Intersections Science Theology And Ethics:

Intersections James M. Gustafson, 1996 In his 1994 A Sense of the Divine The Natural Environment from a Theocentric Perspective James M Gustafson offered a long awaited application of his theocentric ethics In Intersections Gustafson continues to insist that theology and theological ethics must overlap with other diverse fields of study particularly the hard sciences if they are to remain rich vital and relevant in the years ahead With trademark clarity he relentlessly pursues the fundamental questions of theological ethics the nature of being human what distinguishes us from other species how our self interest conflicts with our sympathy and concern for others and the role of religious faith After contrasting two interpretations of human nature one from theologian Reinhold Niebuhr the other from biologist Melvin Konner Gustafson suggests four modes of moral discourse about medicine then examines styles of religious reflection in medical ethics Briefly sharpening his focus on genetic therapy he moves to larger questions of human viability concluding with a stirring call to scholars clergy and laypersons alike to engage in these intellectual intersections intersections that have above all supreme practical importance in our daily lives Human Identity at the Intersection of Science, Technology and Religion

Christopher C. Knight, 2016-05-13 Humans are unique in their ability to reflect on themselves Recently a number of scholars have pointed out that human self conceptions have a history Ideas of human nature in the West have always been shaped by the interplay of philosophy theology science and technology The fast pace of developments in the latter two spheres neuroscience genetics artificial intelligence biomedical engineering call for fresh reflections on what it means now to be human and for theological and ethical judgments on how we might shape our own destiny in the future The leading scholars in this book offer fresh contributions to the lively quest for an account of ourselves that does justice to current developments in theology science technology and philosophy Intersections of Religion and Astronomy Chris Corbally, Darryl Dinell, Aaron Ricker, 2020-11-01

This volume examines the way in which cultural ideas about the heavens shape religious ideas and are shaped by them in return Our approaches to cosmology have a profound effect on the way in which we each deal with religious questions and participate in the imaginative work of public and private world building Employing an interdisciplinary team of international scholars each chapter shows how religion and cosmology interrelate and matter for real people Historical and contemporary case studies are included to demonstrate the lived reality of a variety of faith traditions and their interactions with the cosmos This breadth of scope allows readers to get a unique overview of how religion science and our view of space have and will continue to impact our worldviews Offering a comprehensive exploration of humanity and its relationship with cosmology this book will be an important reference for scholars of Religion and Science Religion and Culture Interreligious Dialogue and Theology as well as those interested in Science and Culture and Public Education Handbook of Bioethics and Religion David E. Guinn, 2006-08-10

What role should religion play in a religiously pluralistic liberal society Public bioethics unavoidably raises this question in a particularly insistent fashion As the 20 papers in this collection demonstrate the issues are complex and multifaceted The authors address specific and highly contested issues as assisted suicide stem cell research cloning reproductive health and alternative medicine as well as more general questions such as who legitimately speaks for religion in public bioethics what religion can add to our understanding of justice and the value of faith based contributions to healthcare Christian Catholic and Protestant Jewish Islamic and Buddhist viewpoints are represented The first book to focus on the interface of religion and bioethics this collection fills a significant void in the literature

The Study of Science and Religion Carl Reinhold Brakenhielm, 2018-06-06 The main aim of this book is to contribute to the relationship between science and religion This book aims to do constructive theological work out of a particular cultural context The point of departure is contemporary Swedish religion and worldviews One focus is the process of biologization i e how the worldviews of the general public in Sweden are shaped by biological science Is there a gap between Swedes in general and the perceptions of Swedish clergy The answer is based on sociological studies on science and religion in Sweden and the United States Furthermore the book contains a study of Swedish theologians from Nathan S derblom to the present Archbishop Antje Jackel n and their shifting understanding of the relation between science and religion The philosophical aspects of this relation are given special consideration What models of the relation inform the contemporary scholarly discussion Are science and religion in conflict separate or in mutual creative interaction

