Faces Of Communication A New Approach To Personal Development:

Integral Communication and Digital Identity Ozren Rafajac, Alen Jakupović, 2023-12-16 This book explains how taxonomy can be used to describe and connect social actors in an integral way Integral communication refers to a specific way of open information exchange which uses all qualities and preferences of subjects in conversation and allows anonymous feedback exchange which enhances trust learning and development The role of integral communication is to promote perceptiveness collaboration personal development and organizational learning among all the actors involved In this book the authors propose a new original way of digital communication that uses tags and their metadata to describe qualities and preferences of a particular node in the network Although most social networks sharing platforms and e government frameworks are already applying taxonomies and social tagging to define user identity none of them is focused on tags exclusively while within an integral communication framework they represent the basic element of user definition and networking In addition other social platforms rarely allow anonymous feedback exchange and they are usually not focused on the personal development of their end users Aside from helping actors present their attributes and preferences integral communication promotes teamwork sustainability trust organisational learning and personalized communication with AI machines After reading this book readers will learn how to harness the power of integral networking and understand why anonymous feedback is a critical element for learning and development New Approaches in Educational Sciences-2024

Signal ,1993 The Skill Approach in Education Mehmet Serdar Erciş,Yusuf Söylemez,2018-07-27 Today information and technological developments grow at a rapid pace Social and political life becomes more and more complicated and in this process active citizenship becomes more essential Knowledge driven changes in society and economies require individuals to quickly acquire new skills Otherwise it is increasingly difficult for employees to adapt to business life and to find a job Education has to take account of these circumstances adapt to the rapid developments in the world and educate individuals to continue lifelong learning For this skills such as active and independent learning assertiveness creativity self improvement lifelong learning are important Skill teaching differs from knowledge teaching Skill is the transfer of knowledge to practice This process involves a learning process that requires the steps of researching planning controlling and correcting The knowledge should be organized integrated transferred into practice mental and physical resources should be activated and knowledge use should be demonstrated in practice in order to improve the skill This book contributes to the teaching of skills and includes basic concepts and skills language skills science and mathematics skills psycho social skills and visual arts skills It also explains how to teach skills how to prepare for activities and how to implement activities in educational settings These applications are intended to draw attention to skill teaching to raise educators to increase the success of education to improve the skills of students and to enable them to use the skills they have learned in school outside of school and in complex tasks

Higher Education Lee Waller, Sharon Waller, 2022-07-13 The world of education is experiencing a time of unprecedented change In our modern Covid racked world educational institutions and their respective delivery methodologies have been forcibly and forever transformed Most educators realize that these transformations are likely permanent and that procedures and systems of the past will no longer be relevant for the emerging post Covid educational environment The future provides countless challenges and great opportunities Those embracing the transformation will be poised to usher in a new age of educational achievement They will certainly unleash new educational methodologies techniques and strategies These institutions and educators will chart tomorrow s pathway

About Face Christopher L. Flanders, 2011-03-07 For Thais face is a fact writes Flanders However whether in theology evangelism or issues involving sin salvation or atonement Thai Christians and missionaries alike seem either uninterested in or possibly incapable of addressing issues related to face This glaring incongruity between the value of face for Thais and the lack of intentional engagement within the Thai Christian community is deeply troubling Surely such a lack of careful attention to face is a dangerous posture Uncritical views of face furtively attaching to the theology of the Thai church are potentially detrimental for its life and mission Such seems to be an unavoidable situation without proper attention to face Additionally to ignore face is to run the risk of missing valuable cultural resources implicit in the Thai experience of face for the critical task of authentic Thai theological reflection This lack of engagement with face raises critical issues with which we must wrestle How is it that such a central sociocultural issue has not been a more significant part of the Thai Christian vocabulary or experience How pervasive are these negative attitudes regarding face What lies behind them Might this lack of self conscious engagement with face have any relationship to the persistent Thai perception of Christianity as a foreign Western religion How should Christians understand this notion of face and how it relates to the ways we understand and proclaim the gospel

