Interpretations of the First Amendment William W. Van Alstyne, 1984 American Book Publishing Record, 2003

Media Freedom as a Fundamental Right Jan Oster, 2015-05-28 Jan Oster develops a coherent theoretical and doctrinal framework for the scope content and limitations of media freedom Books in Series, 1985 Vols for 1980 issued in three parts Series Authors and Titles Democracy without Citizens Robert M. Entman, 1990-09-27 The free press cannot be free Robert Entman asserts Inevitably it is dependent In this penetrating critique of American journalism and the political process Entman identifies a vicious circle of interdependence as the key dilemma facing reporters and editors To become sophisticated citizens he argues Americans need high quality independent political journalism yet to stay in business while producing such journalism news organizations would need an audience of sophisticated citizens As Entman shows there is no easy way out of this dilemma which has encouraged the decay of democratic citizenship as well as the media's continuing failure to live up to their own highest ideals Addressing widespread despair over the degeneration of presidential campaigns Entman argues that the media system virtually compels politicians to practice demagoguery Entman confronts a provocative array of issues how the media's reliance on elite groups and individuals for information inevitably slants the news despite adherence to objectivity standards why the media hold government accountable for its worst errors such as scandals and foreign misadventures only after it's too late to prevent them how the interdependence of the media and their audience molds public opinion in ways neither group alone can control why greater media competition does not necessarily mean better journalism why the abolition of the FCC's Fairness Doctrine could make things worse Entman sheds fascinating light on important news events of the past decade He compares for example coverage of the failed hostage rescue in 1980 which subjected President Carter to a barrage of criticism with coverage of the 1983 bombing that killed 241 Marines in Lebanon an incident in which President Reagan largely escaped blame He shows how various factors unrelated to the reality of the events themselves the apparent popularity of Reagan and unpopularity of Carter differences in the way the Presidents publicly framed the incidents the potent symbols skillfully manipulated by Reagan's but not by Carter's news managers produced two very different kinds of reportage Entman concludes with some thoughtful suggestions for improvement Chiefly he proposes the creation of subsidized party based news outlets as a way of promoting new modes of news gathering and analysis of spurring the established media to more innovative coverage and of increasing political awareness and participation Such suggestions along with the author's probing media criticisms make this book essential reading for anyone concerned about the state of democracy in America The Cumulative Book Index, 1984 A world list of books in the English language The Origins of the Watchdog Concept of Freedom of the Press Timothy W. Gleason, 1986 Library Bulletin United States. Department of Justice. Office of Information Technology, 1985 An Integrated Approach to Communication Theory and Research Don W. Stacks, Michael B. Salwen, Kristen C. Eichhorn, 2019-03-14 This new edition provides a comprehensive overview of current theory and research written by the top theorists and researchers in each area. It has been updated to address the growing influence of technology changing relationships and several growing integrated approaches to communication and includes seven new chapters on Digital Media, Media Effects, Privacy, Dark Side, Applied Communication, Relational Communication, Instructional Communication, Communication and the Law. The book continues to be essential reading for students and faculty who want a thorough overview of contemporary communication theory and research.

The Watchdog Concept Timothy W. Gleason, 1990 Choice, 2005 Freedom of the Press Ralph Edward McCoy, 1993

Ralph E. McCoy's Freedom of the Press: An Annotated Bibliography covered some four hundred years of press freedom in the English speaking world and was hailed by a reviewer as the most useful annotated bibliography ever produced on the topics of freedom and censorship in mass communication. This second supplement covering the years from 1978 to 1992 contains more than 3,900 entries and follows the pattern and scope of both the original bibliography and the first supplement which covered the years from 1967 to 1977. An annotated bibliography of books, pamphlets, journal articles, dissertations, films and other materials relating to freedom of the press in the English speaking world. The bibliography defines the word press generically to include all media of mass communications: books, newspapers and other printed matter but also motion pictures, recordings, radio and television broadcasts and to a limited extent stage plays. Annotations in this supplement are descriptive rather than critical and both positive and negative statements on press freedom are included. Whenever possible the author's own words have been used to summarize the work or to express salient points of view. Articles on the nature and effect of pornography that do not deal directly with press freedom but provide background information are included. The present volume is more selective than the original and the first supplement particularly in covering news events. One or two reports are often used to represent a much larger number of articles available thereby eliminating much duplication. The format of this volume however follows that of the earlier volumes: it is arranged alphabetically by personal or corporate author or by title where the author is unknown. To facilitate a subject approach to the work a comprehensive subject index identifies topics, concepts, countries, individuals, court decisions and titles of censored works.

Interpretation and Method Dvora Yanow, Peregrine Schwartz-Shea, 2006. Demonstrates the relevance, rigor and creativity of interpretive research methodologies for political science and its various sub-fields. Designed for use in a course on interpretive research methods, this book situates methods questions within the context of methodological questions, the character of social realities and their knowability.

The Irony of Regulatory Reform Robert Britt Horwitz, 1989. This study examines the history of telecommunications, both telephone and broadcast, with particular reference to attempts to regulate these media in the USA.

European and International Media Law Jan Oster, 2017. This unique textbook offers a comprehensive overview of European and international media law and how globalised communication has shaped it.

Channeling Violence James T. Hamilton, 2021-04-13. If it bleeds it leads. The phrase captures television news directors famed preference for opening newscasts with the most violent stories they can find And what is true for news is often true for entertainment programming where violence is used as a product to attract both viewers and sponsors In this book James Hamilton presents the first major theoretical and empirical examination of the market for television violence Hamilton approaches television violence in the same way that other economists approach the problem of pollution that is as an example of market failure He argues that television violence like pollution generates negative externalities defined as costs borne by others than those involved in the production activity Broadcasters seeking to attract viewers may not fully bear the costs to society of their violent programming if those costs include such factors as increased levels of aggression and crime in society Hamilton goes on to say that the comparison to pollution remains relevant when considering how to deal with the problem Approaches devised to control violent programming such as restricting it to certain times and rating programs according to the violence they contain have parallels in zoning and education policies designed to protect the environment Hamilton examines in detail the microstructure of incentives that operate at every level of television broadcasting from programming and advertising to viewer behavior so that remedies can be devised to reduce violent programming without restricting broadcasters right to compete Current Publications in Legal and Related Fields ,1985 Fides Et Historia ,1984 Affirmative Action, Hate Speech, and Tenure Benjamin Baez,2013-12-16 Uniquely positioned as both a scholar and an attorney Benjamin Baez provides a thought provoking exploration on the current debate surrounding race and academic institutions Privacy in the New Media Age Jon L. Mills,2015-03-03 Balancing personal dignity and first amendment concerns has become increasingly challenging in the new media age when for example bloggers have no editors and perhaps no moral restraints Unlimited and unrestricted internet speech has left thousands of victims in its wake most of them silenced after the media cycle moves on While the history of free speech and press has noble origins rooted in democratic theory how does society protect those who are harassed stalked and misrepresented online while maintaining a free society Jon Mills one of the nation s top privacy experts and advocates maps out this complex problem He discusses the need for forethought and creative remedies looking at solutions already implemented by the European Union and comparing them to the obsolete privacy laws still extant in the United States In his search for solutions Mills closely examines an array of cases some of them immediately recognizable because of their notoriety and extensive media coverage In a context of almost instantaneous global communications where technology moves faster than the law Mills traces the sharp edge between freedom of expression and the individual dignity that privacy preserves
