Zorick, 2012-10-24 This book is about the life of a blind athlete The intent of this book is to educate the sighted world regarding situations as they relate not only to blind people but also to all society In many cases the blind must be overly aggressive and take the risk of being judged as pushy Even then they still get very few opportunities As it stands 70%% of blind adults in this country are unemployed Hopefully this book will do something to change that situation Making a Play

Abbi Glines, 2019-08-20 The fifth book in the 1 New York Times bestselling Field Party series a southern soap opera with football cute boys and pickup trucks from USA TODAY bestselling author Abbi Glines Ryker Lee is finally enjoying his senior year he has great friends hangs out with hot girls and is on track to get a football scholarship that will set him up for college Despite this a small part of him wonders if there's more to life than parties and meaningless hookups and if football even means as much to him as it does to his fellow teammates And when he meets the new girl at school his world totally changes Aurora McClay is new to Lawton She's grateful that her twin brother Hunter is star of the football team and can help her adjust to her new school but she's not grateful at how overprotective he is over every person she meets Just because she is deaf does not mean people have to treat her differently When she meets Ryker Lee the two of them spark an instant and intense chemistry one that proves to be controversial not only because of Ryker's reputation as a player but also because of Aurora and Hunter's father's bigoted views about who Aurora can and can't date Aurora and Ryker know in their hearts that they are meant for each other But can their relationship endure the turmoil of rumors and prejudice Mediation and

Multimodal Meaning Making in Digital Environments Ilaria Moschini, Maria Grazia Sindoni, 2021-11-15 This collection explores the mediation of a wide range of processes texts and practices in contemporary digital environments through the lens of a multimodal theory of communication Bringing together contributions from renowned scholars in the field the book builds on the notion that any form of digital communication inherently presents a rich combination of different semiotic modes and resources as a jumping off point from which to critically reflect on digital mediation from three different perspectives The first section looks at social and semiotic practices and the implications of their mediation on artistic production cultural heritage and commerce The second part of the volume focuses on dynamics of awareness cognition and identity formation in participants to digitally mediated communicative processes The book s final section considers the impact of mediation on shaping new and different types of textualities and genres in digital spaces The book will be of particular interest to scholars researchers and students in multimodality digital communication social semiotics and media studies

The Making of Us Lisa Jewell, 2012-08-14 From the New York Times bestselling author of None of This Is True comes a compelling and heartbreaking Jojo Moyes novel about three strangers who are brought together by the father they never knew Lydia Dean and Robyn don t know one another Yet Each is facing difficult challenges Lydia is still wearing the scars from her traumatic childhood Wealthy and successful she leads a lonely and disjointed existence Dean is a young unemployed single dad whose life is going nowhere Robyn is eighteen Gorgeous popular and intelligent she entered her first year of college confident of her dream to become a pediatrician Now she s failing her classes Now she s falling in love for the first time Lydia Dean and Robyn live very different lives but each of them independently has always felt that something was missing What they don t know is that a letter is about to arrive that will turn their lives upside down It is a letter containing a secret one that will bind them together and show them what love and family and friendship really mean Filled with heart and humor Kirkus Reviews The Making of Us is a literary gem that will remind readers of the miracles that happen when we bring life into the world and share our lives with those we love

Making Democracy Fun Josh A. Lerner, 2014-02-21 Drawing on the tools of game design to fix democracy Anyone who has ever been to a public hearing or community meeting would agree that participatory democracy can be boring Hours of repetitive presentations alternately alarmist or complacent for or against accompanied by constant heckling often with no clear outcome or decision Is this the best democracy can offer In Making Democracy Fun Josh Lerner offers a novel solution for the sad state of our deliberative democracy the power of good game design What if public meetings featured competition and collaboration such as team challenges clear rules presented and modeled in multiple ways measurable progress such as scores and levels and engaging sounds and visuals These game mechanics would make meetings more effective and more enjoyable even fun Lerner reports that institutions as diverse as the United Nations the U S Army and grassroots community groups are already using games and game like processes to encourage participation Drawing on more than a decade of practical experience and extensive research he explains how games have been integrated into a variety of public programs in North and South America He offers rich stories of game techniques in action in children s councils social service programs and participatory budgeting and planning With these real world examples in mind Lerner describes five kinds of games and twenty six game mechanics that are especially relevant for democracy He finds that when governments and organizations use games and design their programs to be more like games public participation becomes more attractive effective and transparent Game design can

