Ecosystem Approaches To Landscape Management In Central Europe:

Ecosystem Approaches to Landscape Management in Central Europe J.D. Tenhunen, R. Lenz, Ralph Hantschel, 2001-01-25 The challenges in ecosystem science encompass a broadening and strengthening of interdisciplinary ties the transfer of knowledge of the ecosystem across scales and the inclusion of anthropogenic impacts and human behavior into ecosystem landscape and regional models The volume addresses these points within the context of studies in major ecosystem types viewed as the building blocks of central European landscapes The research is evaluated to increase the understanding of the processes in order to unite ecosystem science with resource management The comparison embraces coastal lowland forests associated wetlands and lakes agricultural land use and montane and alpine forests Techniques for upscaling focus on process modelling at stand and landscape scales and the use of remote sensing for landscape level model parameterization and testing The case studies demonstrate ways for ecosystem scientists managers and social scientists to cooperate

Ecosystem Approaches to Landscape Management in Central Europe S. Hunter, J.D. Tenhunen, R. Lenz, R. Hantschel, 2001 Stimulated by the concern for environmental problems that arose during the 1970s and 1980s related both to global and national questions of sustainability the German government committed itself to advancing ecosystem research as a central component of planning for environmentally economically and socially sound policies and for resource management during the 21st century Ecosystem research has been promoted at institutions spread throughout the country and that are favorably structured to conduct interdisciplinary studies Research funding is derived from both the federal union and state governments Results from the research programme at several of these institutions are summarized in this volume 1 to provide a status report on process understanding within ecosystem types that are viewed as building blocks of complex highly modified Central European landscapes 2 to document progress at institutions pursuing ecosystem science and promoting interdisciplinary approaches 3 to support the next steps in generalizing the research results e.g. to obtain a picture of ecosystem function in time and space or of landscape function and 4 to examine how the results may be applied to better manage natural resources and achieve sustainability

Ecosystem Organization of a Complex Landscape Otto Fränze, Ludger Kappen, Hans-Peter Blume, Klaus Dierßen, 2008-06-24 This volume is an essential text for scientists from a huge variety of disciplines from ecologists to geographers and soil scientists It provides a synthesis of long term ecological analyses in the Bornhoved Lake District of northern Germany The emphasis is on the comprehensive assessment of matter and energy fluxes These operate in and between the terrestrial and aquatic ecosystems on the one hand and on transdisciplinary landscape planning approaches on the other

Biogeochemistry of Forested Catchments in a Changing Environment Egbert Matzner, 2013-06-29 Forest ecosystems represent a major type of land use in Germany and in Europe They provide a number of functions or ecosystem services beneficial to humans namely biomass production regulation of the water and energy cycle C and N sequestration erosion control recreation and they act as habitat for numerous species The stability of forest ecosystems in Europe as influenced by the deposition of air pollutants has been a matter of debate for more than 20 years Besides atmospheric deposition other environmental conditions affecting forest ecosystems such as temperature CO₂ content of the atmosphere and precipitation have significantly changed in the past and continue to change in the future Quantifying and predicting the effects of these changes on ecosystem functioning are a challenge to ecosystem research and also a requirement to establish sustainable use of forest ecosystems in the future This book summarizes results of long term interdisciplinary ecosystem research conducted in two forested catchments and coordinated at the Bayreuth Institute of Terrestrial Ecosystem Research BIT K University of Bayreuth Germany It does not aim to summarize all the research of BIT K in the past decade which would go far beyond the studies in these two catchments Instead we concentrate here on the long term developments in the biogeochemistry of carbon and mineral elements and on the water cycle at both the plot and the catchment scale