Consenting to God and Nature Byron C. Bangert, 2006-03-08 This book an exploration in theological ethics is motivated by two central questions First How can we think and speak with integrity about God as One who is active in human affairs and the world How can God make a difference in our world and in our lives Second and no less important What is the character of God s activity in the world and how are we to relate and respond to this activity How does God make a difference in our world and our lives and what are some of the implications for our own actions As the book s title indicates Bangert claims that a proper engagement in theological ethics requires both consenting to God and consenting to nature This means both consenting to the reality that is God the One with whom we ultimately have to do and the acceptance of the natural or physical world as hugely determinative of the limits and possibilities of human life and all existence He argues that this calls for a theocentric naturalistic theological ethics Bangert shows how the work of three major contemporary Protestant thinkers James M Gustafson Sallie McFague and David Ray Griffin may be fruitfully appropriated for the articulation of just such an ethics one that is responsive to the Christian tradition while also sharing the modern commitment s appeal to human experience and reason Each of these three thinkers eschews a priori appeal to the authority of religious tradition as each takes seriously scientific knowledge of our world Each accents ways in which current scientific understandings inform and in some cases are informed by contemporary appropriations of the language and thought of Christian tradition Each is also concerned to relate his or her approach to human valuing life and action A critical appraisal of their work shows that none provides a sufficient basis for an intellectually and religiously adequate theological ethics but that each contributes elements necessary to the articulation of such an ethics within the Protestant Christian tradition as it confronts the religious and intellectual challenges of today's world Ricoeur Across the Disciplines Scott

Davidson, 2011-11-03 This multidisciplinary investigation facilitates a new conversation between Ricoeur scholars and those working in a variety of domains While a number of books and anthologies on Ricoeur's thought have been published over the past decade Ricoeur Across the Disciplines is unique in its multidisciplinary scope The books currently on the market are typically one of either two kinds either they provide a general overview of Ricoeur's thought or they focus on a narrow set of themes within a specific discipline cf list of competing titles While other books may allude to the multidisciplinary potential for Ricoeur's thought this book is the first to carry out a truly multidisciplinary investigation of Ricoeur's thought The aim of this multidisciplinary investigation is not only to draw out the nuances of Ricoeur's thought but also to facilitate a new conversation between Ricoeur scholars and those working in a variety of domains Multilateral Theology Timothy T.N

Lim, 2021-04-18 This book introduces a new multilateral methodology for the contemporary study of theology It bases this methodology on the idea that there are too many materials contributing as sources for theologizing to sustain the one method fits all approach found in many systematic theologies within Christianity What is needed instead is something that reflects the various and varied natures purposes and tasks of theologians theologizing for their respective contexts Engaging materials from a range of Christian traditions including Evangelicalism the Catholic Magisterium and a limited range of pan Orthodox resources the book analyzes and assesses major factors that have shaped different streams of theology Addressing doctrinal development scripture and revelation historical tradition and creeds philosophy and truth sciences and interdisciplinarity experience religious pluralism and culture it demonstrates how these various streams can form a multilateral whole The book concludes by examining the centers and peripherals of methodologies in theologization for a spectrum of theological traditions streams both across and beyond Christianity By offering an approach that keeps in step with the increasingly interconnected and pluralistic world in which we live this book provides a vital resource for any scholar of Christian theology constructive theology contextual theologies and systematic theology as well as religious studies

Rittenhouse, 2013-03-27

Consumerism is a problem It deforms individual character our sense of obligation to one another and our concern for future generations and the environment Even in the aftermath of the worst economic downturn in seventy years it remains a defining feature of Western cultures But beyond this assessment neither Christian theologians and ethicists nor secular economists and sociologists have understood what drives consumerism or what can be done to counteract it This is the problem that Bruce P Rittenhouse solves in Shopping for Meaningful Lives Dr Rittenhouse analyzes economic sociological and psychological evidence to prove that consumers behave differently than the current theories predict Dr Rittenhouse shows that consumerism functions as a religion It provides a means of assurance that an individual life is meaningful Because we need this assurance to live out our everyday lives consumerism takes precedence over whatever other values a person professes unless a person can adopt a different way to secure the meaning of his or her life This interpretation explains how consumers actually behave From the perspective of Christian theology consumerism is a wrong answer to a problem of human existence that should be answered by faith in Christ American Protestant Ethics and the Legacy of H. Richard Niebuhr William Werpehowski, 2002-09-20 In this careful analysis and evaluation of the monumental influence of Niebuhr

Werpehowski traces four streams that flow from Niebuhr's theology particularly as it deals with ethics In a tightly knit and comprehensive investigation of the work of four contemporary ethicists important in their own right Paul Ramsey Stanley Hauerwas James Gustafson and Kathryn Tanner Werpehowski explores how the legacy of Niebuhr has made an impact on their thought and work He presents a clear concise nuanced analytical criticism of the development of the four ethicists construction of ethics and does it in a way that interweaves and puts the four into a dialogue and conversation with Niebuhr and each other Addressing a number of substantive issues including the viability of just war tradition and the relationship between church and world American Protestant Ethics and the Legacy of H Richard Niebuhr demonstrates that Christian ethics operates within a set of polar tensions and that such conversations as are developed within need to be a part of moral discourse inside and between a variety of communities of faith

