The English Novel, 1700-1740 Robert Letellier, 2003-02-28 The English novel written between 1700 and 1740 remains a comparatively neglected area In addition to Daniel Defoe whose Robinson Crusoe and Moll Flanders are landmarks in the history of English fiction many other authors were at work These included such women as Penelope Aubin Jane Barker Mary Davys and Eliza Haywood who made a considerable contribution to widening the range of emotional responses in fiction These authors and many others continued writing in the genres inherited from the previous century such as criminal biographies the Utopian novel the science fictional voyage and the epistolary novel This annotated bibliography includes entries for these works and for critical materials pertinent to them The volume first seeks to establish the existing studies of the era along with anthologies It then provides entries for a wide ranging selection of works which cover fictional theoretical historical political and cultural topics to provide a comprehensive background to the unfolding and understanding of prose fiction in the early 18th century This is followed by an alphabetical listing of novels their editions and any critical material available on each The next section provides a chronological record of significant and enduring works of fiction composed or translated in this period The volume concludes with extensive indexes

Greiner, Fritz Kemmler, 1997 Panoramas and Compilations in Nineteenth-Century Britain Helen Kingstone, 2023-01-06 This book shows how in nineteenth century Britain confronted with the newly industrialized and urbanized modern world writers artists journalists and impresarios tried to gain an overview of contemporary history They drew on two successive but competing conceptual models of overview the panorama and the compilation Both models claimed to offer a holistic picture of the present moment but took very different approaches This book shows that panoramas 360 views previously associated with the Romantic period and compilations big data projects previously associated with the Victorian fin de si cle are intertwined relevant across the entire century and often remediated making them crucial lenses through which to view a broad range of genre and forms It brings together interdisciplinary research materials belonging to different period silos to create new understandings of how nineteenth century audiences dealt with information overload It argues for a new politics of distance one that recognizes the value of immersing oneself in a situation event or phenomenon but which also does not chastise us for trying to see the big picture This book is essential reading for students and scholars of nineteenth century literature history visual culture and information studies      Subject Catalog Library of Congress,1980-04      The Cumulative Book Index ,1979 A world list of books in the English language      Christian Fantasy

Colin N. Manlove,1992-06-18 This is the first account of invented stories involving the Christian supernatural In their development a central concern is found to be the fantasy making human imagination itself at first seen as a obstacle to Christian purpose but more recently given freer rein      The Epistolary Moment William C. Dowling,2014-07-14 The eighteenth century verse epistle argues William Dowling was an attempt to solve in literary terms the dilemma of solipsism as raised by Locke and Hume The focus of The Epistolary Moment is on internal audience in poetry the audience inside the poem created by its discourse and belonging to its world as this divides in epistolary poetry into a double or simultaneous register of address the audience directly addressed by the letter writer and an epistolary audience listening in on the exchange from a point external to the discourse of the speaker but internal to the discourse of the poem Epistolary audience lies contends The Epistolary Moment at the heart of an Augustan theory of poetry as ideological intervention poems as symbolic acts with enormous consequences in the domain of the real The emergence of the verse epistle as the dominant form in eighteenth century poetry thus takes as its ultimate context the origins of eighteenth century solipsism in a degraded modernity symbolized by Sir Robert Walpole and his Robinocracy the demonic representatives of a new money or market society arising from the ruins of organic or traditional community Originally published in 1991 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905
