory of Imagination in Classical and Mediaeval Thought Murray Wright Bundy, 1928      Philosophy of Language and Webs of Information Heimir Geirsson, 2013-03-05

The nature of propositions and the cognitive value of names have been the focal point of philosophy of language for the last few decades. The advocates of the causal reference theory have favored the view that the semantic contents of proper names are their referents. However, Frege's puzzle about the different cognitive value of coreferential names has made this identification seem impossible. Geirsson provides a detailed overview of the debate to date and then develops a novel account that explains our reluctance even when we know about the relevant identity to substitute coreferential names in both simple sentences and belief contexts while nevertheless accepting the view that the semantic content of names is their referents. The account focuses on subjects organizing information in webs; a name can then access and elicit information from a given web. Geirsson proceeds to extend the account of information to non-referring names but they have long provided a serious challenge to the causal reference theorist.

It presents a rich tapestry of reflections on faith, morality, and human existence, enticing readers to explore profound ideas laid out by diverse thinkers. Standout pieces delve into the human soul's pursuit of truth and the search for a higher purpose, inviting readers to question, reflect, and seek deeper understanding. The contributors to this anthology span a vast historical and cultural landscape, each bringing a unique perspective to the spiritual discourse. The Life and the Doctrines of Philippus Theophrastus, Bombast of Hohenheim, Known by the Name of Paracelsus Franz Hartmann, 1891      Selected Writings of Anil Gharai Indranil Acharya, 2023-12-18 Anil

Gharai is arguably one of the most significant authors of Bangla Dalit literature. His works deal with the stark everyday realities of people on the margins and the complex interplay of domination and subjugation in these spaces. This volume of English translations of some of his most celebrated works seeks to introduce his writings to a new readership in India and abroad. In his works, Gharai explored caste-based and gender-based oppression in the rural areas of coastal Bengal. His protagonists are from remote spaces from the Dalit community or the indigenous communities, men and women who work and live in extremely exploitative circumstances and whose lives are depicted by Gharai with great care and detail. His novels, short stories, and poems translated in this volume give voice to the unrepresented and offer a critique of the oppressive caste and class hierarchies and traditions in eastern India. He also focuses on the replication of patriarchal mores within Dalit society and culture. This volume includes critical essays on Anil Gharai and his long interview to reflect on his position in the alternative literary canon of Bangla Dalit literature. Part of the Voices from the Margins series, this critical edition seeks to visibilise the less visible literary texts and traditions. It will be of interest to those scholars engaged in contemporary Indian, South Asian literary cultures, comparative literature, modern Indian literature, minority studies, Dalit studies, and gender studies. It will also be useful to students and researchers of social sciences and humanities.
