Last Rights Thirteen Fatal Encounters With The States Justice:

Last Rights Joseph B. Ingle, 2008 Executing Justice Lloyd H. Steffen, 2006-03-14 Justice for Deborah Thornton is complete Richard Thornton said after the execution of her killer Karla Faye Tucker in Texas I want to say to every victim in the world demand this But which form of justice is this victim demanding retribution or restoration Taking seriously the claims of death penalty supporters Lloyd Steffen constructs a theory of just execution For every acknowledged killer on death row there are dozens who maintain their innocence Supporters of the death penalty along with its opponents must demand fairness so that innocent persons are not subjected to the terror of an unjust execution Reminding us that Jesus likewise faced the terror of unjust execution Steffen asks Christians to reacquaint themselves with the symbol of the cross as an instrument of state terror rather than a divine decoration Wretched Sisters Mary Welek Atwell, 2007 Reflects how the criminal justice system defines crimes committed by women in a particular gendered context Atwell offers an analysis of the legal and popular cultural circumstances that determine why a small number of women are sentenced to death and provides an account of how eleven came to be subjected to the ultimate punishment From publisher description And the Criminals with Him Will D. Campbell, Richard C. Goode, 2012-07-20 In 1972 Will Campbell published an issue of the Committee of Southern Churchmen's journal Katallagete to shed light on the US prison system None could anticipate how the system would expand exponentially in the next four decades Today the US operates the world's largest prison system incarcerating nearly 1 in every 100 American adults How did this expansion happen What is the human toll of this retributive system How might ambassadors of reconciliation respond to such a punitive institution Replicating the firsthand nature of Will Campbell's original Katallagete collection twenty new essays pull back the veil on today's prison industrial complex The plea throughout this collection is not for some better more progressive institution to exact justice Rather the invitation is to hear from voices of experience how the system functions listen to what the institution does to those locked in its cells consider what an execution involves and most importantly contemplate the scandalous call to be in reconciled community with those whom society discards and the system silences Our story is that there are neither good nor bad people neither felon nor free world We are all one The Slow Death of the Death Penalty Todd C. Peppers, Jamie Almallen, Mary Welek Atwell, 2025-07-01 Why the death penalty is in decline across the United States Across the country the death penalty is dying Twenty-two states have abandoned state-sanctioned executions including nine in the last fifteen years Of the twenty-eight states that still have the death penalty eight have not had an execution in over a decade And public support for the death penalty has declined from 80% of the surveyed population in the early 1990s to approximately 50% today As the death penalty slowly withers away Todd C. Peppers Jamie Almallen and Mary Welek Atwell bring together a number of distinguished death penalty scholars activists and attorneys to take an accounting of the damage inflicted by the machinery of death Contributors to the book point to a range of different pathologies which have caused politicians and voters to turn against capital punishment from unacceptable rates of false convictions and racially motivated prosecutions to a clemency process poisoned by political factors Essay topics include various dimensions of the death penalty including racial and gender bias economic costs the conviction of juveniles the mentally ill and the factually innocent Supreme Court decisions and the failure of the death penalty to serve as a deterrent against crime This important volume is an up to date accounting of the current state and as the contributors argue the future demise of the death penalty Exploring Issues of Care, Dying and the End of Life ,2020-05-06 In Exploring Issues of Care Dying and the End of Life practitioners and academics from a range of disciplines and nationalities discuss matters pertinent to the end of life Together they explore a variety of issues including communication facing up to and handling death as well as investigating what constitutes the good death A Sense of Justice Keel Hunt,2023-01-17 To know the story of the life and times of Judge Gilbert Merritt is to understand modern U S politics of the mid to late 20th century how it came to be and how it worked particularly in the American South Judge Gilbert Merritt and his circle of young lawyers and journalists in Nashville were among the South s earliest Kennedy Democrats in the late 1950s Their brash political strivings though not always victorious at the polls affected the shape of many things including the rise of modern Nashville As a young legal scholar in his twenties Merritt was one of the nation s youngest U S Attorneys appointed by President Johnson candidate for Congress opponent of the death penalty President Carter s nominee for the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit and almost a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States This social biography is a graduate course in Southern political history and how that history is much more than campaigns and elections It depicts a much deeper weave of the power of friendship and loyalty the influence of history upon individuals and generations and of how communities of interest formed and evolved over time in our nation and of how it is all connected

