The Routledge Handbook of Language Learning and Teaching

Beyond the Classroom Hayo Reinders, Chun Lai, Pia Sundqvist, 2022-05-30 Informal language learning beyond the classroom plays an important and growing role in language learning and teaching This Handbook brings together the existing body of research and unites the various disciplines that have explored this area in order to present the current state of knowledge in one accessible resource Much of adult learning takes place outside of formal education and for language learning it is likely that out of class experiences play an equally important role It is therefore surprising that the role of informal language learning has received little attention over the years with the vast majority of research instead focusing on the classroom Researchers from a range of backgrounds however have started to realise the important contribution of informal language learning both in its own right and in its relationship with classroom learning Studies in the areas of learner autonomy learning strategies study abroad language support learners voices computer mediated communication mobile assisted language learning digital gaming and many others all add to our understanding of the complex and intersecting ways in which learners construct their own language learning experiences drawing from a wide range of resources including materials teachers self study technology other learners and native speakers This Handbook provides a sound and comprehensive basis for researchers and graduate students to build upon in their own research of language learning and teaching beyond the classroom Learning and Language in the Classroom Peter Chilver, Gerard Gould, 1982

Understanding EAP Learners' Beliefs about Language Learning from a Socio-cultural Perspective Chili

Li, 2021-02-09 This book focuses on the dynamic nature of EAP English for academic purposes learners beliefs about language learning in their shift from an EFL English as a foreign language environment to an EMI English as the medium of instruction setting in mainland China It adopts a mixed method paradigm whose quantitative part aims to capture the general dynamic feature of the selected student population while its qualitative part attempts to unveil the process of change in beliefs about language learning among the sample It is hypothesized that the change in their beliefs about language learning is the result of the interplay between the learners agency and the mediation of the contextual realities at the institutional and social levels Language, the Learner, and the School Douglas R. Barnes, James Britton, Mike Torbe, 1990
