The Online Self Soraj Hongladarom, 2016-07-27 This book investigates the emerging phenomenon of the self as it exists in the online world It argues for an externalist conception of self and identity one that does not depend on the continuity of consciousness of the subject It also offers an analysis of related phenomenon such as online friendship and games based on this analysis An outstanding feature of social networking sites such as Facebook and MySpace is that it allows for the user to put forward their selves or their identity onto the Internet and use the online self as an anchor to connect with any number of friends each of whom also has their own online selves A number of questions then arise which are deeply conceptual and philosophical in nature What is the metaphysical nature of this emerging online self Is it the same or fundamentally different from the offline self with which we are already familiar Since increasing numbers of people are connected to the online world this world itself seems to be taking on a reality of its own This much has been appreciated by a number of scholars in the field However there seems to be lacking a systematic study of the philosophical and metaphysical nature of the self that has become a key element in cyberspace a key topic which this volume addresses Apart from the problem of constitution of the online self this volume addresses related questions concerning personal identity in the online world and scrutinizes computer games and the characteristics that they share with social networking sites Unlike the majority of the existing literature which discusses the topic from a more social scientific perspective this volume fills the lacuna of a philosophical and theoretical study of the online world

Information Cultures in the Digital Age Matthew Kelly,Jared Bielby,2016-08-08 For several decades Rafael Capurro has been at the forefront of defining the relationship between information and modernity through both phenomenological and ethical formulations In exploring both of these themes Capurro has re vivified the transcultural and intercultural expressions of how we bring an understanding of information to bear on scientific knowledge production and intermediation Capurro has long stressed the need to look deeply into how we contextualize the information problems that scientific society creates for us and to re incorporate a pragmatic dimension into our response that provides a balance to the cognitive turn in information science With contributions from 35 scholars from 15 countries Information Cultures in the Digital Age focuses on the culture and philosophy of information information ethics the relationship of information to message the historic and semiotic understanding of information the relationship of information to power and the future of information education This Festschrift seeks to celebrate Rafael Capurro s important contribution to a global dialogue on how information conceptualisation use and technology impact human culture and the ethical questions that arise from this dynamic relationship Research Anthology on Combating Cyber-Aggression and Online Negativity Management Association, Information Resources, 2022-03-04 The advent of the internet and social media were landmarks in furthering communication technologies Through social media websites families friends and communities could connect in a way never seen Though these websites are helpful tools in facilitating positive interaction they have also allowed users to verbally attack and bully each other with no fear of repercussion Moreover online predators will often use these tools to harass stalk and in some cases even lure their victims Particularly rampant among adolescents these harmful actions must be mitigated in order to safeguard the mental health and physical safety of users The Research Anthology on Combating Cyber Aggression and Online Negativity discusses the research behind cyber aggression and cyber bullying as well as methods to predict and prevent online negativity It presents policy technological and human intervention practices against cyber aggression Covering topics such as media literacy demographic variables and workplace cyberbullying this major reference work is a critical resource for students and educators of higher education libraries social media administrators government organizations K 12 teachers computer scientists sociologists psychologists human resource managers researchers and academicians

Computing and Philosophy in Asia Soraj Hongladarom, 2009-03-26 This volume is a collection of selected papers presented at the Second Asia Pacific Computing and Philosophy Conference which was held in Bangkok Thailand in January 2005 The conference was organized by the Center for Ethics of Science and Technology Chulalongkorn University on behalf of the International Association of Computing and Philosophy www.ia-cap.org Computing have had a long relationship with philosophy starting from the problem of how symbols being manipulated in computing bear a relation to the outside world to those of artificial intelligence robotics computer simulation and so on Moreover as computer technologies have become thoroughly pervasive in today s environment there are also issues concerning social and ethical impacts brought about by them The papers in the volume represent a wide variety of concerns and various dimensions within which computing and philosophy are related Furthermore it also represents some of the first attempts to highlight cultural dimensions of computing and philosophy which became prominent when the conference was held for the first time within the milieu of an Asian culture The First Asia Pacific Computing and Philosophy was held in

Canberra Australia Hence many of the papers in the volume address this added dimension Apart from the usual problems of how computers and human lives are interconnected the papers here also discuss how computers are related to human lives as lived in a specific culture Thus the book breaks a new ground and should be of interest to a wide range of scholars and students who are interested not only on computing and philosophy generally construed but also on this exciting new dimension of how the cultures of Asia the West and others bear upon the traditional issues in computing and philosophy and on how this dimension raises some new concerns and agenda Among the topics discussed in this volume are political online forums in Saudi Arabia e democracy and structural transformation of public sphere the Buddhist informational person a glance into the lives of computerized generation in Thailand technology and journalism in the market local approaches and global potential of information ethics computer enhanced good life computer teaching ethics and many others
