Internet The Media:

The Internet Lelia Green, 2010-05-01 Life without the internet a very new technology seems almost unimaginable for most people in western nations Today the internet is intrinsic to media and communications entertainment politics defence business banking education and administrative systems as well as to social interaction The Internet disentangles this extraordinarily complex information and communication technology from its place in our daily lives allowing it to be examined anew Technology has historically been shaped by governmental military and commercial requirements but the development of the internet is increasingly driven by its users YouTube Facebook Twitter Flickr and many other emerging applications are shifting the way we express ourselves communicate with our friends and even engage with global politics At the same time three quarters of the world's population remain effectively excluded from the internet Packed with case studies drawn from around the world The Internet presents a clear and up to date introduction to the social cultural technological and political worlds this new media form is creating The Internet and the Mass Media Lucy Küng, Robert G Picard, Ruth Towse, 2008-05-14 This book analyses issues of the internet and mass media in a rapidly changing environment It covers a wide range of fundamentals which will be in effect for a longer time and reflects the benefits of international and interdisciplinary collaboration Heinz Werner Nienstedt President European Media Management Education Association This excellent book will be of great use to researchers teachers and students interested in the relationship between the Internet and the mass media and it offers an invaluable contribution to the literature The overall picture that emerges from this book is one that is very balanced stressing both the radical potential of the internet and the ways in which the various media sectors have experienced the impact differently Colin Sparks University of Westminster What impact has the Internet really had on the media industries What new regulatory policies and business models are driven by the Internet And what are the effects of the Internet on how we produce access and consume music film television and other media content After an initial flurry of analysis and prediction of the future of the dot com boom this is the first book to review the developments of the first Internet era and investigate its actual outcomes Bringing together sophisticated analyses from leading scholars in the field The Internet and the Mass Media explores the far reaching implications of the Internet from economic regulatory strategic and organizational perspectives This cross disciplinary international view is essential for a rich nuanced understanding of the many technological economic and social changes the Internet has brought to the way we live and work

The Media and the Internet David Nicholas, Peter Williams, Helen Martin, Peter Cole, 2020-12-15 Its sheer functionality connectivity and accessibility make the Internet an information force to be reckoned with However there is very little qualitative data on how the Internet is impacting upon information seeking in the workplace The Media and the Internet is a crucial piece of research into how journalists and other media workers are actually using this resource based on interviews with more than three hundred journalists and media librarians The findings are highly relevant to all those working in information intensive sectors A History of Communications Marshall T. Poe, 2010-12-06 A History of Communications advances a theory of media that explains the origins and impact of different forms of communication speech writing print electronic devices and the Internet on human history in the long term New media are pulled into widespread use by broad historical trends and these media once in widespread use push social institutions and beliefs in predictable directions This view allows us to see for the first time what is truly new about the Internet what is not and where it is taking us A Social History of the Media Asa Briggs, Peter Burke, 2009 This volume explores the history of the different means of communication in the West from the invention of printing to the Internet It discusses issues from the importance of oral and manuscript communication to the development of electronic media Alphabet to Internet Irving Fang, 2014-11-13 What Greek philosopher thought writing would harm a student's memory Was the poet Byron's daughter the first computer programmer Who plays more video games women over 18 or teenage boys In Alphabet to Internet Media in Our Lives Irving Fang looks at each medium of communication through the centuries asking not only What happened but also How did society change because of this new communication medium and How are we different as a result Examining the impact of different media on a broad historical scale among them mass printing the telegraph film the internet and advertising Alphabet to Internet takes us from the first scratches of writing and the origins of mail to today's video games the widespread and daily use of smartphones and the impact of social media in political uprisings across the globe A timeline at the end of each chapter places events in perspective and allows students to pinpoint key moments in media history Now in its third edition Alphabet to Internet presents a lively thoughtful and accessible introduction to media history Globalisation, Public Opinion and the State Takashi Inoguchi, Ian Marsh, 2007-12-20 This is first integrated book length account of citizen responses to the new global order Based on a comprehensive survey administered at the end of 2000 in nine European and nine Asian countries this book demonstrates the diverse responses to globalization within and between two of the world's major and most globally integrated regions Globalization Public Opinion and the State is a pioneering empirical study drawing on 18 000 interviews across these 18 European and Asian countries supported by the Japanese Ministry of Education The Asian Europe Survey is one of the largest of its kind ever conducted and provides the book with a wealth of novel data on public opinion and social attitudes that identify the linkages between national regional policy responses and the political and policy orientations of the publics affected The book uses theoretical insights to situate these public responses and reactions to globalization and it addresses one question in particular do nation states matter in how citizens come to view regional and global engagement Rather than offering another theory about globalization this book presents much needed empirical findings that help us decide between arguments about the public impact of globalization cross nationally This book breaks new ground as there no other comprehensive study in this field Alphabet to Internet Irving E. Internet Mercenaries and Viral Marketing: The Case of Chinese Social Media Wu, Mei,Jakubowicz, Peter,Cao, Chengyu,2013-09-30 Social media and emerging internet technologies have expanded the ideas of marketing approaches In particular the phenomenon of the internet in China challenges the common perception of new media environments Internet Mercenaries and Viral Marketing The Case of Chinese Social Media presents case studies textual analysis media reviews and in depth interviews in order to investigate the Chinese pushing hand operation from the conceptual perspective of communications and viral marketing This book is significant to researchers marketers and advocates interested in the persuasive influence of social networks