Against Capital Punishment Herbert H. Haines,1999-08-19 While most western democracies have renounced the death penalty capital punishment enjoys vast and growing support in the United States A significant and vocal minority however continues to oppose it Against Capital Punishment is the first full account of anti death penalty activism in America during the years since the ten year moratorium on executions ended Building on in depth interviews with movement leaders and the records of key abolitionist organizations this work traces the struggle against the pro death penalty backlash that has steadily gained momentum since the 1970s It reviews the conservative turn in the courts which over the last two decades has forced death penalty opponents to rely less on the litigation strategies that once served them well It describes their efforts to mount a broad based educational and political assault on what they see as the most cruel racist ineffective and expensive manifestation of a criminal justice system gone wrong Despite the efforts of death penalty opponents executions in the United States are on the increase Against Capital Punishment diagnoses the reasons for the failure to mobilize widespread opposition to executions and assesses the prospects for opposition to capital punishment in the future of the United States

issue which has divided America both politically and religiously the abortion debate has built opposing walls that make compromise seem impossible Lloyd Steffen uses compassionate insight and wisdom in analyzing both sides of the abortion debate and offers a unique platform by which all are invited to reason together Too Close to the Flame Joseph B. Ingle, 2024-05-07 Joe Ingle's Too Close to the Flame is a heartbreakingly beautiful account of over four decades serving as a spiritual counselor guide and friend to the men and women on Death Row I had been working with the condemned since 1975 but never before had an execution affected me with this much power and confusion Throughout his forty five years visiting death rows across the American South Joe Ingle has learned loved and suffered intensely In Too Close to the Flame Ingle describes how the events of 2018 2020 finally exposed the deep wounds inflicted on his psyche by nearly half a century of enduring the state sanctioned murder of friend after friend As an advocate for the men and women condemned to death by an unjust legal system that routinely victimizes the marginalized Ingle has often found himself waiting through the darkest hours as the spiritual advisor and sole companion of those on deathwatch the brief period of isolation that precedes an execution In vivid detail and startling candor Ingle describes every moment with the expertise of a scholar and the affection of a brother Through Ingle's eyes we are invited into the inner sanctum during desperate attempts at clemency intimate final hours and the mourning that follows a night on deathwatch Part psychological memoir part history of Southern state killing since the reinstatement of the death penalty in 1976 Too Close to the Flame is above all a catalogue of love a gallery of relationships that could only be forged between people staring death in the face together It is an account of the price of radical Christian love a record of service to the least among us and a testament to the full humanity of those whom the powers that be would seek to dehumanize and exterminate

New Perspectives on the End of Life: Essays on Care and the Intimacy of Dying Lloyd Steffen, Nate Hinerman, 2020-10-12 This volume was first published by Inter Disciplinary Press in 2012 This inter disciplinary volume gathers scholars from around the world to explore clinical cultural and ethical perspectives on end of life care not only for the dying but also for those who attend the dying as caregivers Crossing the River Styx Russell Allen Ford, Todd C. Peppers, Charles Peppers, 2023-03-01 The Reverend Russ Ford who served as the head chaplain on Virginia's death row for eighteen years raged against the inequities of the death penalty now outlawed in Virginia while ministering to the men condemned to die in the 1980s and 1990s Ford stood watch with twenty eight men sitting with them in the squalid death house during the final days and hours of their lives In July 1990 he accidentally almost became the 245th person killed by Virginia's electric chair as he comforted Ricky Boggs in his last moments a vivid episode that opens this haunting book Many chaplains get to know the condemned men only in these final moments Ford however spent years working with the men of Virginia's death row forging close bonds with the condemned and developing a nuanced understanding of their crimes their early struggles and their challenges behind bars His unusual ministry makes this memoir a unique and compelling read a moving and unflinching portrait of Virginia's death row inmates Revealing the cruelties of the state sanctioned violence that has until recently prevailed in our backyard Crossing the River Styx serves as a cautionary tale for those who still support capital punishment A Courageous Fool Todd C. Peppers, Margaret A. Anderson, 2021-04-30 There have been many heroes and victims in the battle to abolish the death penalty and Marie Deans fits into both of those categories A South Carolina native who yearned to be a fiction writer Marie was thrust by a combination of circumstances including the murder of her beloved mother in law into a world much stranger than fiction a world in which minorities and the poor were selected to be sacrificed to what Supreme Court