Making Peace with Spain Whitelaw Reid, 2014-09-10 Whitelaw Reid according to H Wayne Morgan was a leading newspaperman more than an occasional diplomat a power in his party's politics a supporter of some of the best in his era's culture Of all his legacy perhaps the record he left of his part in the Peace of Paris is the most significant and most interesting It not only reveals the workings of his mind and of the peace conference but also suggests the complex currents that carried his country into the realities of world power in the twentieth century In editing Reid s diary Morgan used much material pertinent to the Paris Peace Conference of 1898 employed here for the first time This material is a rich assortment of archival matter the Reid Papers the John Hay Papers the John Bassett Moore Papers and the McKinley Papers in the Library of Congress the Peace Commission records in the National Archives and unpublished materials in the Central Files of the Department of State Whitelaw Reid as a war correspondent during the Civil War as clerk of the House Military Affairs Committee and later as a successor to Horace Greeley on the Tribune gained access to the leaders of his times and insight into their actions In 1889 he was appointed U S Minister to France by Harrison and in 1892 he had the dubious honor of being chosen as Harrison s running mate on the losing presidential ticket An influential friend and supporter of President McKinley and an occasional advisor to him Reid was no stranger to politics and to international diplomacy when McKinley appointed him to the Peace Commission that wrote the treaty concluding the Spanish American War As a matter of fact Reid s opinion reflected the administration s attitude of expansionism the policy of Manifest Destiny or imperialism as it was later called Reid s diary records the details of the sessions of the Joint Peace Commission of Paris from September through a large part of December of 1898 His day by day entries reveal the complexity of issues to be considered the tactics of both the Spanish and the American Commissions in attempting to gain advantage for their respective governments the interplay of the personalities of the once proud Spaniards and the brash Americans the political objectives influencing the points of view of the various members and the maneuverings that brought about the final resolution of debated issues

Making African Christianity Robert J. Houle,2011-09-16 In Making African Christianity author Robert J Houle argues that Africans successfully naturalized Christianity This book examines the long history of the faith among colonial Zulu Christians known as amakholwa in what would become South Africa As it has become clear that Africans are not discarding Christianity a number of scholars have taken up the challenge of understanding why this is the case and how we got to this point Where others have focused on the economic and political potential of conversion this book argues that we need to understand what was embedded within the faith that Africans found so appealing Houle argues that translation did not end with the bible but extended to Christian theology which needed to be fully appropriated before the faith was secure on the continent For Zulu the religion was not a good fit until converts filled critical gaps in the faith such as how Christianity could account for the active and everyday presence of the ancestral spirits a problem that was true for African converts across the continent in slightly different ways This book offers fresh insight into the history behind the contemporary success of Christianity on the continent and will be welcomed by African historians those interested in the history of colonialism missions southern African and in particular Christianity

Making Animals Public Gay Hawkins and Ben Dibley,2024-06-01 Making Animals Public television animality and political engagement focuses on the proliferation of animal content on television and how this has transformed how animals are known and encountered generating unique modes of televisual animality The book examines the multiplicity of public realities and knowledges that animals on TV have constituted from scientific objectivity to the unique Australian environment to controversial victims of gross exploitation Just as television has made animals public in very particular ways it has also made new publics that have learnt to be affected by them Thanks to extraordinary access to the ABC s Natural History and general archives the authors are able to investigate the dynamic relation between making animals public and making publics over time
