

Do Not Go Gentle into That Good Night By Dylan Thomas

Do not go gentle into that good night,
Old age should burn and rave at close of day;
Rage, rage against the dying of the light.

Though wise men at their end know dark is right,
Because their words had forked no lightning they
Do not go gentle into that good night.

Good men, the last wave by, crying how bright
Their frail deeds might have danced in a green bay,
Rage, rage against the dying of the light.

Wild men who caught and sang the sun in flight,
And learn, too late, they grieved it on its way,
Do not go gentle into that good night.

Grave men, near death, who see with blinding sight
Blind eyes could blaze like meteors and be gay,
Rage, rage against the dying of the light.

And you, my father, there on the sad height,
Curse, bless, me now with your fierce tears, I pray.
Do not go gentle into that good night.
Rage, rage against the dying of the light.

Remember, 2005 Everybody wants a christening wedding or funeral service to be unique to them and one of the main ways of personalising a ceremony is to choose one's own readings Not everyone reads poetry or novels together and many do not know where to start in choosing a special piece Here an experienced editor of such books has collected together 100 readings from scripture and literature across the centuries in celebration of a birth a marriage a life that has ended There is humour tenderness challenge wisdom and realism in abundance offering quite literally something for everyone

Teaching Through the Ill Body Marla Morris, 2008-01-01 This book raises questions around pedagogy and illness Morris explores two large issues that run through the text What does the ill body teach What does the teacher do through the ill body The body has something to teach while teaching through the ill body This book is theoretically framed by connections between spirituality and aesthetics As the great spiritual traditions teach our responsibility as teachers is to help others especially those who are marginalized What is lacking in our educational discourse is a discussion of the responsibility we all have to help those who get sick and not marginalize them More specifically pedagogical and curricular questions are fleshed out through working in the area of curriculum studies depth psychology and the medical humanities These three disciplines have something in common autobiography But in the field of curriculum studies autobiographies pathographies of sickness are few and far between This book is meant to fill that gap in the educational literature This pathography is a study that explores the mysteries of suffering storytelling memory and poesis Compassion woundedness vulnerability testimony and authenticity are all issues Morris raises here Teachers scholars depth psychologists and medical educators might be particularly interested in this intensely felt narrative about what it is like for teachers to teach while suffering from chronic illness

Penguin, 2009-05-28 For 2009 the BBC is planning a major Poetry Season on BBC2 and BBC4 This landmark series on British

Poetry will be the centrepiece of the season and Penguin Classics is publishing the official anthology to tie in with it. The anthology will include all the poems read or mentioned in the series as well as a large number of others selected to complement them. It should prove to be a hugely successful way of bringing the best of British poetry to a wide audience. The TV series is from the people who brought you Who Do You Think You Are and will consist of 4x60 minute episodes following a celebrity presenter on his or her life journey through poetry. Each episode will focus on a theme that has inspired some of the great poetry of the past and continues to do so such as love and death, war and nationhood, nature and religion. The celebrities will be passionate and articulate about the way poetry has changed and enhanced their lives through all its various stages. Among them are poems chosen by actress Sheila Hancock exploring human relationships and the loss of a loved one from Yeats and Tennyson to Blake and Larkin. Comic Robert Webb has selected the modern verse that inspired him including the love sonnets of E. E. Cummings and the wordplay of Don Paterson. Musician Cerys Matthews celebrates the rich verse of Wales, Ireland and Scotland poets and writer Malorie Blackman chooses the rich variety of poetry that spoke to her from Psalm 23 to Roald Dahl to Benjamin Zephaniah.

Between Philosophy and Poetry Massimo Verdicchio, Robert Burch, 2002-11-01. Between Philosophy and Poetry examines the complex and controversial relation that has informed literary theory since ancient times: the difference between philosophy and poetry. The book explores three specific areas: the practice of writing with respect to orality; the interpretive modes of poetic and philosophical discourse as self-narration and historical understanding; how rhythm marks the differential spaces in poetry and philosophy. The book brings together some of the most prominent international scholars in the fields of philosophy and literature to examine the differences between orality and writing, the signs and traces of gender in writing, the historical dimension of the tension between philosophical and poetic language and the future possibility of a musical thinking that would go beyond the opposition between philosophy and poetry. In the final instance, rhythm is the force to be reckoned with and is the essential element in an understanding of philosophy and poetry. Rhythm in effect provides a musical ethics of philosophy; for musical thinking goes beyond the metaphysical opposition between philosophy and poetry and sets the frame for post-philosophical practice. The Art of Growing Older Wayne C. Booth, 1996-12-15. Culled chiefly from great literary works, this unusual compendium of prose and poetry excerpts highlights the physical and emotional aspects of aging. Although Booth's The Rhetoric of Fiction, age 71, includes such cheery banal verse as "I Haven't Lost My Marbles Yet" by Minnie Hodapp, he has tailored this collection to encompass the unpleasant truths about aging. William Butler Yeats's Sailing to Byzantium and excerpts from Simone de Beauvoir's The Coming of Age offer realistic assessments of the perils and possible consolations of aging. The thoughtful commentary with which Booth connects the selections reminds readers that physical decay and fear of death are conditions common to us all.
