Scottish Society, 1707-1830 Christopher A. Whatley, 2000 This book challenges conventional wisdom and provides new insights into Scottish social and economic history Christopher A Whatley argues that the Union of 1707 was vital for Scottish success but in ways which have hitherto been overlooked He proposes that the central place of Jacobitism in the historiography of the period should be revised Comprehensive in its coverage the book is based not only on an exhaustive reading of secondary material but also incorporates a wealth of new evidence from previously little used or unused primary sources

Warriors of the Queen William Wright, 2014-01-06 Who were the men who commanded the British Army in the numerous small wars of the Victorian Empire Today many are all but forgotten save the likes of Cardigan Kitchener Baden Powell and Gordon of Khartoum Yet they were a disparate and fascinating assemblage made up of men of true military genius as well as egoists fools and despots In Warriors of the Queen William Wright surveys over 170 of these men examining their careers and personalities He reveals not only the lives of the great military names of the period but also of those whom history has overlooked from James Buster Browne who once fought a battle in his nightshirt to Jack Bisset who had fought in three South African wars by his twenty third birthday Based on original research and complemented by over sixty photographs Warriors of the Queen provides new insight into the men who built and sometimes endangered the British Empire on the battlefield

Orcadia Mark Edmonds, 2019-10-03 The Orcadian archipelago is a museum of archaeological wonders The Orcadian Neolithic is home to some of the best preserved Neolithic sites in Europe here we can find evidence of a dynamic society with connections binding Orkney to Ireland to southern Britain and to continental Europe Yet there is much that remains unknown about the societies that created these sites In Orcadia Mark Edmonds traces the development of the Orcadian Neolithic from the early fourth millennium BC through to the end of the period nearly two thousand years later using artefacts architecture and the wider landscape to recreate the lives of Neolithic communities across the region

The Failure of Agrarian Capitalism Niek Koning, 2002-01-04 Agriculture is a highly sensitive industry Throughout their history national governments have intervened in and protected their agricultural sectors The problems of competition in agriculture have been continually illustrated by disagreement over the European Community's Common Agricultural Policy CAP and more recently by attempts to reform farming policy in the last round of the GATT negotiations The Failure of Agrarian Capitalism presents a comparative analysis of agrarian policies in the UK Germany the Netherlands and the USA from 1846 1919

Last of the Free James Hunter, 2011-03-25 Written by award winning Scottish historian James Hunter this groundbreaking and definitive account reveals how the Highlands and Islands of Scotland have evolved from a centre of European significance to a Scottish outpost Never before has the history of the region been recounted so comprehensively and in so much fascinating often moving detail But this book is not simply the story of humanity s millennia long involvement with one of the world s most spectacular localities It is also a major contribution to present day debate about how Scotland and Britain should be organised     The Time of Anthropology Elisabeth Kirtsoglou,Bob

Simpson,2020-12-29 The Time of Anthropology provides a series of compelling anthropological case studies that explore the different temporalities at play in the scientific discourses governmental techniques and policy practices through which modern life is shaped Together they constitute a novel analysis of contemporary chronopolitics The contributions focus on state power citizenship and ecologies of time to reveal the scalar properties of chronopolitics as it shifts between everyday lived realities and the macro institutional work of nation states The collection charts important new directions for chronopolitical thinking in the future of anthropological research The Introduction and Chapters 5 6 and 8 of this book are freely available as downloadable Open Access PDFs at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license     The Crofters' War Ian Murdoch MacLeod MacPhail,1989 The later years of the 19th century saw a period of political and social agitation in the Highlands and Islands of Scotland This volume gives a detailed account of that time and provides new insight into a critical period in the history of crofting

Broch Island J M Struthers,2013 Burray is one of the southern islands of Orkney situated in the natural harbour of Scapa Flow On a world scale it is literally a dot in the ocean but even such a small place has a story to tell From the early brochs which gave the island its name through the kelp and herring industries to its strategic importance in two world wars this is the history of Burray through the ages     An Anthropology of Deep Time Richard Irvine,2020-05-28 Reconfigures the anthropology of time by viewing human social life as part of the long term rhythms of geological formation     The Highland Clearances Eric Richards,2012-11-05 The Highland Clearances stands out as one of the most emotive chapters in the history of Scotland This book traces the origins of the Clearances from the eighteenth century to their culmination in the crofting legislation of the 1880s In considering both the terrible suffering of the Highland people as well as the stark choices that faced landowners during a period of rapid economic change it shows how the Clearances were one of many attempted solutions to the problem of how to maintain a population on marginal and infertile land and were in fact part of a wider European movement of rural depopulation In drawing attention away from the mythology to the hard facts of what actually happened The Highland Clearances offers a balanced analysis of events which created a terrible scar on the Highland and Gaelic imagination     Landscapes of Protest in the Scottish Highlands after 1914 Iain J.M. Robertson,2016-04-15 In November 1918 the implementation of agrarian change in the Scottish Highlands threatened another wave of unemployment and eviction for the land working population which led to widespread and varied social protest Those who had been away on war service and their families faced returning to exactly the same social and economic conditions in the Scottish Highlands

they had hoped they had left behind in the struggle to make a land fit for heroes Widespread and varied social protest rapidly followed It argues that previously there has been a failure to capture fully the geography chronology typology and rate of occurrence of these events The book not only offers new insights and a greater understanding of what was happening in the Highlands in this period but illustrates how a range of forms of protest were used which demand attention not least for the fact that these events unlike most of the earlier Land Wars period were successful There are functioning townships in the Highlands today that owe their existence to the land invasions of the 1920s The book innovatively concentrates on formulating explanation and interpretation from within and looks to the crofting landscape as base means and motive to disturbance and interpretation It proposes that protest is much more convincingly understood as an expression of environmental ethics from the bottom up coming increasingly into conflict with conservationist views expressed from the top down It focuses on individual case studies in order to engage more convincingly with an important evidential base that of popular memory of land disturbances and to adopt a frame and lens through which to explore the fluid and contingent nature of protest performances Based upon the belief that in the study of landscapes of social protest the old shibboleth of space as solely passive setting and symbolic register is no longer tenable is paid here to nature culture interactions to vernacular ecological b
