Education for All Robert E. Slavin, 1996-01-01 This work is a collection of previously published articles by Robert Slavin. Exploring Education Alan R. Sadovnik, Peter Cookson, Jr., Susan Semel, Ryan Coughlan, 2017-10-10 This much anticipated fifth edition of Exploring Education offers an alternative to traditional foundations texts by combining a point of view analysis with primary source readings. Pre and in service teachers will find a solid introduction to the foundations disciplines: history, philosophy, politics, and sociology of education and their application to educational issues including school organization and teaching, curriculum and pedagogic practices, education and inequality, and school reform and improvement. This edition features substantive updates including additions to the discussion of neo liberal educational policy, recent debates about teacher diversity, updated data and research, and new selections of historical and contemporary readings. At a time when foundations of education are marginalized in many teacher education programs and teacher education reform pushes scripted approaches to curriculum and instruction, Exploring Education helps teachers to think critically about the what and why behind the most pressing issues in contemporary education. What We Owe Children Caleb Gattegno,2010 How do children learn How are they taught These are two fundamental questions in education Caleb

Gattegno provides a direct and lucid analysis and concludes that much current teaching far from feeding and developing the learning process actually stifles it. Memory for instance the weakest of the mental powers available for intelligent use is almost the only faculty to be exploited in the educational system and holds little value in preparing a student for the future. Gattegno's answer is to show how learning and teaching can properly work together what schools should achieve and what parents have a right to expect.

Engaging Minds Brent Davis, Dennis Sumara, Rebecca Luce-Kapler, 2015-05-01

Engaging Minds Cultures of Education and Practices of Teaching explores the diverse beliefs and practices that define the current landscape of formal education. The 3rd edition of this introduction to interdisciplinary studies of teaching and learning to teach is restructured around four prominent historical moments in formal education: Standardized Education, Authentic Education, Democratic Citizenship Education, Systemic Sustainability Education. These moments serve as the foci of the four sections of the book each with three chapters dealing respectively with history, epistemology and pedagogy within the moment. This structure makes it possible to read the book in two ways either horizontally through the four in depth treatments of the moments or vertically through coherent threads of history, epistemology and pedagogy. Pedagogical features include suggestions for delving deeper to get at subtleties that can't be simply stated or appreciated through reading alone, several strategies to highlight and distinguish important vocabulary in the text and more than 150 key theorists and researchers included among the search terms and in the Influences section rather than a formal reference list.

Learning to Educate Ernesto Schiefelbein, Noel F. McGinn, 2017-04-13

Learning to Educate Proposals for the Reconstruction of Education in Developing Countries is a practical and strategic guide for education leaders and others who want to do more to improve the quality of curriculum, learning, teaching and assessment. The book is also a philosophical guide that articulates and affirms the fundamental values and purposes of education in a rapidly changing world. It confronts us with the opportunity and the necessity to unravel bedrock assumptions and stimulate further discussion about the nature of teaching and learning. What does it take to change mindsets? And how do we bring about reconstruction without losing our groundings and bearings? The authors Ernesto Schiefelbein and Noel McGinn use the full weight of their extensive knowledge in education research.

teaching policy and action to argue that in order to reconstruct quality education we must begin by improving its foundation. The result is a seasoned and superbly articulated examination of the principles and practices of teaching and learning which focuses on the crucial need of all children to learn how to learn. Innovative, cultured, and consistently captivating, this book is bold and in the field of comparative and international education unprecedented. A treasury of insights into the education challenge currently proposed by the UN global 2030 Agenda: universal quality learning. Kenneth King, University of Edinburgh. Read with Jerry Goebel as he discusses education: how we teach, what we teach, and the systems in which we teach. The New Imperatives of Educational Change Dennis Shirley, 2016-11-10. The New Imperatives of Educational Change is a clarion call to move beyond the standardized testing and marketplace competition that have become pervasive in school systems to focus instead on creating the conditions that will encourage all students to become critical and independent thinkers. Dennis Shirley presents five new imperatives to guide educators and policymakers towards a rethinking of what it means to teach effectively and to learn in depth. The evidentiary imperative requires educators to attain a better grasp of what data actually reveal about international trends in student learning. The interpretive imperative encourages mindful deliberation before acting on evidence in order to promote the integrity of a school community. The professional imperative describes new international research findings on promising pedagogies and curricula that propel learning in new directions. The global imperative argues that we all must look beyond our national boundaries to improve the flourishing of all young people wherever they may be found. Finally, the existential imperative reminds us that students look to their teachers as role models who can dignify learning with meaning and embellish life with joy. Visionary in its scope and practical in its details, The New Imperatives of Educational Change is an indispensable road map for all teachers, principals, and system leaders. A New Educational Paradigm Eric Frazier, 2021-07-22.  learning development and schooling that urges teachers to explore and create new educational opportunities for themselves and their students Schools for Growth Radical Alternatives to Current Educational Models asks the following questions Can we create ways for people to learn the kinds of things that are necessary for functional adaptation without stifling their capacity to continuously create their growth Can schools become environments that support children to perform not only as learners but as developers of their lives This book challenges educators to look at the deeply rooted assumptions about schooling learning and development and urges that the way psychology and education have constructed our conceptions of what it means to teach to learn and to grow may be the most serious impediment to the learning and developing of children Beyond the criticism the author presents an original methodological reformation of what learning and development are as relational activities and then takes readers on a visit to three radical independent school settings Arguing that current educational models have been misguided by scientific psychology the author states that the dominant model of human development actually hinders development Moreover as learning theory has become infused with developmental theory over the past 30 years the overly cognitive manner in which psychologists have come to think about thinking learning and development has become further insinuated into education Both theories learning and developmental fail to recognize the human capacity for relational revolutionary activity and for performance The prevalent mode of education acquisitional learning is grounded in a world view that gives primacy to knowledge and knowing which Holzman believes is inconsistent with ongoing developmental activity The author focuses on developmental learning a social constructionist activity theoretic conception of development which includes a transformation and synthesis of Vygotsky and philosopher Ludwig Wittgenstein She also discusses educational projects that are self conscious attempts to break with key elements of modern epistemology and the dominant psychological paradigm as they are perpetrated in contemporary educational theory and practice Their specific philosophies and practices highlight important methodological issues raised in the attempt to create postmodern
