Library Planning And Decision Making Systems:

Library Planning and Decision-making Systems Morris Hamburg,1972 Library Planning and Decision-making Systems Morris Hamburg,1974 The problems of managing libraries have been multiplying The operations of libraries have become increasingly complex involving in many cases mechanization centralization and computerization of library services The size and scope of collections have grown rapidly as they attempt to keep up with the geometric expansion of knowledge and so have the variety of services offered or contemplated and the expectations of users These kinds of change and growth have made it more important than ever that libraries utilize comprehensive frameworks for planning and decision making concerning their operations and resources and the major focus of this book is on the development of such analytical frameworks for university and large public library systems It is in the spirit of making a contribution to the development of such frameworks Professor Hamburg writes that this book has been written Since there is an inseparable need not only for improved library statistical data systems but also for the above mentioned frameworks for rational planning and decision making we have devoted considerable effort to the development of analytical models that might assist library administrators in making decisions that would maximize the flow of benefits imparted to the communities the library serves Some of the results of this model building effort are reported in these pages Some of the methods discussed in this text fall within the discipline known as management science or operations research There is a large communications gap between librarians who use English to make themselves understood and management scientists who routinely use mathematics as a language We have tried to communicate clearly to those concerned with library management and except in parts of Chapter 4 we have managed to keep the presentation on a verbal rather than a mathematical level The six chapters are entitled Introduction and Summary Library Objectives and Overall Performance Measures A Framework for Library Decision Making Library Models and Empirical Findings Development of a Management Information System for Libraries and Higher Level Decision Making
