Education And The Second World War:

Education in the Second World War Peter Gosden, 2013-10-15 Originally published in 1976 this substantial study of wartime education shows how the framework of the present educational system came to be established in the 1944 Education Act Education and the Second World War: Education in England During the Second World War Roy Lowe, 2012 This was the first book which globally surveyed the impact of the Second World War on schooling It offers fascinating comparisons of the impact of total war both in terms of physical disruption and its effects on the ideology of schooling By analysing the effects on the education systems of each of the participant nations the contributors throw new light on the responses made in different parts of the globe to the challenge of world wide conflict Education and the Second World War Roy Lowe, 2012-05-16 This was the first book which globally surveyed the impact of the Second World War on schooling It offers fascinating comparisons of the impact of total war both in terms of physical disruption and its effects on the ideology of schooling By analysing the effects on the education systems of each of the participant nations the contributors throw new light on the responses made in different parts of the globe to the challenge of world wide conflict Soviet Schooling in the Second World War John Dunstan, 1997 American Education, Democracy, and the Second World War C. Dorn, 2015-12-25 American Education Democracy and the Second World War examines how U S educational institutions during World War II responded to the dilemma of whether to serve as weapons in the nation s arsenal of democracy or citadels in safeguarding the American way of life By studying the lives of wartime Americans as well as nursery schools elementary and secondary schools and universities Charles Dorn makes the case that although wartime pressures affected educational institutions to varying degrees these institutions resisted efforts to be placed solely in service of the nation s war machine Instead Dorn argues American education maintained a sturdy commitment to fostering civic mindedness in a society characterized by rapid technological advance and the perception of an ever increasing threat to national security

Wartime Schooling and Education Policy in the Second World War Sarah Van Ruyskensvelde, 2016-08-18 This book deals with the development of private secondary schooling during the Second World War in Belgium It focuses on how the German occupier used education to gain acceptance of the regime and discusses the attitudes of Belgian education authorities schools teachers and pupils towards the German occupation Suggesting that the occupation forced Belgian education authorities such as the Roman Catholic Church to take certain positions the book explores the wartime experiences and memories of pupils and teachers It explains that the German Culture Department was relatively weak in establishing total control over education and that Catholic schools were able to maintain their education project during the war However the book also reveals that in some cases the German occupation did not need total control over education in order to find support for some authoritarian ideas As such Van Ruyskensvelde s analysis presents a nuanced view of the image of the Catholic Church schools teachers and pupils as mere victims of war Education for Democracy in England in World War II

Hsiao-Yuh Ku, 2020-04-07 Education for Democracy in England in World War II examines the educational discourse and involvement in wartime educational reforms of five important figures Fred Clarke R H Tawney Shena Simon H C Dent and Ernest Simon These figures campaigned for educational reforms through their books publishing articles in newspapers delivering speeches at schools and conferences and by organizing pressure groups Going beyond the literature in this key period the book focuses on exploring the relationship between democratic ideals and reform proposals in each figure's arguments Displaying a variety of democratic forums for debates about education beyond parliament the book reinterprets wartime educational reforms from a different perspective and illustrates the agreements and contradictions in the educational discourse itself Eastern Europe Education Nellie Mary Apanasewicz, Seymour Michael Rosen, 1966

Education and the Second World War Roy Lowe, 2011 History Of Imperial College London, 1907-2007, The: Higher Education And Research In Science, Technology And Medicine Hannah Gay, 2007-02-14 This is the first major history of Imperial College London The book tells the story of a new type of institution that came into being in 1907 with the federation of three older colleges Imperial College was founded by the state for advanced university level training in science and technology and for the promotion of research in support of industry throughout the British Empire True to its name the college built a wide number of Imperial links and was an outward looking institution from the start Today in the post colonial world it retains its outward looking stance both in its many international research connections and with staff and students from around the world Connections to industry and the state remain important The College is one of Britain's premier research and teaching institutions including now medicine alongside science and engineering This book is an in depth study of Imperial College it covers both governance and academic activity within the larger context of political economic and socio cultural life in twentieth century Britain a Contemporary Public Debates Over History Education Isabel Barca, Irene Nakou, 2010-10-01 The 6th book of the International Review of History Education Series Contemporary public debates over history education presents public debates on history education as they appear in 14 different areas of the world in Asia Europe North and South America In alphabetical order in Brazil by Maria Auxiliadora Schmidt and Tania Braga Garcia in Canada by Peter Seixas in England by Rosalyn Ashby and Christopher Edwards in Greece by Irene Nakou and Eleni Apostolidou in Israel by Eyal Naveh in Japan and South Korea by Yonghee Suh and Makito Yurita in Northern Ireland by Alan McCully in Portugal by Isabel Barca in Quebec Canada by Jean Francois Cardin in Singapore by Suhaimi Afandi and Mark Baidon in Spain by Lis Cercadillo in Turkey by Dursun Dilek and G. Icin Yapici Dilek and in the United States by Peter Stearns By illuminating common trends national peculiarities and differences this collective book further enriches our knowledge about crucial issues concerning public perspectives over history education in diverse parts of the world It opens new questions and issues to be further investigated by all who are interested in this field in terms of its historical educational global national ethnic cultural social and political dimensions in the current transitional and multicultural environment This international dialogue therefore addresses historians history education researchers university professors school teachers policy makers publishers parents and all those who insist that history education is very important especially if it enables young people to orientate in the present and the future in historical terms

Wartime Schools Gerard Giordano, 2004 The politically conservative educators of World War II dramatically and rapidly altered policies programs schedules learning materials classroom activities and the content of academic courses They motivated students to salvage materials sell war stamps grow crops learn about wartime issues and take pride in patriotism They prepared millions of people for the armed services and the defense industries These accomplishments were possible because the educators were supported by an unprecedented alliance that included teachers school administrators industrialists military personnel government leaders and the President himself After the war conservative educators continued to portray themselves as home front warriors waging a life threatening battle against enduring global dangers A terrified public accepted this depiction and continued to back them for decades

Education and the Second World War Roy Lowe, Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopædia John Huston Finley, William Peterson, Sir Edward Parrott, 1917 Bulletin of Information State Historical Society of Iowa, 1904 War, Nation, Memory Keith A. Crawford, Stuart J. Foster, 2007-12-01 The Second World War stands as the most devastating and destructive global conflict in human history More than 60 nations representing 1 7 billion people or three quarters of the world s population were consumed by its horror Not surprisingly therefore World War II stands as a landmark episode in history education throughout the world and its prominent place in school history textbooks is almost guaranteed As this book demonstrates however the stories that nations choose to tell their young about World War II do not represent a universally accepted truth about events during the war Rather wartime narratives contained in school textbooks typically are selected to instil in the young a sense of national pride common identify and shared collective memory To understand this process War Nation Memory describes and evaluates school history textbooks from many nations deeply affected by World War II including China France Germany Japan USA and the United Kingdom It critically examines the very different and complex perspectives offered in many nations and analyses the ways in which textbooks commonly serve as instruments of socialisation and in some cases propaganda Above all War Nation Memory demonstrates that far from containing neutral knowledge history textbooks prove fascinating cultural artefacts consciously shaped and legitimated by powerful ideological cultural and sociopolitical forces dominant in the present