The 21st Century Media (r)evolution Jim Macnamara,2010 The emergence of new media and social media is widely discussed in contemporary society However media and public communication are mostly analyzed within particular theoretical frameworks and within specific disciplinary fields Such approaches have created polarized views on media and communication and fail to create an understanding of the interdependencies between these fields This book expertly synthesizes competing theories and disciplinary viewpoints integrates scholarly and cutting edge research and examines international data from fast growing markets including China to provide a comprehensive holistic view of the twenty first century r evolution in media and public communication The book identifies how the changes are located in practices rather than technologies and that these practices are emergent in highly significant ways Engaging and accessible the book is essential reading for media scholars and communication professionals and a valuable text for courses in media studies journalism advertising public relations and organisational and political communication

The Public Service Media and Public Service Internet Manifesto Christian Fuchs, Klaus Unterberger, 2021-09-07 This book presents the collectively authored Public Service Media and Public Service Internet Manifesto and accompanying materials The Internet and the media landscape are broken The dominant commercial Internet platforms endanger democracy They have created a communications landscape overwhelmed by surveillance advertising fake news hate speech conspiracy theories and algorithmic politics Commercial Internet platforms have harmed citizens users everyday life and society Democracy and digital democracy require Public Service Media A democracy enhancing Internet requires Public Service Media becoming Public Service Internet platforms an Internet of the public by the public and for the public an Internet that advances instead of threatens democracy and the public sphere The Public Service Internet is based on Internet platforms operated by a variety of Public Service Media taking the public service remit into the digital age The Public Service Internet provides opportunities for public debate participation and the advancement of social cohesion Accompanying the Manifesto are materials that informed its creation Christian Fuchs report of the results of the Public Service Media Internet Survey the written version of Graham Murdock s online talk on public service media today and a summary of an ecomitee com discussion of the Manifesto s foundations

Internet Newspapers Xigen Li, 2013-09-13 Internet Newspapers The Making of a Mainstream Medium examines newspapers on the Internet and addresses the emergence of online newspapers and the delivery of news through this outlet Utilizing empirical research chapters explore the theoretical and practical issues associated with Internet newspapers and examine the process through which online newspapers have grown into a mainstream medium Contributions to this work emphasize three key areas the structure and presentation of newspapers on the Internet the medium as an interactive process and the ways in which the public interacts with Internet newspapers This collection makes a substantial contribution to the understanding of newspapers on the Internet covering their development and changes as well as the impact that news delivery through this medium has had on other media audiences and society It also sheds light on improving operation and performance of Internet newspapers to better serve the public and gain competitive knowledge The volume encourages additional scholarship in this area and also shows how researchers can benefit from an empirical approach to their examination of Internet newspapers Internet Newspapers will appeal to scholars researchers and students of journalism and mass communications and can be used as a supplementary text in advanced courses covering journalism communication technology and mass media and society

Connected Media in the Future Internet Era Ahmet Kondo, Tasos Dagiuklas, 2016-10-08 This book describes recent innovations in 3D media and technologies with coverage of 3D media capturing processing encoding and adaptation networking aspects for 3D Media and quality of user experience QoE The contributions are based on the results of the FP7 European Project ROMEO which focuses on new methods for the compression and delivery of 3D multi view video and spatial audio as well as the optimization of networking and compression jointly across the future Internet. The delivery of 3D media to individual users remains a highly challenging problem due to the large amount of data involved, diverse network characteristics and user terminal requirements as well as the user's context such as their preferences and location. As the number of visual views increases, current systems will struggle to meet the demanding requirements in terms of delivery of consistent video quality to fixed and mobile users. ROMEO will present hybrid networking solutions that combine the DVB-T2 and DVB-NGH broadcast access network technologies together with a QoE-aware Peer-to-Peer (P2P) distribution system that operates over wired and wireless links. Live streaming 3D media needs to be received by collaborating users at the same time or with imperceptible delay to enable them to watch together while exchanging comments as if they were all in the same location. This book is the last of a series of three annual volumes devoted to the latest results of the FP7 European Project ROMEO. The present volume provides state-of-the-art information on 3D multi-view video, spatial audio, networking protocols for 3D media, P2P 3D media streaming and 3D Media delivery across heterogeneous wireless networks among other topics. Graduate students and professionals in electrical engineering and computer science with an interest in 3D Future Internet Media will find this volume to be essential reading.

