Essays on Consumer Search and Interlocking Directorates Silva Deželan, 2001 Information is crucial to make good decisions but obtaining and providing information often comes at a cost Consumers and firms both need to balance these costs and benefits of obtaining and providing information in order to make the best decisions The research in this thesis investigates several questions that pertain to the acquisition and provision of information In the first part of this thesis it is assumed that consumers are not fully informed about the prices or availability of a product they want to buy Consumers can search for information but this comes at a cost At the same time shops can influence these costs In the first two studies in this part shops have the possibility to advertise An advertisement provides information to consumers and reduces the search costs We investigate among other things the pricing behavior of shops and the relation between search and advertising The third study in this part of the thesis considers the location choice of shops Locating together in a shopping mall reduces the search costs of consumers This increases the competition between shops and lowers the prices but we show that at the same time the sales volume increases The total effect of locating together on profits is generally positive The second part of this thesis considers director ties also named interlocks A director who has several directorships in different firms can serve as an information bridge between the different firms At the same time interlocking directors are busy and form a homogenous group Data from the Netherlands show that in The Netherlands the positive information providing effect of interlocks is outweighed by a negative busyness and homogenous group effect Boards, Governance and Value Creation Morten Huse, 2007-04-19 What is the role of boards in corporate governance How should they be structured in order to maximize value creation This 2007 book looks at the role of boards in a variety of different countries and contexts from small and medium sized enterprises to large corporations It explores the working style of boards and how they can best achieve their task expectations Board effectiveness and value creation are shown to be the results of interactions between owners managers board members and other actors Board behaviour is thus seen to be a result of strategizing norms board leadership and the decision making culture within the boardroom Combining value creation behavioural and ethical approaches to the study of boards this work offers a systematic framework which will be of value to graduate students and researchers in the field of corporate social responsibility and business ethics *The divergence between plant and company concentration, 1947 (81st Cong.)
