Transhumanist Dreams and Dystopian Nightmares Maxwell J. Mehlman,2012-08-10 Transhumanists advocate for the development and distribution of technologies that will enhance human intellectual physical and psychological capacities even eliminate aging What if the dystopian futures and transhumanist utopias found in the pages of science journals Margaret Atwood novels films like Gattaca and television shows like Dark Angel are realized What kind of world would humans have created Maxwell J Mehlman considers the promises and perils of using genetic engineering in an effort to direct the future course of human evolution He addresses scientific and ethical issues without choosing sides in the dispute between transhumanists and their challengers However Transhumanist Dreams and Dystopian Nightmares reveals that radical forms of genetic engineering could become a reality much sooner than many people think and that we need to encourage risk management efforts Whether scientists are dubious or optimistic about the prospects for directed evolution they tend to agree on two things First however long it takes to perfect the necessary technology it is inevitable that humans will attempt to control their evolutionary future and second in the process of learning how to direct evolution we are bound to make mistakes Our responsibility is to learn how to balance innovation with caution

The Research System in Transition Susan E. Cozzens, Peter Healey, Arie Rip, John Ziman, 2012-12-06 On a mountainside in sunny Tuscany in October 1989 96 people from 23 countries on five continents gathered to learn and teach about the problems of managing contemporary science The diversity of economic and political systems represented in the group was matched by our occupations which stretched from science policy practitioners through research scientists and engineers through academic observers of science and science policy It was this diversity along with the opportunities for informal discussion provided by long meals and remote location that made the conference a special learning experience Except at lecture time it was impossible to distinguish the students at this event from the teachers and even the most senior members of the teaching staff went away with a sense that they had learned more from this group than from many a standard conference on science policy they had attended The flavor of the conference experience cannot be captured adequately in a proceedings volume and so we have not tried to create a historical record in this book Instead we have attempted to illustrate the core problems the participants at the conference shared discussed and debated using both lectures delivered by the formal teaching staff and summaries of panel discussions which extended to other participants and therefore increased the range of experiences reported
