Little Ditties:

A Childhood Memoir Melanie Lowy, 2011-09-19 The stomping of black booted automatons the drums beating in tune to murderous chants of hatred a retentive memory of a little girl has captured it all Her early serene Munich childhood wiped out a school in flame a journey alone to England ahead Gone is the school she loved Parted from her adored father with whom she endured prison and worse Stored away safely is her memory of GRAF ZEPPELIN the hideous faces of the Nazi leaders and her love of Munich KINDERTRANSPORT to England aged nine without friend or language leaves her traumatised unused as she is to cope with caring for herself Stays at holiday camps with a kind generous Jewish family in London then it is off once more with Jewish schoolchildren to Bedfordshire weeks before WW2 A love affair begins with the English country side and its animal inhabitants Evacuated to an ancient farm house with no amenities whatever where she is joined by her pious old grandmother she settles down to school life in this strictly orthodox school new friends all refugees Through her father a well known poet she discovers what is happening to Jews in Europe early on and her faith is shattered A contrasting tale of two childhoods one recalling a deceptively idyllic beginning the other an awakening in a strange but charitable land and the forever haunting realisation of what has been done to her people This is a unique portrait of childhood Culture and Civilization to tell a new tale every night to prevent their head getting chopped off seemed sadly familiar to me Back then the author's audience was his mentally ill mother who used to stay in the house all day with the shades drawn and then insist that her son tell her stories so that she might vicariously experience the world outside Eventually she committed suicide and Feder grew up to be a relentless comic storyteller on the radio The Talking Cure tells the story of his ridiculous jobs first failed marriage the string of psychiatrists and the misery of reluctant fatherhood throughout he maintains a kind of bizarre balancing act hilariousness and deep seriousness conventionality and strangeness An ironist and a comic Feder looks unflinchingly at his own foibles and frailties enabling him to connect to other people's stories The reader emerges from this book with a sense of forgiveness for the human condition and awe at the mystery of human life Deeply funny and at the same time breathtakingly dark this is a book to provoke amuse and in some strange way reassure God loves a challenge The Juvenile instructor and companion Young people, 1880 The Oxford History of Music William Henry Hadow, 1902 Delphi Collected Works began six generations ago when my maternal great great great grandmother left India in rather confused circumstances to end up as an indented labourer in the West Indian Island of Trinidad Despite the challenges of being a single mother in a strange land she inspired her daughter Gainer through example and Gainer married an ambitious handsome young man New laws were made as slavery was abolished indented labourers could now buy land and so Gainer and her husband prospered They bought large land holdings and had ten children to go with it Life in the late 1800s was happy and contented for the family as they melted into a multi religious and multi cultural society Gainer s five daughters married well to pliable husbands and her five boys were happy to live off their father s wealth Three generations later Gainer s granddaughter Little Sparrow married and began what was supposed to be a long and happy life with Victor a young man of means with two obsessions in his life his wife and cricket Three daughters later Little Sparrow died giving birth to a stillborn baby boy an event that had been predicted by a faqir thirty five years before Her daughter Carla my mother classy beautiful yet haughty and disdainful had a disastrous marriage to a wildly passionate man of humble means who loved her but could not leave his possessive mother They separated two weeks before my birth Mummy could not come to terms with her broken marriage and what people would say I became her punching bag and the reason for her lonely and miserable life I also had the terrible misfortune of being the spitting image of my father and no doubt destined to be a chip of the old block This book is a reflection on the first eighteen years of my life It was initially inspired by a deep need to reflect and put issues to rest as I entered middle age Apart from being emotionally therapeutic writing this book was a wonderful experience in self discovery I indulged in the memories that were sometimes happy sometimes thoughtful and reflective and at times so very sad Children are judgmental yet the most forgiving of human beings and while they may naturally love their parents unconditionally children may not always like what they see
