Office for Subject Cataloging Policy,2005 Music and Myth in Modern Literature Josh Torabi,2020-12-20 This book is the first major study that explores the intrinsic connection between music and myth as Nietzsche conceived of it in The Birth of Tragedy 1872 in three great works of modern literature Romain Rolland's Nobel Prize winning novel Jean Christophe 1904 12 James Joyce's modernist epic Ulysses 1922 and Thomas Mann's late masterpiece Doctor Faustus 1947 Juxtaposing Nietzsche's conception of the Apollonian and Dionysian with narrative depictions of music and myth Josh Torabi challenges the common view that the latter half of The Birth of Tragedy is of secondary importance to the first Informed by a deep knowledge of Nietzsche's early aesthetics the book goes on to offer a fresh and original perspective on Ulysses and Doctor Faustus two world famous novels that are rarely discussed together and makes the case for the significance of Jean Christophe which has been unfairly neglected in the Anglophone world despite Rolland's status as a major figure in twentieth century intellectual and literary history This unique study reveals new depths to the work of our most enduring writers and thinkers Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress. British Literature and Classical Music David Deutsch, 2015-09-24 British Literature and Classical Music explores literary representations of classical music in early 20th century British writing. Covering authors ranging from T S Eliot and Virginia Woolf to Aldous Huxley, H G Wells and D H Lawrence, the book examines literature produced during a period of widely proliferating philosophical, educational, and performance-oriented musical activities in both public and private settings. David Deutsch demonstrates how this proliferation caused classical music to become an increasingly vital element of British culture and a vehicle for exploring contentious issues such as social mobility, sexual freedoms, and international political rivalries. Through the use of archives of concert programs, cult novels, and letters written during the First and Second World Wars, the book examines how authors both celebrated and satirized the musicality of the lower middle and working classes, same-sex desiring individuals, and cosmopolitan promoters of a shared European culture to depict these groups as valuable members of and less frequently as threats to British life. Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress. Office for Subject Cataloging Policy, 1992 P-Z Library of Congress. Office for Subject Cataloging Policy, 1990 Music and Orientalism in the British Empire, 1780s-1940s Bennett Zon, 2017-07-05 Filling a significant gap in current scholarship, the fourteen original essays that make up this volume individually and collectively reflect on the relationship between music and Orientalism in the British Empire over the course of the long nineteenth century. The book is in four themed sections: Portrayal of the East traces the routes from encounter to representation and restores the Orient to its rightful place in histories of Orientalism; Interpreting Concert Music looks at one of the principal forms in which Orientalism could be brought to an eager and largely receptive yet sometimes resistant mass market; Words and Music investigates the confluence of musical and Orientalist themes in different genres of writing, including criticism, fiction, and travel writing; Finally, The Orientalist Stage discusses crucial sites of Orientalist representation: music, theatre, and opera, as well as tracing similar phenomena in twentieth-century Hindi cinema. These final chapters examine the rendering of the East as unachievable and unrecognizable for the consuming gaze of the western spectator. Subject Headings Used in the Dictionary Catalogues of the Library of Congress Library of Congress, Library of Congress. Subject Cataloging Division, 1948 Dancefloor-Driven Literature Simon A. Morrison, 2020-05-14 Almost as soon as club culture took hold during the UK's Second Summer of Love in 1988, its sociopolitical impact became clear: with journalists, filmmakers, and authors all keen to use this cultural context as source material for their texts. This book uses that electronic music subculture as a route into an analysis of these principally literary representations of a music culture: why such secondary artefacts appear and what function they serve. The book conceives of a new literary genre to accommodate these stories born of the dancefloor: dancefloor-driven literature. Using interviews with Irvine Welsh, author of Trainspotting (1994), alongside other dancefloor-driven authors, Nicholas Blincoe and Jeff Noon as case studies, the book analyzes three separate ways writers draw on electronic dance music in their fictions, interrogating that very particular intermedial intersection between the sonic and the linguistic. It explores how such authors write about something so subterranean as the nightclub scene and analyses what specific literary techniques they deploy to write lucidly and fluidly about the metronomic beat of electronic music and the chemical accelerant that further alters that relationship
