About Face Christopher L. Flanders, 2011-03-07 For Thais face is a fact writes Flanders However whether in theology evangelism or issues involving sin salvation or atonement Thai Christians and missionaries alike seem either uninterested in or possibly incapable of addressing issues related to face This glaring incongruity between the value of face for Thais and the lack of intentional engagement within the Thai Christian community is deeply troubling Surely such a lack of careful attention to face is a dangerous posture Uncritical views of face furtively attaching to the theology of the Thai church are potentially detrimental for its life and mission Such seems to be an unavoidable situation without proper attention to face Additionally to ignore face is to run the risk of missing valuable cultural resources implicit in the Thai experience of face for the critical task of authentic Thai theological reflection This lack of engagement with face raises critical issues with which we must wrestle How is it that such a central sociocultural issue has not been a more significant part of the Thai Christian vocabulary or experience How pervasive are these negative attitudes regarding face What lies behind them Might this lack of self conscious engagement with face have any relationship to the persistent Thai perception of Christianity as a foreign Western religion How should Christians understand this notion of face and how it relates to the ways we understand and proclaim the gospel The Lloyd Geering Reader Lloyd Geering,2007 Covering a period of more than 45 years this is the first collection of the writings of international figure Lloyd Geering a premier public intellectual who was once found guilty of heresy by the Presbyterian Church With never before seen material this compendium demonstrates the remarkable consistency in the thought of this increasingly influential thinker Provocative and heartfelt this compilation provides a fascinating coverage of the engagement of religion and the modern world American Book Publishing Record ,2006

Hybridizing Mission Peter T. Lee,2022-09-27 This qualitative study explores intercultural social dynamics among international Christian workers who are part of multicultural teams engaged in Christian ministries in a North African country It seeks to understand these workers lived realities at intersections of multiple cultural flows Ethnographic methods were used to collect and analyze data and forty nine international Christian workers were interviewed The findings of this study indicate that intercultural Christian workers go through complex intercultural social processes interwoven in the fabric of their everyday life These processes are mediated by their social experiences in the local North African context and their multicultural teams resulting in significant changes in their personal dispositions and social behaviors Based on these findings a working concept of diasporic habitus is developed and the practice of double discourses of culture is further examined This research suggests that some existing missiological concepts need to be revisited and recommends further interdisciplinary conversations involving cultural anthropology and sub fields in psychology about the changes that happen to people in intercultural missions It also calls for a reflexive approach to missiological research that incorporates awareness of one s situatedness and the lasting impact of historical entanglements on contemporary intercultural relations The Global Intercultural Communication Reader Molefi Kete Asante,Yoshitaka Miike,Jing Yin,2013-06-26 The Global Intercultural Communication Reader is the first anthology to take a distinctly non Eurocentric approach to the study of culture and communication In this expanded second edition editors Molefi Kete Asante Yoshitaka Miike and Jing Yin bring together thirty two essential readings for students of cross cultural intercultural and international communication This stand out collection aims to broaden and deepen the scope of the field by placing an emphasis on diversity including work from authors across the globe examining the processes and politics of intercultural communication from critical historical and indigenous perspectives The collection covers a wide range of topics the emergence and evolution of the field issues and challenges in cross cultural and intercultural inquiry cultural wisdom and communication practices in context identity and intercultural

The Gift of the Face Shamoon Zamir, 2014-08-14 Edward S. Curtis's The North American Indian is the most ambitious photographic and ethnographic record of Native American cultures ever produced Published between 1907 and 1930 as a series of twenty volumes and portfolios the work contains more than two thousand photographs intended to document the traditional culture of every Native American tribe west of the Mississippi Many critics have claimed that Curtis's images present Native peoples as a vanishing race hiding both their engagement with modernity and the history of colonial violence But in this major reappraisal of Curtis's work Shamoon Zamir argues instead that Curtis's photography engages meaningfully with the crisis of culture and selfhood brought on by the dramatic transformations of Native societies This crisis is captured profoundly and with remarkable empathy in Curtis's images of the human face Zamir also contends that we can fully understand this achievement only if we think of Curtis's Native subjects as coauthors of his project This radical reassessment is presented as a series of close readings that explore the relationship of aesthetics and ethics in photography Zamir's richly illustrated study resituates Curtis's work in Native American studies and in the histories of photography and visual anthropology
