Division of Materials Licensing,1967      Volcanism and the Upper Mantle G. Gorshkov,2012-12-06 The present volume seems to me to be a particularly important one for several reasons Not least among these is the fact that it summarizes the work of two decades by G S Gorshkov one of the world's leading volcanologists In addition it is the first general work of this length on the volcanism of what might be called a narrow island arc a relatively simple megastructure as compared with the wide arcs such as Japan and Indonesia Finally in this volume Gorshkov has summarized and cited extensive evidence for his general ideas on the relation between volcanism and the earth's crust and mantle A few potentially troublesome items should be noted here In the translation the Russian terms suite and series have been retained though for American readers these might better have been translated as formation and group In almost all cases Russian place names have simply been transliterated rather than translated e g Yuzhnyi Isthmus rather than South Isthmus in a few cases the English equivalent has been given in brackets where this is essential to the understanding of the author's comments The adjectives have retained their Russian case endings in the process masculine yi or ii feminine aya or ya neuter oe and this may occasionally lead to some slight confusion for example when the author calls a given feature Severnyi Volcano at one point and Severnaya Mountain at another      The Drama of the Messiah in Matthew 8 and 9 Solomon Pasala,2008 In contrast to the other synoptic evangelists the author of Matthew proceeded differently in many respects Why did he modify the text so much and arrange ten miracle narratives one after the other at one stretch with minor interruptions Why did he place the so called miracle chapters immediately after the Sermon on the Mount Why did he enclose them between two summary statements on either side These are only some of the unanswered questions about chapters 8 and 9 of Matthew's Gospel Beginning with Aristotle's theory of the drama or tragedy the author suggests that the way the evangelist has reworked and reorganized the miracle narratives is similar to the structure of the classic drama By discovering the narrative strategies and the discourse aspect we are able to demonstrate how each episode corresponds to the different moments of a plot such as the initial situation inciting moment complication climax with suspense and finally resolution and denouement
