Little Light Weeding R. Briers, 1997-10-01 A Little Light Weeding Richard Briers, 1994 A Little Light Weeding Richard Briers, 1993 Practical Synthetic Data Generation Khaled El Emam, Lucy Mosquera, Richard Hoptroff, 2020-05-19

Building and testing machine learning models requires access to large and diverse data. But where can you find usable datasets without running into privacy issues? This practical book introduces techniques for generating synthetic data: fake data generated from real data so you can perform secondary analysis to do research, understand customer behaviors, develop new products, or generate new revenue. Data scientists will learn how synthetic data generation provides a way to make such data broadly available for secondary purposes while addressing many privacy concerns. Analysts will learn the principles and steps for generating synthetic data from real datasets. And business leaders will see how synthetic data can help accelerate time to a product or solution. This book describes:

- Steps for generating synthetic data using multivariate normal distributions
- Methods for distribution fitting covering different goodness of fit metrics
- How to replicate the simple structure of original data
- An approach for modeling data structure to consider complex relationships
- Multiple approaches and metrics you can use to assess data utility
- How analysis performed on real data can be replicated with synthetic data
- Privacy implications of synthetic data and methods to assess identity disclosure

Joe's Allotment Joe Swift, 2012-05-31

With hardly any previous veg growing experience and even less time when Gardener's World design guru Joe Swift decided to take on a 250 sq metre allotment in north London, some people thought he was mad. But with hard work and dedication in less than a year Joe created his very own urban oasis and a source of delicious fresh organic produce for himself and his family. In this book Joe takes us through every stage of his education as an allotment gardener: from putting his name on the council waiting list to harvesting his first crops. He reveals everything he's learned about acquiring a plot, clearing the site, planning the beds, and planting, nurturing, and protecting his fruit and vegetables. All the techniques he has mastered are described and illustrated step by step. Joe also introduces us to his Veg Heroes like Monty Don and Geoff Hamilton, fellow plot holders with years of experience and the crops to show for it, who inspired Joe to take up veg growing in the first place. And he shares with us his enjoyment of allotment gardening: the combination of hard work, fresh air, and a sense of community that makes his plot such a special place to be. Whether you are an established allotment gardener or are thinking of putting your name down for a plot, Joe's Allotment will provide you with a wealth of advice and inspiration.

This collection of his very best columns demonstrates just why he is regularly voted the readers' favourite. His brilliant writings are in turn practical just how far back should we prune our roses, opinionated I always rail at people who go out on a Sunday afternoon to tidy their gardens. I mean a garden is not a sock drawer, cheeky I have a theory that gardeners grow to look like their soil and wistful. You've got to be a bit of a dreamer to get the most out of your garden. So lay down your trowel, take off your wellies, sit back and enjoy a bit of quintessential Titchmarsh.
