Educating Tomorrow's Engineers Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Science and Technology Committee,2013-02-08 In the UK we teach young people to become computer users and consumers rather than programmers and software engineers This is creating a chronic skills gap in ICT We need around 82 000 engineers and technicians just to deal with retirements up to 2016 and 830 000 SET professionals by 2020 On the plus side the Government s proposal to include computer science as a fourth science option to count towards the EBac is welcomed The Committee also welcomes the EBac s focus on attainment of mathematics and science GCSEs but is concerned that subjects such as Design and Technology D T might be marginalised A Technical Baccalaureate TechBac is being designed but if it is to be a success schools should be incentivised to focus on the TechBac by making it equivalent to the EBac Reforms to vocational education following the Wolf Review meant that Level 2 of the Engineering Diploma a qualification highly regarded would count as equivalent to one GCSE despite requiring curriculum time and effort equivalent to several GCSEs The Engineering Diploma however is currently being redesigned as four separate qualifications The Committee also expressed concerns over the Department for Education s DfE lack of clarity on its research budget and use of evidence in decision making The DfE needs to place greater focus on gathering evidence before changes to qualifications are made and must leave sufficient time for evidence to be gathered on the effectiveness of policies before introducing further change The possibility of gathering evidence from randomised controlled trials RCTs should be seriously considered

Citizenship and Democracy in Further and Adult Education Neil Hopkins,2013-07-30 This book addresses the questions why citizenship education is an important subject for students in further and adult education and why we need democratic colleges to support the study of citizenship education It investigates the historical roots of further and adult education and identifies how the adoption of citizenship education in the post compulsory sector can enrich vocational studies in further education and programmes in adult education It is argued that democratic colleges are vital to ensure that citizenship education informs the decision making process throughout educational institutions and as a means of establishing fair and equal representation for important stakeholders The author has worked in both sectors for over a decade and uses this experience to offer a blend of educational practice and philosophical investigation The result is a work that appeals to both teachers in further and adult education as well as academics and students interested in philosophy of education
