Education and Personal Relationships Robert Silcock Downie,1974 Education and personal relationships Robert S. Downie,1974 Practical And Professional Ethics (vol. 4 : Educational Ethics Debashis Guha,2007 The Series on Practical and Professional Ethics is an outcome of major research project funded by the U G C in which the task of resolving some value laden practical problems troubling the professionals and the non professionals in India was undertaken

International Library of the Philosophy of Education Charles Bailey,2021-07-09 International Library of the Philosophy of Education reprints twenty four distinguished texts published in this field over the last half century and includes works by authors such as Reginald D Archambault Charles Bailey Robin Barrow Norman J Bull D E Cooper R F Dearden Kieran Egan D W Hamlyn Paul H Hirst Glenn Langford D J O Connor T W Moore D A Nyberg R W K Paterson R S Peters Kenneth A Strike I A Snook John and Patricia White and John Wilson Themes discussed include Liberal education moral education the aims of education the education of teachers adult continuing education and the philosophical analysis of education Education and Personal Relationships Robert Silcock Downie,1974 Philosophers as Educational

Reformers (International Library of the Philosophy of Education Volume 10) Peter Gordon,John White,2010-02-25 This volume assesses how far the ideas and achievements of the 19th century British Idealist philosophical reformers are still important for us today when considering fundamental questions about the structure and objectives of the education system in England and Wales Part 1 examines those ideas of the Idealists especially T H Green which had most bearing on the educational reforms carried out between 1870 and the 1920s and traces their connection with the philosophy and educational theory of Hegel and other post Kantians Part 2 is an historical survey concentrating on the innovations in the organization and contents of education in England and Wales brought about by the administrators and educationists educated in philosophical idealism Part 3 considers what relevance the philosophical and practical ideas of this interconnected group of reformers have to education today

Learning, Knowledge and Cultural Context Linda King,2012-12-06 This special issue of the International Review of Education includes contributions on indigenous knowledge the cultural context of learning and on the interplay between the so called traditional and modern ways of education It starts from the assumption that cultures are not static that they are shifting and mutating and that the Western need to encapsulate other cultures which found its most extreme form in their being frozen in time and boxed behind glass in museums of ethnology has distorted our understanding of the way in which different cultures create recreate and reproduce knowledge The basic premise of this position is that there is no such thing as a pure culture and that all cultures borrow lend adapt and distort distinct elements from other cultures All cultures moreover provide their members with ways of learning about that culture which include elements such as language forms of social organisation and ritual spaces for the transmission of specialised knowledge Meaning may be shifted over time but that in itself is a product of the passage of knowledge through history Indeed much meaning is cyclical and reinterpreted so that cultures may look back to a mythological past which they assumed gave them their essential identity but which may be part fact part fantasy and part fiction This is then reinterpreted in the light of changed and changing historical circumstances Epistemologies and Ethics in Adult Education and Lifelong Learning Richard G. Bagnall, Steven Hodge, 2022-02-17 This book presents and advocates for a framework of competing epistemologies and conceptions of ethics as a way of understanding modernist lifelong learning These epistemologies are grounded in a recognition of the normative nature of knowledge that informs lifelong learning each being framed by a different account of the sort of knowledge that is most valued and therefore foregrounded in lifelong learning policy provision and engagement informed by the epistemology Each epistemology is also characterised by its constituent conception of ethics Four such epistemologies and conceptions of ethics are here recognised as having been important in the lifelong learning movement to date disciplinary developmental emancipatory and design The authors argue that assumptions about knowledge and moral positions constitute a powerful but not well understood feature of such arguments awareness of these assumptions and positions could serve to powerfully advance the overall understanding of what is at stake in lifelong learning and adult education at all levels Subject Catalog, 1975 Library of Congress, 1975 Choice, 1975 Library of Congress Catalogs Library of Congress, 1976 The RoutledgeFalmer Reader in the Philosophy of Education Wilfred Carr, 2021-04-29 This Reader brings together a wide range of material to present an international perspective on topical issues in philosophy of education today Focusing on the enduring trends in this field this lively and informative Reader provides broad coverage of the field and includes crucial topics With an emphasis on contemporary pieces that deal with issues relevant to the immediate real world this book represents the research and views of some of the most respected authors in the field today Wilfred Carr also provides a specially written introduction which provides a much needed context to the role of philosophy in the current educational climate Students of philosophy and philosophy of education will find this Reader an important route map to further reading and understanding Subject Catalog Library of Congress, 1970

