Art as a Language for Autism Jane Ferris Richardson, 2022-07-01 Art as a Language for Autism addresses the clinical challenges that are common in working with autistic spectrum disorder by exploring how artistic expression can provide a communicative language for younger clients who are set in their thought processes and preferences Exploring how both art and play based approaches can be effective tools for engaging therapeutic work this book introduces strategies to help young clients find expressive languages that can fully support communication expression and empathic understanding as well as build skills for relaxation calming and coping Building from a foundation of a client's individual strengths and interests this playful and integrative approach is informed by an awareness of the individual sensory profiles and the developmental needs of children and adolescents with autism Through a greater awareness of these materials and processes for therapy the reader will be able to create a space for their young clients to share what they know and care about This exciting new book is essential reading for clinicians working with children and adolescents on the autism spectrum Me, Cat and Others in the Street Ron S. King, 2010-10 This is a story about a man and a cat which mysteriously turns up in a cardboard box on his doorstep What happens next is a continuous tale of fun and of characters of the Street who create havoc in the man's life This story is narrated in a most humorous way and will give hours of fun and contains many humorous pictures Butrint 5: Life and Death at a Mediterranean Port William Bowden, 2020-02-19 This is the second volume arising from the 1994 2003 excavations of the Triconch Palace at Butrint Albania which charted the history of a major Mediterranean waterfront site from the 2nd to the 15th centuries AD The sequence Butrint 3 Excavations at the Triconch Palace Oxbow 2011 included the development of a palatial late Roman house followed by intensive activity between the 5th and 7th centuries involving domestic occupation metal working fishing and burial The site saw renewed activity from the 10th century coinciding with the revival of the town of Butrint and for the following 300 years continued in intermittent use associated with its channel side location This volume reports on the finds from the site excluding the pottery which demonstrate the ways in which the lives diet and material culture of a Mediterranean population changed across the arc of the late Roman and Medieval periods It includes discussion of the environmental evidence the human and faunal remains metal working evidence and the major assemblages of glass coins and small finds giving an insight into the health subsistence base and material culture of the population of a Mediterranean site across more than 1000 years The findings raise important questions regarding the ways in which changes in the circumstances of the town affected the population between Late Antiquity and the Middle Ages They illustrate in particular how an urban Roman center became more rural during the 6th century with a population that faced major challenges in their health and living conditions Stratigraphy of the Little Rocky Mountains and Encircling Foothills, Montana Maxwell McMichael Knechtel, 1959 Bedrock formations and surficial deposits mapped and described in relation to regional stratigraphy Masters of Prose - Rudyard Kipling Rudyard Kipling, 2020-06-18 Welcome to the Masters of
