Last Thirty Years In Public Health:

The Last Thirty Years in Public Health (Routledge Revivals) Sir Arthur Newsholme, 2015-06-11 First published in 1936 this book is a continuation of Sir Arthur Newsholme's Fifty Years in Public Health and covers a wide variety of topics in relation to the subject. It is in part autobiographical as the author recollects and reflects upon his experiences of the system. The book is divided into two main periods: 1908-19 when Newsholme was the head of the Medical Department of the State's Central Health Organisation and from 1919 to 1936 when he no longer held an official position but had the freedom and time to examine both public health and social activities. Topics explored include the administration of public health insurance for medical care, child health, The Great War, tropical medicine, and American pioneers in public health. Proceedings of the ... Public Health Conference on Records and Statistics, Proceedings of the Public Health Conference on Records and Statistics Public Health Conference on Records and Statistics, 1993 A planned study program of the Public Health Service administered by the National Center for Health Statistics. The Poor Law Magazine and Journal of Public Health for Scotland, 1868 The Last Thirty Years in Public Health Sir Arthur Newsholme, 1966 The Deadly Ideas of Neoliberalism Rick Rowden, 2013-07-04 The Deadly Ideas of Neoliberalism explores the history of and current collision between two of the major global phenomena that have characterized the last 30 years: the spread of HIV/AIDS and other diseases of poverty and the ascendancy of neoliberal economic ideas. The book explains not only how IMF policies of restrictive spending have exacerbated public health problems in developing countries, in particular the HIV/AIDS crisis, but also how such issues cannot be resolved under these economic policies. It also suggests how mounting global frustration about this inability to adequately address HIV/AIDS will ultimately lead to challenges to the dominant neoliberal ideas as other more effective economic ideas for increasing public spending are sought. In stark, powerful terms, Rowden offers a unique and in-depth critique of development economics, the political economy dynamics of global foreign aid and health institutions, and how these seemingly abstract factors play out in the real world from the highest levels of global institutions to African finance and health ministries to rural health outposts in the countryside of developing nations and back again. Thirty Years of Natural Disasters 1974-2003: The Numbers Debarati Guha-Sapir, David Hargitt, Philippe Hoyois, 2004 Over the last 30 years, 6,367 natural disasters killed more than 2 million people. A cumulative total of 5.1 billion individuals were affected, of which 182 million were left homeless. These same disasters caused US$1.4 trillion worth of damages. Data on natural disasters and their impact on populations and economies play an essential role in understanding the factors that increase human vulnerability and the importance of disaster preparedness, mitigation, and prevention. Public Health Reports, 1963 Cumulated Index Medicus, 1975 Florence Nightingale on Public Health Care Lynn McDonald, 2006-01-01 This sixth volume in the Collected Works of Florence Nightingale reports Nightingale's considerable accomplishments in the development of a public health care system based on health promotion and disease prevention. It follows directly from her understanding of social science and broader social reform activities which were related in Society and Politics Volume 5 Public Health Care includes a critical edition of Notes on Nursing for the Labouring Classes papers on mortality in aboriginal schools and hospitals and on rural health It reports much unknown material on Nightingale's signal contribution of bringing professional nursing into the dreaded workhouse infirmaries This collection presents letters and notes on a wide range of issues from specific diseases to germ theory and relates some of her own extensive work as a nurse practitioner which included organizing referrals to doctors and providing related care Currently Volumes 1 to 11 are available in e book version by subscription or from university and college libraries through the following vendors Canadian Electronic Library Ebrary MyiLibrary and Netlibrary