The Active/Ethical Professional Michael G. Gunzenhauser, 2012-03-08 A winner of the 2012 Critics Choice Book Award of the American Educational Studies Association AESA The Active Ethical Professional proposes an ethical framework for educators and school leaders who find their practice constrained by the demands of policies and structures created in response to accountability legislation The framework is derived from Michel Foucault's theories of discipline surveillance resistance and care of the self Gunzenhauser asserts that an educator's dual position of being normalized especially in relations with those above them in the education hierarchy and normalizing especially in relations with their students can be troubling and difficult The book argues that this position requires educators to be both ethical and active To be ethical educators not only need to resolve ethical dilemmas in defensible ways but they also need to recognize themselves as powerful in relation to others To be active educators need to be vigilant for moments when they are placed in the position to be reactive to normalizing pressures and they also need to develop clear notions of how they may create opportunities for the cultivation of educational selves that are rich ethically aesthetically epistemologically and politically

Social Media Use in University Studies Giedre Valunaite Oleskeviciene, Jolita Sliogeriene, 2020-01-21 This book highlights the phenomenon of social media use in university studies based on its participants lived experience It will appeal both to academics and practitioners interested in the human factors in the study environments saturated with technologies of social media This book reveals multiple sometimes contradictory dimensions of the phenomenon The contradictions acquire a binary Janus faced characteristic of uncertainty and paradox Social media use in university studies also causes changes in experiencing time space and relations Teacher research participants sometimes perceive their time as stress or an additional load which shows that social media use in university studies demands a new approach to teacher workload and its regulation There is also the necessity of the sensitive democratic teacher student pedagogical relationship This book proves that the pedagogical relationship and human creativity essentially belong to the human living world and are still at the heart of the technological cyborgian existence Resources in Education ,1997-10

Developing Pedagogies of Compassion in Higher Education Kathryn Waddington, Bryan Bonaparte, 2024-09-07 This collection addresses intersections and gaps between practice theory and research that both connect and divide compassion and pedagogies In foregrounding practice it makes an important contribution to the growing call for universities and educators to adopt inclusive student centred approaches that challenge us to fundamentally re think what universities do It celebrates the role of students as co creators of knowledge locating them at the heart of what pedagogies of compassion in higher education should feel like and look like It examines how compassion can become both critical and strategic in order to disrupt systems and orthodoxies that are no longer fit for purpose in a post pandemic world The ultimate goal the book aims to address is the need for humane universities driven by compassion rather than profit which can help to build fairer and more socially just societies The book extends the theoretical and practical discussions of compassion as a fundamental organizing principle in higher education It brings fresh interdisciplinary thinking theories and approaches including the neuroscience of compassion classical Eastern philosophies intersectional compassion sustainability and environmental stewardship It also includes critical reflection on experiences challenges barriers and enablers across multiple levels and perspectives These range from reflections on compassion in the classroom to compassion in the boardroom as well as in the many other spaces and places where learning occurs It offers a creative collection of essays on compassionate practices in higher education and appeals to anyone who is concerned about the moral standing of the university For some time now we have been told that universities must be viewed on the business model but this has only discouraged faculty students and staff As the contributors show however the very idea that teaching and educational practices could be more closely linked to compassion is definitely appealing and it gives us a more inspiring way of thinking about the university of the future Richard J White Creighton University Omaha NE USA

Research in Education ,1973-12 Education and Social Work F. H. Pedley,2014-05-16 Education and Social Work focuses on the relationship between those who are engaged in the operation of the educational system and those who are concerned mainly with individual work This book discusses the relevance of the link between home and school Organized into six chapters this book begins with an overview of the various principles on which the two disciplines are based and explains the motivating factors in social work and education This text then explains the need for a more pervasive approach to the problems presented by lack of coordination Other chapters consider the establishment of a socio educational organization that will actively promote the interfunctioning of schools with homes as well as with the local community This book discusses as well the education of the individual child in the wider setting The final chapter outlines the functions of the various social workers Teachers and social workers will find this book useful The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,1974
