New Stone Architecture David Dernie, 2003 A discussion of stone construction and the nature of stone as a material Aimed at practising architects and students this study describes the new technologies that make the new stone forms possible This is followed by 33 case studies from around the world The Venetian Printing Press Horatio Forbes Brown, 1891 Printed Italian Vernacular Religious Books 1465-1550 Anne Jacobson Schutte, 1983 Catalogue of the John Boyd Thacher Collection of Incunabula John Boyd Thacher, 1915 Catalogue of the John Boyd Thacher Collection of Incunabula: Incunabula, 1915 Architectural Topographies Tomà Berlanda, 2014-04-03 Architectural Topographies is a critical dictionary for architects and landscape architects in which the graphic lexicon can be read from a beginning the ground to a conclusion the specific case studies Meant as a tool to help you recognise analyse choose and invent solutions the book's key words refer to the physical and material relationship between construction and ground to where and how the link is built to the criteria methods and tools used to know and transform the ground and to the possible approaches to the place and their implications on the way the earth is touched Fifty case studies by forty six of the greatest architects of the previous hundred years are represented throughout in sectional drawings which place the buildings along the same ground plane to illustrate how the key words might be combined and to show each architect's position on their built work in relation to all the others Includes projects by Alvar Aalto Tadao Ando Gunnar Asplund Atelior Bow Wow Jo o Batista Vilanova Artigas Patrick Berger Mario Botta Marcel Breuer Erik Bryggman Gon alo Byrne David Chipperfield Le Corbusier Sverre Fehn Aurelio Galfetti Flora Ruchat and Ivo Trumpy Dick Van Gameren Herzog and De Meuron Steven Holl Arne Jacobsen Kengo Kuma Anne Lacaton and Jean Philippe Vassal Adalberto Libera Frank Lloyd Wright Paulo Mendes da Rocha Ludwig Mies van der Rohe Enric Miralles and Carme Pinos Glenn Murcutt Juan Navarro Baldeweg Sheila O Donnell and John Tuomey Jan Olav Jensen and B rre Skodvin John Pawson Giuseppe Perugini Mario Fiorentino and Nello Aprile Renzo Piano Georges Henry Pingusson Rudolph Schindler Roland Simounet Alvaro Siza Luigi Snozzi Alejandro de la Sota Eduardo Souto de Moura Alison Smithson and Peter Smithson Fernando Tavora J rn Utzon Livio Vacchini Francesco Venezia Roberto Collopy and Marcella Aprile Amancho Williams and Peter Zumthor The Prevident Progeny Giovanni Pinto, 2022-05-12 The information about the book is not available as of this time Global Perspectives on Critical Architecture Gevork Hartoonian, 2016-03-03 Judging from the debates taking place in both education and practice it appears that architecture is deeply in crisis New design and production techniques together with the globalization of capital and even skilled labour have reduced architecture to a commodified object its aesthetic qualities tapping into the current pervasive desire for the spectacular These developments have changed the architect's role in the design and production processes of architecture Moreover critical architectural theories including those of Breton Heidegger and Benjamin which explored the concepts of technology modernism labour and capital and how technology informed the cultural along with later theories from the 1960s which focused more on the architect's theorization of his/her own design strategies seem increasingly irrelevant. In an age of digital reproduction and commodification, these theoretical approaches need to be reassessed. Bringing together essays and interviews from leading scholars such as Kenneth Frampton, Peggy Deamer, Bernard Tschumi, Donald Kunze, and Marco Biraghi, this volume investigates and critically addresses various dimensions of the present crisis of architecture. It poses questions such as: Is architecture a conservative cultural product servicing a given producer-consumer system? Should architecture's affiliative ties with capitalism be subjected to a measure of criticism that can be expanded to the entirety of the cultural realm? Is architecture's infusion into the cultural the reason for the visibility of architecture today? What room does the city leave for architecture beyond the present delirium of spectacle? Should the thematic of various New Left criticisms of capitalism be taken as the premise of architectural criticism? Or alternatively, putting the notion of criticality aside, is it enough to confine criticism to the production of insightful and pleasurable texts?

