Telling Narratives Leslie W. Lewis, 2024-03-18 Telling Narratives analyzes key texts from nineteenth and early twentieth century African American literature to demonstrate how secrets and their many tellings have become slavery's legacy By focusing on the ways secrets are told in texts by Jessie Fauset Charles W Chesnutt Pauline Hopkins Frederick Douglass and others Leslie W Lewis suggests an alternative model to the feminist dichotomy of breaking silence in response to sexual violence This fascinating study also suggests that masculine bias problematically ignores female experience in order to equate slavery with social death In calling attention to the sexual behavior of slave masters in African American literature Lewis highlights its importance to slavery's legacy and offers a new understanding of the origins of self consciousness within African American experience They Also Write for Kids Suzanne Manizza Roszak, 2022-12-28 Outside the world of children's literature studies children's books by authors of well known texts for adults are often forgotten or marginalized Although many adults today read contemporary children's and young adult fiction for pleasure

others continue to see such texts as unsuitable for older audiences and they are unlikely to cross read children's books that were themselves cross written by authors like Chinua Achebe Anita Desai Joy Harjo or Amy Tan Meanwhile these literary voices have produced politically vital works of children's literature whose complex themes persist across boundaries of expected audience These works form part of a larger body of activist writing for children that has long challenged preconceived notions about the seriousness of such books and ideas about who in fact should read them They Also Write for Kids Cross Writing Activism and Children's Literature seeks to draw these cross writing projects together and bring them to the attention of readers In doing so this book invites readers to place children's literature in conversation with works more typically understood as being for adult audiences read multiethnic US literature alongside texts by global writers consider children's poetry and nonfiction as well as fiction and read diachronically as well as cross culturally These ways of reading offer points of entry into a world of books that refuse to exclude young audiences in scrutinizing topics that range from US settler colonialism and linguistic prejudice to intersectional forms of gender inequality The authors included here also employ an intricate array of writing strategies that challenge lingering stereotypes of children's literature as artistically as well as intellectually simplistic They subversively repurpose tropes and conventions from canonical children's books embrace an epistemology of children's literature that emphasizes ambiguity and complexity invite readers to participate in redefining concepts such as civilization and cultural belonging engage in intricate acts of cross cultural representation and re envision their own earlier works in new forms tailored explicitly to younger audiences Too often disregarded by skeptical adults these texts offer rich rewards to readers of all ages and here they are brought to the fore

Wall,2018-10-26 Although they have written in various genres African American writers as notable and diverse as W E B Du Bois James Baldwin and Alice Walker have done their most influential work in the essay form The Souls of Black Folk The Fire Next Time and In Search of Our Mothers Gardens are landmarks in African American literary history Many other writers such as Ralph Ellison Zora Neale Hurston James Weldon Johnson and Richard Wright are acclaimed essayists but achieved greater fame for their work in other genres their essay work is often overlooked or studied only in the contexts of their better known works Here Cheryl A Wall offers the first sustained study of the African American essay as a distinct literary genre Beginning with the sermons orations and writing of nineteenth century men and women like Frederick Douglass who laid the foundation for the African American essay Wall examines the genre s evolution through the Harlem Renaissance She then turns her attention to four writers she regards as among the most influential essayists of the twentieth century Baldwin Ellison June Jordan and Alice Walker She closes the book with a discussion of the status of the essay in the twenty first century as it shifts its medium from print to digital in the hands of writers like Ta Nehisi Coates and Brittney Cooper Wall s beautifully written and insightful book is nothing less than a redefinition of how we understand the genres of African American literature Ellingtonia W. Self-Projection Linda Haverty Rugg,2014-03-01 In 1957 a decade before Roland Barthes announced the death of the author Fran ois Truffaut called for a new era in which films would resemble the person who made them and be even more personal than an autobiographical novel More than five decades on it seems that Barthes has won the argument when it comes to most film critics The cinematic author we are told has been dead for a long time Yet Linda Haverty Rugg contends not only that the art cinema auteur never died but that the films of some of the most important auteurs are intensely if complexly related to the lives and self images of their directors Self Projection explores how nondocumentary narrative art films create alternative forms of collaborative self representation and selfhood The book examines the work of celebrated directors who plant autobiographical traces in their films including Truffaut Bergman Fellini Tarkovsky Herzog Allen Almod var and von Trier It is not simply that these directors and many others like them make autobiographical references or occasionally appear in their films but that they tie their films to their life stories and communicate that link to their audiences Projecting a new kind of selfhood these directors encourage identifications between themselves and their work even as they disavow such connections And because of the collaborative and technological nature of filmmaking the director s self projection involves actors audience and the machines and institution of the cinema as well Lively and accessible Self Projection sheds new light on the films of these iconic directors and on art cinema in general ultimately showing how film can transform not only the autobiographical act but what it means to have a self

Shadowing Ralph Ellison John S. Wright,2009-09-18 In 1952 Ralph Ellison 1914 1994 published his novel Invisible Man which transformed the dynamics of American literature The novel won the National Book Award extended the themes of his early short stories and dramatized in fictional form the cultural theories expressed in his later essay collections Shadow Act and Going to the Territory In Shadowing Ralph Ellison John Wright traces Ellison s intellectual and aesthetic development and the evolution of his cultural philosophy throughout his long career The book explores Ellison s published fiction his criticism and correspondence and his passionate exchanges with and impact on other literary intellectuals during the Cold War 1950s and during the culture wars of the 1960s 1970s and 1980s Wright examines Ellison s body of work through the lens of Ellison s cosmopolitan philosophy of art and culture which the writer began to construct during the late 1930s Ellison Wright argues eschewed orthodoxy in both political and cultural discourse maintaining that to achieve the highest cultural awareness and the greatest personal integrity the individual must cultivate forms of thinking and acting that are fluid improvisational and vitalistic like the blues and jazz Accordingly Ellison elaborated throughout his body of work the innumerable ways that rigid cultural labels categories and concepts from racial stereotypes and fashionable academic theories to conventional political doctrines fail to capture the full potential of human consciousness Instead Ellison advocated forms of consciousness and culture akin to what the blues and jazz reveal and he portrayed those musical traditions as the best embodiment of the evolving American spirit

Understanding the Essay Patricia Foster, Jeff Porter, 2012-07-25 This is a book on how to read the essay one that demonstrates how reading is inextricably tied to the art of writing It aims to treat the essay with the close attention that has been given to other literary genres and in doing so it suggests the beauty and depth of the form as a whole At once personal appreciations and acute critical assessments the pieces collected here broaden our perspective on the essay as a major literary art tracing its history from William Hazlitt to Joan Didion

Existential America George Cotkin, 2003-01-24 As Cotkin shows not only did Americans readily take to existentialism but they were already heirs to a rich tradition of thinkers from Jonathan Edwards and Herman Melville to Emily Dickinson and William James who had wrestled with the problems of existence and the contingency of the world long before Sartre and his colleagues After introducing the concept of an American existential tradition Cotkin examines how formal existentialism first arrived in America in the 1930s through discussion of Kierkegaard and the early vogue among New York intellectuals for the works of Sartre Beauvoir and Camus