Media Law and Policy in the Internet Age Doreen

Weisenhaus, Simon N. M. Young, 2017-02-23. The Internet brings opportunity and peril for media freedom and freedom of expression. It enables new forms of publication and extends the reach of traditional publishers but its power increases the potential damage of harmful speech and invites state regulation and censorship as well as manipulation by private and commercial interests. In jurisdictions around the world, courts, lawmakers and regulators grapple with these contradictions and challenges in different ways with different goals in mind. The media law reforms they are adopting or considering contain crucial lessons for those forming their own responses or who seek to understand how technology is driving such rapid change in how information and opinion are distributed or restricted. In this book, many of the world's leading authorities examine the emerging landscape of reform in nations with variable political and legal contexts. They analyse developments particularly through the prisms of defamation and media regulation but also explore the impact of technology on privacy law and national security. Whether as jurists, lawmakers, legal practitioners or scholars, they are at the front lines of a story of epic change in how and why the Internet is changing the nature and raising the stakes of 21st century communication and expression.

Media/cultural Studies Rhonda Hammer, Douglas Kellner, 2009. This anthology is designed to assist teachers and students in learning how to better understand and interpret our common culture and everyday life. With a focus on contemporary media, consumer and digital culture, this book combines classic and original writings by both leading and rising scholars in the field. The chapters present key theories, concepts and methodologies of critical cultural and media studies as well as cutting edge research into new media. Sections on teaching media cultural studies and concrete case studies provide practical examples that illuminate contemporary culture ranging from new forms of digital media and consumer culture to artifacts from TV and film including Barbie and Big Macs soap operas Talk TV Facebook and YouTube The lively articles show that media cultural studies is an exciting and relevant arena and this text should enable students and citizens to become informed readers and critics of their culture and society Global Media Edward Herrmann, Robert W.

McChesney, 2001-08-27 Describes in detail the most recent rapid growth and cross border activities and linkages of an industry of large global media conglomerates Society and the Internet Mark Graham, William H. Dutton, 2014 How is society being shaped by the diffusion and increasing centrality of the Internet in everyday life and work By bringing together leading research that addresses some of the most significant cultural economic and political roles of the Internet this volume introduces students to a core set of readings that address this question in specific social and institutional contexts Internet Studies is a burgeoning new field which has been central to the Oxford Internet Institute OII an innovative multi disciplinary department at the University of Oxford Society and the Internet builds on the OII's evolving series of lectures on society and the Internet The series has been edited to create a reader to supplement upper division undergraduate and graduate courses that seek to introduce students to scholarship focused on the implications of the Internet for networked societies around the world The chapters of the reader are rooted in a variety of disciplines but all directly tackle the powerful ways in which the Internet is linked to political social cultural and economic transformations in society This book will be a starting point for anyone with a serious interest in the factors shaping the Internet and its impact on society The book begins with an introduction by the editors which provides a brief history of the Internet and Web and its study from multi disciplinary perspectives The chapters are grouped into six focused sections The Internet and Everyday Life Information and Culture on the Line Networked Politics and Government Networked Businesses Industries and Economies and Technological and Regulatory Histories and Futures Internet in the Post-Soviet Area Sergey Davydov, 2023-07-10 This book offers a comparative perspective on the technological economic and political aspects of Internet development in the post Soviet countries In doing so international experts analyze similarities and differences in various countries throughout the chapters The volume consists of two parts The chapters of the first part examine the post Soviet area as a whole The second part includes specific case studies on the development of the Internet either in individual countries or in groups of countries Countries analyzed are Estonia Ukraine Russia as well as three Central Asian countries Kazakhstan Uzbekistan and Tajikistan Topics covered in the volume include but are not limited to measurement dynamics and structure of each national Internet audience the history of the Internet in the post Soviet countries development of infrastructure Internet regulation and institutional aspects online markets such as telecommunications online advertising e commerce and digital content social and cultural aspects as well as the transformation of the national media systems This book is a must read for students researchers and scholars of political science and economics as well as policymakers and practitioners interested in a better understanding of Internet development in the post Soviet area Media Freedom Damian Tambini, 2021-08-12 The contentious role of social media in recent elections and referendums has brought to the fore once again the fundamental question of media freedom and the extent to which and the way in which the media should be regulated in a modern democratic society This book surveys the history of media in the US the UK and Europe in order to develop a new theory of media freedom that is capable of resolving current controversies about how best to regulate the media including the internet and social media Tambini argues that democratic regulation of the media must build upon and learn from the long history of accommodation between the press broadcasting the state and corporate power By attending to this history we can see that media freedom is not absolute but rather conditional taking the form of a social contract of privileges and connected duties Tambini develops this social contract account of media freedom and applies it to different media sectors from the press and broadcasting to the internet and social media Above all he argues for a renewed role for international human rights law standards in media governance and an end to American exceptionalism Written for students scholars policymakers and media professionals this wide ranging book will be of interest to everyone concerned about the role of the media in our societies and about the health of our democracies
