

A black and white photograph of a tree-lined street. The trees are bare, and their branches create a complex web against a bright, hazy sky. A single figure is walking away from the viewer down the center of the street. The overall mood is somber and contemplative.

M. Coetzee, 1985 Michael K a young South African becomes unwillingly and unwittingly involved in a war in South Africa after he loses his gardening job in Capetown and embarks on an odyssey to return his dying mother to her homeland Trauma, Resistance, Reconstruction in Post-1994 South African Writing Jaspal Kaur Singh, Rajendra Chetty, 2010 The re conceptualization of South Africa as a democracy in 1994 has influenced the production and reception of texts in this nation and around the globe The literature emerging after 1994 provides a vision for reconciling the fragmented past produced by the brutality of apartheid policies and consequently shifting social relations from a traumatized past to a reconstructed future The purpose of the essays in this anthology is to explore within the literary imagination and cultural production of a post apartheid nation and its people how the trauma and violence of the past are reconciled through textual strategies What role does memory play for the remembering subject working through the trauma of a violent past

Père-versions of the Truth Sławomir Masłoń,2007 Secretary of the Invisible Mike Marais,2009 How do individuals who are part of a community respond to the stranger as a stranger i e without simply positioning this outsider in opposition to the community in which they are located How may individuals receive something unknown and therefore surprising into their world without compromising it by identifying it in the terms of that world In this study Mike Marais traces the various ways in which Coetzee s fiction from Dusklands through to Slow Man repeatedly poses such questions of hospitality It is shown that the form of ethical action staged in Coetzee s writing is grounded not in the individual s willed and rational achievement but in his or her invasion and possession by the strangeness of the stranger This ethic of hospitality Marais argues has a strong aesthetic dimension for Coetzee the writer is inspired to write by being acted upon by a force from beyond the phenomenal world The writer is a secretary of the invisible She or he is responsible to and for the invisible Marais maintains that this understanding of writing as an involuntary response to that which exceeds history is evident from the first in Coetzee s fiction In readings of the novels of the apartheid era he traces this writer s rueful ironic awareness of the limited even incidental form of political engagement that may emanate from such an aesthetic He then goes on to argue that if it is the writer s obligation to render visible the invisible writing must be a task that can never be completed What is more such writing is thus bound to be iterative in form With this in mind he traces the structural similarities between Coetzee s writing of the apartheid period and his post apartheid and Australian writing arguing that the later texts are self reflexively aware of their endlessly repetitive nature These contentions are developed incrementally through close readings of the individual novels that focus on recurring metaphors of hospitality visitor the stranger the house the castaway the invisible the dream and the child

J.M. Coetzee David Attwell,1993-06-11 David Attwell defends the literary and political integrity of South African novelist J M Coetzee by arguing that Coetzee has absorbed the textual turn of postmodern culture while still addressing the ethical tensions of the South African crisis As a form of situational metafiction Coetzee's writing reconstructs and critiques some of the key discourses in the history of colonialism and apartheid from the eighteenth century to the present While self-conscious about fiction making it takes seriously the condition of the society in which it is produced Attwell begins by describing the intellectual and political contexts surrounding Coetzee's fiction and then provides a developmental analysis of his six novels drawing on Coetzee's other writings in stylistics literary criticism translation political journalism and popular culture Elegantly written Attwell's analysis deals with both Coetzee's subversion of the dominant culture around him and his ability to see the complexities of giving voice to the anguish of South Africa

Postcolonial Narrative and the Work of Mourning Sam

Durrant,2012-02-01 Sam Durrant's powerfully original book compares the ways in which the novels of J M Coetzee Wilson Harris and Toni Morrison memorialize the traumatic histories of racial oppression that continue to haunt our postcolonial era The works examined bear witness to the colonization of the New World U S slavery and South African apartheid histories founded on a violent denial of the humanity of the other that had traumatic consequences for both perpetrators and victims Working at the borders of psychoanalysis and deconstruction and drawing inspiration from recent work on the Holocaust Durrant rethinks Freud's opposition between mourning and melancholia at the level of the collective and rearticulates the postcolonial project as an insoluble labor of remembrance

Garden Plots Shelley Saguro,2017-05-15

Shelley Saguro's unique book illustrates the persistent presence of gardens in literature Gardens in fiction do not simply represent a familiar theme Saguro contends but are bound up with wider aesthetic and ideological issues As with literary forms so too are gardens subject to transformations Encompassing a wide array of twentieth and twenty first century authors including Virginia Woolf Eudora Welty Carol Shields J M Coetzee Toni Morrison Leslie Marmon Silko Jamaica Kincaid Don DeLillo and Philip K Dick this book's preoccupations are signalled in the evocatively titled chapters Botanical Modernisms Natural History and Postmodern Grafting Postcolonial Landscapes How Does Your Cyber Garden Grow and Coevolutionary Histories the Poetics of a Paradox Informed by postcolonial formalist feminist and psychoanalytic theories Garden Plots is a must read for all those alive to the space gardens inhabit in the literary landscape

J. M. Coetzee and the Power of Narrative , Sovereignty and Its Other Dimitris Vardoulakis, 2013-08-01 In this new book Dimitris Vardoulakis asks how it is possible to think of a politics that is not commensurate with sovereignty For such a politics he argues sovereignty is defined not in terms of the exception but as the different ways in which violence is justified Vardoulakis shows how it is possible to deconstruct the various justifications of violence Such dejustifications can take place only by presupposing an other to sovereignty which Vardoulakis identifies with radical democracy In doing so Sovereignty and Its Other puts forward both a novel critique of sovereignty and an original philosophical theory of democratic practice

Artefacts of Writing Peter D. McDonald, 2017 Explores the relationship between literature and international relations and considers how writing resists norms and puts any fixed or final idea of community in question Part I examines the European context 1860 to 1945 and Part II analyses the traditions of disruptive writing that emerged out of sub Saharan Africa and south Asia after 1945

The Politics of Humiliation in the Novels of J.M. Coetzee Hania A.M. Nashef, 2013-05-13 In this volume Nashef looks at J M Coetzee's concern with universal suffering and the inevitable humiliation of the human being as manifest in his novels Though several theorists have referred to the theme of human degradation in Coetzee's work no detailed study has been made of this area of concern especially with respect to how pervasive it is across Coetzee's literary output to date This study examines what J M Coetzee's novels portray as the circumstances that contribute to the humiliation of the individual namely the abuse of language master and slave interplay aging and senseless waiting and how these conditions can lead to the alienation and marginalization of the individual

J.M. Coetzee and Neoliberal Culture Andrew Gibson, 2022-08-11 This book presents J M Coetzee's work as a complex nuanced counterblast to contemporary global neoliberal economics and its societies Not surprisingly given his many years in South Africa and Australia Coetzee writes from a global Southern perspective Drawing on a wealth of literature philosophy and theory the book reads Coetzee's writings as a discreet oblique but devastating engagement with neoliberal presumptions It identifies and focuses on various key features of neoliberal culture its obsession with self enrichment mastery growth its belief in plenitude endless resources its hubris and obsession with self promotion its desire for ease and easiness well being euphoria its fetishization of managerial reason and the culture of security its unrelenting positivity its belief in illusory goods and trivial progressivisms By contrast Coetzee's writings explore the virtues of irony and self reduction He commits himself to difficulty discomfort patient and austere if bleak inquiry rigorous questioning and radical doubt Destitution and failure come to look like a serious dignified form of life and thought

The very tones of Coetzee s books run counter to those of our neoliberal democracies They point in a different direction to an age that has gone astray