The Animal Rights Debate Gary Lawrence Francione, Robert Garner, 2010 Annotation Francione maintains that we have no moral justification for using nonhumans arguing that because animals are property laws fail to provide any meaningful level of protection Garner favours a version of animals rights that focuses on eliminating animal suffering Here they deconstruct the animal protection movement

Economic Ethics & the Black Church Wylin D. Wilson, 2017-09-07 This book examines the relationship between race religion and economics within the black church The book features unheard voices of individuals experiencing economic deprivation and the faith communities who serve as their refuge Thus this project examines the economic ethics of black churches in the rural South whose congregants and broader communities have long struggled amidst persistent poverty Through a case study of communities in Alabama s Black Belt this book argues that if the economic ethic of the Black Church remains accommodationist it will continue to become increasingly irrelevant to communities that experience persistent poverty Despite its historic role in combatting racial oppression and social injustice the Church has also perpetuated ideologies that uncritically justify unjust social structures Wilson shows how the Church can shift the conversation and reality of poverty by moving from a legacy of accommodationism and toward a legacy of empowering liberating economic ethics Catholic Peacebuilding and Mining Caesar A. Montevecchio, Gerard F. Powers, 2022-01-31 This book explores the role of Catholic peacebuilding in addressing the global mining industry Mining is intimately linked to issues of conflict human rights sustainable development governance and environmental justice As an institution of significant scope and scale with a large network of actors at all levels and substantial theoretical and ethical resources the Catholic Church is well positioned to acknowledge the essential role of mining while challenging unethical and harmful practices and promoting integral peace development and ecology Drawing together theology ethics and praxis the volume reflects the diversity of Catholic action on mining and the importance of an integrated approach It includes contributions by an international and interdisciplinary range of scholars and practitioners They examine Catholic action on mining in El Salvador Peru Colombia the Democratic Republic of the Congo and the Philippines They also address general issues of corporate social responsibility human rights development ecology and peacebuilding The book will be of interest to scholars of theology social ethics and Catholic studies as well as those specializing in development ecology human rights and peace studies Beyond Cutting Edge? Paul C. Heidebrecht, 2014-03-10 A quick scan of any newsstand is enough to confirm the widespread preoccupation with technological change As a myriad of articles and advertisements demonstrate not only are we preoccupied with technology but we are bombarded with numerous reminders that the cutting edge is in constant motion Most often the underlying assumption of Christians is that we have no choice but to find ways to cope with the latest and greatest Indeed it is often assumed that the church has no choice but to find ways to cope with its new technological context This book does not make the same assumptions Building on the work of Mennonite theologian John Howard Yoder it argues that the practices of the church make it possible for Christians to conscientiously engage technology This happens when we recognize that marks of the church such as patience vulnerability and servanthood can put technological ideals such as speed control and efficiency in their proper place In the course of grappling with three examples of morally formative technologies automobiles genetically modified food and the Internet this book goes beyond Yoder s thought by emphasizing that the church also plays a crucial role in our moral formation Observing Bioethics Renee C. Fox, Judith P. Swazey, 2008-07-23 Observing Bioethics examines the history of bioethics as a discipline related not only to modern biology medicine and biotechnology but also to the core values and beliefs of American society and its courts legislatures and media The book is written from the perspective of two social scientists a sociologist of medicine Renee C Fox and a historian of medicine Judith P Swazey who have participated in bioethics since the emergence of this multidisciplinary field more than 30 years ago Fox and Swazey draw on first hand observations and experiences in a variety of American bioethical settings face to face interviews with first and second generation figures in the genesis and early unfolding of bioethics a detailed examination of the theatrical media coverage of what was considered to be a banner event in the annals of bioethics the creation and birth of the cloned sheep Dolly case studies of how bioethics has internationally developed and a large corpus of primary documents and secondary source materials While recognizing the intellectual moral and sociological importance of American bioethics Fox and Swazey are critical of its characteristics Foremost among these are what they identify as the problems of thinking socially culturally and internationally in American bioethics the tenuous interdisciplinarity of the field and the troubling extent to which the culture wars have penetrated bioethics This book will appeal to a wide range of doctors scientists and academics who are involved in the history and sociology of bioethics
