Intimate Thoughts:

Tuitions and Intuitions William Rothman, 2019-11-01 Makes the case that philosophy has an essential role to play in the serious study of film William Rothman has long been considered one of the seminal figures in the field of film philosophy From his landmark book Hitchcock The Murderous Gaze now in its second edition to the essays collected here in Tuitions and Intuitions Rothman has been guided by two intuitions first that his kind of film criticism is philosophy and second that such a marriage of criticism and philosophy has an essential part to play in the serious study of film In this book he aspires borrowing a formulation from Emerson to pay the tuition for these intuitions Thoughtful philosophically sophisticated and provocative the essays included here address a wide range of films including classical Hollywood movies the work of auteur directors like Alfred Hitchcock George Cukor Yasujiro Ozu and Woody Allen performances by John Barrymore and James Stewart unconventional works by Jean Genet Chantal Akerman Terrence Malick and the Dardenne brothers the television series Justified and documentaries by Jean Rouch Ross McElwee and Robert Gardner All the essays address questions of philosophical significance and taken together manifest Rothman's lifelong commitment when writing about a film to respect the film's own ideas to remain open to the film's ways of expressing its ideas and to let the film help teach him how to view it how to think about it and how to discover what he has at heart to say about it Tuitions and Intuitions is simply indispensable to anyone interested in philosophy and in film as philosophy This book as a whole expresses and exemplifies moral perfectionism through the exploration of what our self becomes with this experience of cinema Sandra Laugier University of Paris Bringing Rothman's work together highlights patterns and consistent concerns that may not otherwise be obvious to readers The book will be invaluable to current and future Rothman scholars Kyle Stevens author of Mike Nichols Sex Language and the Reinvention of Psychological Realism

Immanent Frames John Caruana, Mark Cauchi, 2018-05-31 Explores a growing number of films and filmmakers that challenge the strict boundaries between belief and unbelief For some time now thinkers across the humanities and social sciences have increasingly called into question the once dominant view of the relationship between modernity and secularism prompting some to speak of a postsecular turn Until now film studies has largely been silent about this development even though cinema itself has been a major vehicle for such reflection This fact became inescapable in 2011 when Terrence Malick's The Tree of Life and Lars von Trier's Melancholia were released within days of each other While these two audacious and controversial films present seemingly opposite perspectives the former a thoughtful meditation on faith the latter a portrayal of nontriumphalist atheism together they raise critical questions about transcendence and immanence in modern life These films are however only the most conspicuous of a growing body of works that call forth similar and related questions what this collection aptly calls postsecular cinema Taking the nearly simultaneous release of The Tree of Life and Melancholia as its starting point and framing device this pioneering collection sets out to establish the idea of postsecular cinema as a distinct body of films and a viable critical category Adopting a film philosophy approach one group of essays examines Malick's and von Trier's films while another looks at works by Chantal Akerman Denys Arcand the Dardenne brothers and John Michael McDonagh among others The volume closes with two important interviews with Luc Dardenne and Jean Luc Nancy that invite us to reflect more deeply on some of the central concerns of postsecular cinema Understanding the Self Prof. Annsi Sojan

Diaries Dinda L. Gorrée,2020-02-06 Ludwig Wittgenstein's works encompass a huge number of published philosophical manuscripts notebooks lectures remarks and responses as well as his unpublished private diaries The diaries were written mainly in coded script to interpolate his writings on the philosophy of language with autobiographic passages but were previously unknown to the public and impossible to decode without learning the coding system This book deciphers the cryptography of the diary entries to examine what Wittgenstein's personal idiom reveals about his public and private identities Employing the semiotic doctrine of Charles S Peirce Dinda L Gorrée argues that the style of writing reflects the variety of Wittgenstein's emotional moods which were profoundly affected by his medical symptoms Bringing Peirce's reasoning of abduction together with induction and deduction the book investigates how the semiosis of the emotional energetic and logical interpretations of signs and objects reveal Wittgenstein's psychological states in the coded diaries
