Interpreting China's Military Power Doctrine Makes Readiness:

Interpreting China's Military Power Ka-po Ng, 2005

Interpreting China's Military Power Ka Po Ng, 2005-08-09

Although inter state tensions have generally been easing after the Cold War military power remains a dominant factor in Asian regional politics As China operating the world s largest army grows stronger there are ongoing debates over the implications for Asia s regional security This book argues that it is imperative to look beyond the empirical observations and conventional materialist reading of Chinese military development to understand its dynamics and directions in doctrinal terms and put it in a readiness context for evaluation Military doctrine has long been under studied and is often treated as a subject separate from force development But as this study contends this factor is necessary for interpreting the making and purposes of China s military power because it forms the intellectual foundation of military structural and hardware development When loaded with political rhetoric it also communicates to us the intended uses of the military power The role of doctrine is reinforced in the context of military readiness which defines what for and how the army is getting ready Force development is evaluated in structural operational and directional terms The importance of this analytical framework based on military doctrine and readiness is demonstrated in a survey of the evolution of Chinese military doctrine and force development As the Chinese People s Liberation Army has continued to adjust its military structure and operation to follow the doctrinal lead its switches between the doctrines of local war and total war have seen corresponding changes to the emphasis between operational and structural readiness

China's Military Power Roger Cliff, 2015-09-15 Once termed the world s largest military museum the Chinese military has made enormous progress over the past twenty years With skyrocketing military budgets and new technology China s tanks aircraft destroyers and missile capabilities are becoming comparable to those of the United States If these trends continue how powerful will the Chinese military be in the future Will its capabilities soon rival or surpass those of the United States The most comprehensive study of its kind this book provides a detailed assessment of China's military capabilities in 2000 and 2010 with projections for 2020. It is the first of its kind in outlining a rigorous theoretically and empirically grounded framework for assessing military capability based on not just weaponry but also doctrine, training, equipment, and organizational structure. This framework provides not only the most accurate assessment of China's military to date but an important new tool in the study of military history. PLA Modernisation and Likely Force Structure 2025 Nagender SP Bisht, 2015-02-01. China is modernizing her military very rapidly and as her economy strengthens the pace of military modernization is going to touch higher trajectories. This modernization would impact and alter the existing strategic environment in the world. In the region, the impact will be more profound and will force her neighbors to rework their own military modernization programs, war-fighting doctrines, and their present position on relations with China and other regional powers and the US. Today, in addition to issues relating to human resource development, the biggest impediment is the availability of technology to develop new modern weapon systems and equipment. Will the drivers and trends of Chinese military modernization continue to be the same or will there be changes? How will the modernization impact the PLA's behavior, especially in its neighborhood? How will the neighbors react to this stupendous pace of militarization in the East Asia? What will be the role of Japan, Vietnam, India, Russia, and the US? How will China's restive periphery and PLA respond to the spread of Islamic fundamentalism? To correctly appreciate these changes, an in-depth understanding of Chinese military modernization is essential. This book is an effort in this direction and attempts to find some answers to the questions posed. The trends of modernization of the four services of the PLA have been analyzed, and a capability suggested that the PLA is likely to have by 2025. South Asia Defence And Strategic Year Book - 2009 General Deepak Kapoor, AVSM PVSM, SM VSM Chief of Army Staff (India), 2009. The third edition of the South Asia Defence and Strategic Year Book offers an analysis of defence, economic, and social issues that impact regional security in South Asia. The wide-ranging perspectives give a deep insight into the factors and linkages that impact the emerging international relations of the region, with particular emphasis on India, which is an economic, military, and political powerhouse with an expanding footprint in the World. South Asia is a region that is rife with geopolitics. By virtue of its population and location, it is a reflection of the challenges of the interconnected, integrated, and interdependent world. Its security environment is relatively unsettled and is a reason for both hope and despair. Its issues, which have international as well as regional relevance, have their own dynamics and trends that need a deeper understanding. The Year Book aims to provide a comprehensive overview of the security environment in the region by focusing on an in-depth analysis of military capabilities and strategic imperatives obtaining in the region. Apart from outlining the general security environment, detailed military balance, trends in weapon systems and technology, defence industry, missile and nuclear capabilities, and terrorism issues have been highlighted. Growing strategic linkages and independence of nation-states make it imperative to consider the region as a whole to incorporate a holistic approach. The Year Book also contains studies on China and other Southeast Asian nations to that effect Thus the underlying theme of this publication is to enable understanding through information While the threat of terrorism remains at the forefront of most analyses the move towards popular and democratically elected governments in South Asia has not eclipsed the existing challenges to governance in all the countries of the region Poverty and economic disparities coupled with ethnic and social divisions have created political and social fault lines that have been exploited by non state actors with their own agendas Thus we hope to promote peace through understanding by delineating the issues of concern in the region
