Economics and

Technical Change Arnold Heertje,1977 Economics of Structural and Technological Change Cristiano Antonelli,Nicola

De Liso,2002-09-11 Technology has long been seen as a path to economic growth However there is considerable debate about the exact nature of this relationship Economics of Structural and Technological Change employs a wide range of theoretical and applied approaches to explore the concept of technological change The book begins with a series of in depth discussions of the economic analysis of technological change The second section contains a discussion of theoretical models of technological change focusing on issues such as time and innovation The third section brings together a number of applied analyses of technological change and examines the effect of factors such as human resource constraints patenting and science and technology indicators The Economics of Technological Change Nathan Rosenberg,1971 Anthology of readings on the economics of technological change examines the causes determinants and implications of technological change by means of economic analysis considers the diffusion of new technology suggesting it can be largely accounted for by economic variables attempts to quantify the contribution of technological change to economic growth etc and explores the implications of differences in levels of technology among various countries Graphs maps references and statistical tables

Innovation, Economic Development and Policy Jan Fagerberg,2018-04-27 This authoritative and enlightening book focuses on fundamental questions such as what is innovation who is it relevant for what are the effects and what is the role of innovation policy in supporting innovation diffusion The first two sections present a comprehensive overview of our current knowledge on the phenomenon and analyse how this knowledge and the scholarly community underpinning it has evolved towards its present state The third part explores the role of innovation for growth and development while section four is concerned with the national innovation system and the role of innovation policy in influencing its dynamics and responding to the important challenges facing contemporary societies Worker Satisfaction and Economic Performance Morris

Altman,2020-08-26 This book challenges some of the fundamental tenets of free market economics that have had a profound impact on public policy and the plight of the American worker These include the beliefs that high wages inevitably mean low profits that a free market will automatically reduce discrimination and pay inequality that anti trust legislation hinders competitive market forces and that minimum wage laws and trade unions negatively impact the economy Using both theoretical analysis and real life examples the author shows that these myths are a product of unrealistic behavioral assumptions on the part of free market economists about the typical worker In fact as the author makes clear the level of workers satisfaction with their jobs as a reflection of how well they are paid and treated by their employers has a direct impact on the quality level of the products they produce and inevitably the economic performance of the firms Peasant Economics Frank Ellis,1993-11-25 This is a revised and expanded edition of a popular textbook on the economics of farm households in developing countries The second edition retains the same building blocks designed to explore household decision making in a social context Key topics are efficiency risk time allocation gender agrarian contracts farm size and technological change For these and other topics household economic behaviour represents the outcome of social interactions within the household and market interactions outside the household A new chapter on the environment combines exposition of economic tools not previously covered in the book with examination of household and community decision making in relation to environmental resources The Journal of Agricultural Economics Research ,1987 Technical Change and the World Economy John Hagedoorn,1995 Contains papers from the 1992 MERIT Conference Topics include general trends in international trade and investment international corporate strategies and world wide distribution multi contact interfirm collusion diverging patent regimes uneven technol
