Interpreting North:

Interpreting Myanmar Andrew Selth, 2020-12-10 Since the abortive 1988 pro democracy uprising Myanmar formerly Burma has attracted increased attention from a wide range of observers Yet despite all the statements publications and documentary films made about the country over the past 32 years it is still little known and poorly understood It remains the subject of many myths mysteries and misconceptions Between 2008 and 2019 Andrew Selth clarified and explained contemporary developments in Myanmar on the Lowy Institute's internationally acclaimed blog The Interpreter This collection of his 97 articles provides a fascinating and informative record of that critical period and helps to explain many Interpreting the Seventh Century BC Xenia Charalambidou, Catherine issues that remain relevant today Morgan, 2017-08-31 This book has its origin in a conference held at the British School at Athens in 2011 which aimed to explore the range of new archaeological information now available for the seventh century in Greek lands Interpreting Technologies - Current and Future Trends Gloria Corpas Pastor, Bart Defrancq, 2023-10-09 While interpreting long remained unaffected by the technological progress that transformed the translation industry recent years have witnessed a paradigm shift such that interpreters increasingly interact with technological tools that the delivery of interpreting services becomes increasingly dependent on technologies and finally that technologies start to emerge that might some day compete with interpreters This volume brings together a series of contributions on interpreting technologies focusing on each of these aspects Its goal is to inform and to empower interpreters as well as to spark new reflections on the future of technology in the interpreting industry With this volume we want to encourage interpreters to participate in that reflection and to become partners of technology rather than its victims The next generation of technologies will need a next generation of interpreters

Towards an Atlas of the History of Interpreting Lucía Ruiz Rosendo, Jesús Baigorri-Jalón, 2023-02-22 The aspiration of an Atlas is to cover the whole world by compiling cartographical material representing territories from across the five continents This book intends to contribute to that ideally comprehensive yet always unfinished Atlas with pieces gathered from all of the Earth's regions However its focus is not so much of a geographical nature although maps and geographical reflections are not absent in its pages but of a historical analytical one As such the Atlas engages in the historical analysis of interpreters of both language and cultures in multiple interpreting settings and places including in zones which are less frequently studied in specialized literature in different historical periods and at various scales All the interpreters described in the book share the ability to speak two or more languages and to use them as vehicles otherwise their individual socio professional statuses vary so much that there is no similarity between a Venetian dragoman in Istanbul and a prisoner of war or between a locally recruited interpreter and a missionary Each contributor has approached the specific spatial and temporal dimensions of their subject as perceived through their different methodological lenses This multifaceted perspective which is expected to provide fertile soil for future interdisciplinary research has been possible thanks to a