Justice Harry Blackmun called the machinery of death Marie found herself fighting to bring justice to the legal process and to bring humanity not only to prisoners on death row but to the guards and wardens as well During Marie s time as a death penalty opponent in South Carolina and Virginia she experienced the highs of helping exonerate the innocent and the lows of standing death watch in the death house with thirty four condemned men Routledge Handbook on Capital Punishment Robert M. Bohm, Gavin Lee, 2017-12-15 Capital punishment is one of the more controversial subjects in the social sciences especially in criminal justice and criminology Over the last decade or so the United States has experienced a significant decline in the number of death sentences and executions Since 2007 eight states have abolished capital punishment bringing the total number of states without the death penalty to 19 plus the District of Columbia and more are likely to follow suit in the near future Nebraska reinstated its death penalty in 2016 Worldwide 70 percent of countries have abolished capital punishment in law or in practice The current trend suggests the eventual demise of capital punishment in all but a few recalcitrant states and countries Within this context a fresh look at capital punishment in the United States and worldwide is warranted The Routledge Handbook on Capital Punishment comprehensively examines the topic of capital punishment from a wide variety of perspectives A thoughtful introductory chapter from experts Bohm and Lee presents a contextual framework for the subject matter and chapters present state of the art analyses of a range of aspects of capital punishment grouped into five sections 1 Capital Punishment History Opinion and Culture 2 Capital Punishment Rationales and Religious Views 3 Capital Punishment and Constitutional Issues 4 The Death Penalty s Administration and 5 The Death Penalty s Consequences This is a key collection for students taking courses in prisons penology criminal justice criminology and related subjects and is also an essential reference for academics and practitioners working in prison service or in related agencies Slouching Toward Tyranny Joseph B. Ingle, 2015-04-01 As a pastor to Death Row inmates across the South and as a powerful advocate appealing to prison wardens lawyers judges and legislators Joseph Ingle has come to some shocking conclusions about the United States champion of human rights throughout the world He began to recognize another aspect to US history systematic oppression imposed by the very people who founded the country After working with death row inmates in the killing ground of the South where he had lost over twenty people to the executioner since 1979 Rev Ingle made his way to Harvard University on a Merrill Fellowship in 1991 where he began a twenty year process of reading writing and continued work with the condemned Here he began to comprehend what he had been experiencing in the United States foremost advocate of democratic government and a champion of human rights throughout the world He found it difficult to even face the contradictions he perceived And he began to ask whether in fact we have to consider the government of our country in terms of tyranny The Death Penalty Today Robert M. Bohm,2017-11-13 More than 30 years after the US Supreme Court reinstated the death penalty it is still plagued with egregious problems Issues of wrongful conviction inhumane practices and its efficacy as a deterrent are hotly debated topics As of August 2007 two thirds of the worlds countries have abolished the death penalty Today the US falls alongside I Handbook of Restorative Justice , The National Prison Project Journal ,1990 America's Experiment with Capital Punishment James R. Acker,Robert M. Bohm,Charles S. Lanier,2003 Comprises 21 essays which analyze changes in capital punishment and its administration over the last 25 years and explores issues relevant to the present and future of the death penalty in America The essays address capital punishment public opinion law and politics the justice of the death penalty the utility of the capital sanction jury decision making defense counsel race discrimination mitigation theory cost habeas corpus victims the role of mental health professionals and executive clemency No index Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Capital Punishment David L. Hudson Jr.,2023-06-15 Each entry in this essential collection of primary resources on capital punishment features an authoritative introduction and analysis that helps provide crucial context for understanding the evolution of law and public attitudes toward the death penalty in America from colonial times to the present Showcasing key primary documents that illuminate the ongoing debate and turbulent history of capital punishment in the United States this collection gathers a wide range of fascinating and momentous documents including court decisions and transcripts legislation personal accounts and perspectives congressional testimony and government documents Since these documents reflect all political perspectives and messaging students will gain valuable insight into the evolution of public opinion and government policy on the death penalty in America To better understand these documents each primary source is prefaced with an introduction and followed by scholarly analysis These documents and accompanying analysis complement one another helping students gain a better and more accurate understanding of the viewpoints convictions and perspectives that have shaped American attitudes and practices toward capital punishment since the United States earliest days