Constructing Place Sarah Menin, 2004-02-24 This book is a cutting edge study examining the attitudes to both nature and the built environment of the designer, the client, and the society in which an intervention be it architecture, landscape design, or a piece of art is made. The legacy of the Modernist view of nature and the environment is also addressed, and the degree to which such ideas continue to impinge on contemporary interventions is assessed.

Reuse Value Richard Brilliant, Dale Kinney, 2016-04-08 This book offers a range of views on spolia and appropriation in art and architecture from fourth century Rome to the late twentieth century. Using case studies from different historical moments and cultures, contributors test the limits of spolia as a critical category and seek to define its specific character in relation to other forms of artistic appropriation. Several authors explore the ethical issues raised by spoliation and their implications for the evaluation and interpretation of new work made with spolia. The contemporary fascination with spolia is part of a larger cultural preoccupation with reuse, recycling, appropriation, and re-presentation in the Western world. All of these practices speak to a desire to make use of pre-existing artifacts, objects, images, expressions for contemporary purposes. Several essays in this volume focus on the distinction between spolia and other forms of reused objects. While some authors prefer to elide such distinctions, others insist that spolia entail some form of taking, often violent, and a diminution of the source from which they are removed. The book opens with an essay by the scholar most responsible for the popularity of spolia studies in the later twentieth century, Arnold Esch, whose seminal article 'Spolien' was published in 1969. Subsequent essays treat late Roman antiquity, the Eastern Mediterranean, and the Western Middle Ages, medieval and modern attitudes to spolia in Southern Asia, the Italian Renaissance, the European Enlightenment, modern America, and contemporary architecture and visual culture.

Libraries, 1901 Building Ruskin's Italy Stephen Kite, 2017-07-05 Based on extensive fieldwork and research into John Ruskin's still little interpreted archival material notebooks and drawings in the Ruskin Library Lancaster University UK and elsewhere Stephen Kite offers an unprecedented account of the evolution of Ruskin's architectural thinking and observation in the context of Italy where his watching of building achieved its greatest intensity Venice naturally figures large in a work that also examines other key sites including Verona Lucca Pisa Florence Milan and Monza here the fabrics are vividly read in their contexts against the rich evidence of Ruskin's diaries his pocket book sketches architectural worksheets drawings and daguerrotypes the early form of photography and the drafts and published editions of the texts Kite presents the complex story of Ruskin's visual thinking in architecture as a narrative of deepening interpretation and representation focusing on the humbler monuments of Italy He shows how Ruskin's early picturesque naturalism was transformed by the realisation that to understand the built realities confronting him in Italy demanded a closer engagement with the substance of the stones themselves reflecting Ruskin's sense of his task as a near archaeological gleaning and gathering of remains hidden in many a grass grown court and silent pathway and lightless canal

The Inquisitor in the Hat Shop Federico Barbierato, 2016-03-03 Early modern Venice was an exceptional city Located at the intersection of trade routes and cultural borders it teemed with visitors traders refugees and intellectuals It is perhaps unsurprising then that such a city should foster groups and individuals of unorthodox beliefs whose views and life styles would bring them into conflict with the secular and religious authorities Drawing on a vast store of primary sources particularly those of the Inquisition this book recreates the social fabric of Venice between 1640 and 1740 It brings back to life a wealth of minor figures who inhabited the city and fostered ideas of dissent unbelief and atheism in the teeth of the Counter Reformation The book vividly paints a scene filled with craftsmen friars and priests booksellers apothecaries and barbers bustling about the city spaces of sociability between coffee houses and workshops apothecaries and barbers shops from the pulpit and drawing rooms or simply publicly speaking about their ideas To give depth to the cases identified the author overlays a number of contextual themes such as the survival of Protestant or crypto Protestant doctrines the political situation at any given time and the networks of dissenting groups that flourished within the city such as the free metaphysicists who gathered in the premises of the hatter Bortolo Zorzi In so doing this rich and thought provoking book provides a systematic overview of how Venetian ecclesiastical institutions dealt with the sheer diffusion of heterodox and atheistical ideas at different social levels It will be of interest not only to scholars of Venice but all those with an interest in the intellectual cultural and religious history of early modern Europe