Their research charts new pathways in mapping the relationship between film production and local film practices theatrical exhibition circuits and cinema going creating new forms of spatial anthropology Topics include cinematic practices in rural and urban communities development of cinema by amateur filmmakers and use of GIS in mapping the spatial development of film production and cinema going as social practices Introduces some of the concrete ways practical mapping and GIS technologies help elaborate historical film projects The scope of many of these projects is breathtaking in scale Others embrace ethnographic methods that tell poignant individual stories Still others deftly merge qualitative and quantitative approaches As a whole the volume brings together disparate fields of study in interesting ways James Craine California State University Northridge This collection breaks new ground for cinema history Hallam and Roberts have gathered some of the foremost scholars who are mapping spatial histories of the moving image and the geographies of film production distribution and consumption Introducing new interdisciplinary methods and asking new questions Locating the Moving Image takes film studies into new territory beyond the boundaries of the text and its interpretation towards an understanding of the relationship between culture spatiality and place Richard Maltby Matthew Flinders Distinguished Professor of Screen Studies Flinders University

Systems Science and Cybernetics - Volume I Francisco Parra-Luna, 2009-10-30 The subject Systems sciences and cybernetics is the outcome of the convergence of a number of trends in a larger current of thought devoted to the growing complexity of primarily social objects and arising in response to the need for globalized treatment of such objects This has been magnified by the proliferation and publication of all manner of quantitative scientific data on such objects advances in the theories on their inter relations the enormous computational capacity provided by IT hardware and software and the critical revisiting of subject object interaction not to mention the urgent need to control the efficiency of complex systems where efficiency is understood to mean the ability to find a solution to many social problems including those posed on a planetary scale The result has been the forging of a new academically consolidated scientific trend going by the name of Systems Theory and Cybernetics with a comprehensive multi disciplinary focus and therefore apt for understanding realities still regarded to be inescapably chaotic This subject entry is subdivided into four sections The first an introduction to systemic theories addresses the historic development of the most commonly used systemic approaches from new concepts such as the so called geometry of thinking or the systemic treatment of non systemic identities to the taxonomic entropic axiological and ethical problems deriving from a general systemic cybernetic conceit Hence the focus in this section is on the historic and philosophical aspects of the subject Moreover it may be asserted today that beyond a shadow of a doubt problems in particular problems deriving from human interaction but in general any problem regardless of its nature must be posed from a systemic perspective for otherwise the obstacles to their solution are insurmountable Reaching such a perspective requires taking at least the following well known steps a statement of the problem from the determinant variables or phenomena b adoption of theoretical models showing the interrelationships among such variables c use of the maximum amount of wherever possible quantitative information available on each placement of the set of variables in an environment that inevitably pre determines the problem That epistemology would explain the substantial development of the systemic cybernetic approach in recent decades The articles in the second section deal in particular with the different methodological approaches developed when confronting real problems from issues that affect humanity as a whole to minor but specific questions arising in human organizations Certain sub themes are discussed by the various authors always from a didactic vantage including problem discovery and diagnosis and development of the respective critical theory the design of ad hoc strategies and methodologies the implementation of both qualitative soft system methodologies and formal and quantitative such as the General System Problem Solver or the axiological operational perspective approaches cross disciplinary integration and suitable methods for broaching psychological cultural and socio political dynamisms The third section is devoted to cybernetics in the present dual meaning of the term on the one hand control of the effectiveness of communication and actions and on the other the processes of self production of knowledge through reflection and the relationship between the observing subject and the observed object when the latter is also observer and the former observed Known as second order cybernetics this provides an avenue for rethinking the validity of knowledge such as for instance when viewed through what is known as bipolar feedback processes through which interactions create novelty complexity and diversity Finally the fourth section centres around artificial and computational intelligence addressing sub themes such as neural networks the simulated annealing that ranges from statistical thermodynamics to combinatory problem solving such as in the explanation of the role of adaptive systems or when discussing the relationship between biological and computational intelligence
