The Last Plantation Betty Lane Maddox, 2018-03-29 The Last Plantation By Betty Lane Maddox Betty Lane Maddox was born to Melvin and Robert Duncan Walls in Hollandale Mississippi Both of her parents are now deceased She is the second of twelve children Rose Smith Melvin Walls Jr deceased Maxine Walls Linda Park Joyce Walls Rosie Adams Raymond Walls Lester Walls Billy Walls Sheila Turnipseed and Lisa Wells Time was hard when Maddox was young She grew up on many plantation chopping and picking cotton for the white plantation owners You never got ahead At the end of the year her father had no money coming in because it was all spent on food a pair of shoes for school from the boss man s store and for the shack they lived in It was years before Maddox even knew what money was and looked like Maddox has gone through so much in her life She has been married to a beautiful man for twenty five years She is saved by God s grace and a member of The Christian Fellowship Missionary Baptist Church of Rev Tyran T Laws in Chicago Illinois Maddox made history when she worked the 2012 re election campaign of President Obama She helped make the re election of the first black president happen Maddox has come a long way from a sharecropper s daughter The Last Plantation James R. Jones, 2024-05-21 A revealing look at the covert and institutionalized racism lurking in the congressional workplace Racism continues to infuse Congress s daily practice of lawmaking and shape who obtains congressional employment In this timely and provocative book James Jones reveals how and why many who work in Congress call it the Last Plantation He shows that even as the civil rights movement gained momentum in the 1960s and antidiscrimination laws were implemented across the nation Congress remained exempt from federal workplace protections for decades These exemptions institutionalized inequality in the congressional workplace well into the twenty first century Combining groundbreaking research and compelling firsthand accounts from scores of congressional staffers Jones uncovers the hidden dynamics of power privilege and resistance in Congress He reveals how failures of racial representation among congressional staffers reverberate throughout the American political system and demonstrates how the absence of diverse perspectives hampers the creation of just legislation Centering the experiences of Black workers within this complex landscape he provides valuable insights into the problems they face the barriers that hinder their progress and the ways they contest entrenched inequality A must read for anyone concerned about social justice and the future of our democracy The Last Plantation exposes the mechanisms that perpetuate racial inequality in the halls of Congress and challenges us to confront and transform this unequal workplace that shapes our politics and society The Last Plantation Don Wright, 1990-10 A Troublesome Commerce Robert H. Gudmestad, 2003-11-07 Robert H Gudmestad provides an in depth examination of the growth and development of the interstate slave trade during the early nineteenth century using the business as a means to explore economic change the culture of honor master slave relationships and the justification of slavery in the antebellum South Gudmestad demonstrates how southerners faced with the incongruity of maintaining their paternalistic beliefs about slavery even while capitalistically exploiting their slaves coped

by disassociating themselves from the brutality and greed of the slave trade and shifting responsibility for slavery's realities to the speculators. In tracing the transformation of a troublesome commerce into a southern scapegoat, this provocative work proves the interstate slave trade to be vital to the making and understanding of the paradoxical antebellum South.

The India-rubber Journal, 1911 Journal of the Commissioners for Trade and Plantations from ... Preserved in the Public Record Office Great Britain. Board of Trade, 1924 Action without Hope Nathan K. Hensley, 2025-06-04 A study of how writers from the early phases of our prolonged climate emergency used aesthetic strategies to redefine the category of action. What does it feel like to live helplessly in a world that is coming undone? Nathan Hensley turns to Victorian literature to uncover a prehistory of this deeply contemporary sense of powerlessness. For many in nineteenth-century Britain, their world seemed so scarred by human rapacity that restoring it seemed beyond the powers of any one individual. Like George Eliot's characters in Middlemarch or the doomed lovers of Wuthering Heights, observers of the gathering carbon economy felt themselves ensnared by interlocked and broken systems. In the face of damage so vast and apparently irreversible, what could possibly be done? To answer this question, Hensley shows that nineteenth-century writers and artists devised new ways to understand action and hope. They rescaled action away from the grandly heroic and toward minor adjustments and collaborative interventions. They turned away from logical proofs and direct argumentation and instead called on aesthetic technologies like sonnets and fractured lyrics, watercolor sketches, and vast multiplot novels, finding scope for action not at the level of the theme or the thesis but in gestures and details. Ranging from J. M. W. Turner's painterly technique to Emily Brontë's dreamlike fragments and reading along the way works by Alfred Lord Tennyson, H. G. Wells, Lewis Carroll, Gerard Manley Hopkins, William Berryman, Charlotte Brontë, George Eliot, and Christina Rossetti, Hensley's study makes an important contribution to Victorian studies and the environmental humanities.

Race, Organizations, and the Organizing Process Melissa E. Wooten, 2019-05-20 This volume shifts the analytic attention of research on race as a people-based theoretical or empirical category to organizations. Chapters investigate how race shapes organizations and an organization's ability to get the cultural, political, and material resources it needs to survive in the organizing process.

The Contested Murder of Latasha Harlins Brenda Stevenson, 2013-07-23 Helicopters patrolled low over the city, filming blocks of burning cars and buildings, mobs breaking into storefronts, and the vicious beating of truck driver Reginald Denny. For a week in April 1992, Los Angeles transformed into a cityscape of rage, purportedly due to the exoneration of four policemen who had beaten Rodney King. It should be no surprise that such intense anger erupted from something deeper than a single incident. In The Contested Murder of Latasha Harlins, Brenda Stevenson tells the dramatic story of an earlier trial, a turning point on the road to the 1992 riot. On March 16, 1991, fifteen-year-old Latasha Harlins, an African American who lived locally, entered the Empire Liquor Market at 9172 South Figueroa Street in South Central Los Angeles. Behind the counter was a Korean woman named Soon Ja Du. Latasha walked to the refrigerator cases in the back, took a bottle of orange juice, put it in her backpack, and approached the cash register with two dollar bills in her hand the price of the juice Moments later she was face down on the floor with a bullet hole in the back of her head shot dead by Du Joyce Karlin a Jewish Superior Court judge appointed by Republican Governor Pete Wilson presided over the resulting manslaughter trial A jury convicted Du but Karlin sentenced her only to probation community service and a 500 fine The author meticulously reconstructs these events and their aftermath showing how they set the stage for the explosion in 1992 An accomplished historian at UCLA Stevenson explores the lives of each of these three women Harlins Du and Karlin and their very different worlds in rich detail Through the three women she not only reveals the human reality and social repercussions of this triangular collision she also provides a deep history of immigration ethnicity and gender in modern America Massively researched deftly written The Contested Murder of Latasha Harlins will reshape our understanding of race ethnicity gender and above all justice in modern America The