Lamto Luc Abbadie, Jaques Gignoux, Xavier Roux, Michel Lepage, 2006-11-22 Known as a dream place for scientists the Lamto savannas located on the edge of the Cote d'Ivoire rain forests are some of the only savannas in the world where ongoing ecological research has endured for over forty years Drawing from and synthesizing this abundance of research the book examines the structure function and dynamics of the Lamto humid savanna Beginning with the history of the Lamto ecology station proceeding on to an overview of the major environmental conditions of the site and specifically examining the integrative view of energy and nutrient fluxes relative to the dynamics of the region's vegetation this exacting work is as unique and treasured as Lamto itself Development of European Landscapes Ülo Mander, Anu Printsman, Hannes Palang, Tartu Ülikool. Geograafia Instituut, 2001 Landscape Ecological Applications in Man-Influenced Areas Sun-Kee Hong, Nobukazu Nakagoshi, Bojie Fu, Yukihiro Morimoto, 2007-01-29 Landscape Ecological Applications in Man Influenced Areas not only expands the concept of landscape ecology but also applies its principles to man influenced ecosystems New dimensions of landscape ecological research in a global change such as urbanization biodiversity and land transformation are explored in this book The book also includes case studies concerning landscape analysis and evaluation using spatial analysis and landscape modelling for establishing sustainable management strategy in urban and agricultural landscapes

Multifunctional Land Use Ülo Mander, Hubert Wiggering, Katharina Helming, 2007-05-11 Global change land use policies and EU enlargement affect the driving forces for landscape functioning land use management and rural development New demands on landscapes and natural resources call for multifunctional approaches to land development Tools are required to i identify the effects of land management on landscape sustainability and ii support the decision making process on the multipurpose utilisation of landscape resources Scientists from across Europe installed the Landscape Tomorrow network to be prepared for new challenges of research on sustainable land development in a European perspective In this publication they i analyse general principles of land use multifunctionality ii highlight the specific requirements and approaches of implementing multifunctional land use from different disciplinary viewpoints iii report on success stories of multifunctional land use from different geographic and political settings and iv discuss modelling and monitoring approaches to scientifically assess the impact of multifunctional land use implementation The book contributes to the scientific basis for future land development strategies and helps supporting land use decision making on the political planning and management level

How Landscapes Change Gay A. Bradshaw, Pablo Marquet, 2002-12-06 North and South America share similar human and ecological histories and increasingly economic and social linkages As such issues of ecosystem functions and disruptions form a common thread among these cultures This volume synthesizes the perspectives of several disciplines such as ecology anthropology economy and conservation biology The chief goal is to gain an understanding of how human and ecological processes interact to affect ecosystem functions and species in the Americas Throughout the text the emphasis is placed on habitat fragmentation At the same time the book provides an overview of current theory methods and approaches used in the analysis of ecosystem disruptions and fragmentation

Reindeer Management in Northernmost Europe Bruce C. Forbes, Manfred Bölter, Ludger Müller-Wille, Janne Hukkinen, Felix Müller, Nicolas Gunsley, Yulian Konstantinov, 2006-03-09 The findings presented in this volume represent a concerted effort to develop a more inclusive form of reindeer management for northernmost Europe Our guiding principle has been to foster a new paradigm of participatory research We wish to move beyond the historical reliance on western approaches to basic and applied science These have been concerned primarily with interactions between herded animals and the various components of their biophysical environment e.g. plants insects predators climate and others In our view sociocultural and economic drivers along with herders experience based knowledge gain equal currency in the effort to understand how management may mitigate against the negative aspects of the challenges modern herding faces while also exploring concepts of sustainability from different perspectives see also Jernsletten and Klokov 2002 Kankaanpää et al 2002 Ulvevædet and Klokov 2004 This broadening of the pool of disciplines and local national and international stakeholders in policy relevant research invariably complicates virtually all aspects of the research process Multidisciplinary or in our sense transdisciplinary approaches also require extraordinary effort from all participants if they are to succeed As such those approaches should not be undertaken lightly nor without personnel who possess appropriate experience in cooperating with those of different disciplines and preferably also with relevant practitioners and public social and administrative institutions In such settings the potential for misunderstandings is quite high
