England Made Me, 1970 All the Year Round Charles Dickens, 1863 Miss M.'S Storybook Sandra Mendyk, 2009-07-15 Have you ever done something you later were embarrassed about like hiding under a highway in ankle high water at two o'clock in the morning Or getting locked in Paris Frances Notre Dame Cathedral bell tower Would you tell anyone about your family and friends especially a brother who loved pulling pranks like throwing lit matches from a cinema balcony Did you ever try to undertake something fun that no one would ever expect you to do like flying an airplane although you get airsick Have you ever encountered a ghost met a reincarnated spider or accompanied the FBI to look for a bomb How would you feel if you took your nephew to England at the invitation of the Prince of Wales and got embarrassed when he said something out loud enough that you wanted to crawl under the closest chair Do you feel brave or anxious enough to read some of these experiences mostly funny the same stories that many junior high school students enjoyed for years Many people have approached Miss M and asked how she had so many adventures and accomplished so much Miss M has taught seventh grade for twenty two years Many times the school day had some leftover time This was the perfect time for one of Miss M's stories that were told over and over again to keep students riveted to the teacher in front of the room She never repeated the same story twice to the same class And all these stories are true This book has many of these stories Many stories are classified as comedy serious and some may be downright scary Many also have a moral This paperback book can be taken on the bus on trips and even read in the bathroom Characters in the book have initials in order to save some people embarrassment The family members know who they are All Miss M has to say now after compiling all her real life stories for others to read and share is Enjoy as all her former students did And if anyone doesn't enjoy the book well there's always that bathroom

Conversations with Graham Greene Graham Greene, 1992 This collection of seventeen interviews covers fifty years Here the eminent author of The Power and the Glory The Third Man and The Heart of the Matter speaks of himself his life and his works Though reluctant to be interviewed especially by an academic or journalist he did not know Greene was more at ease in an interview with a personal friend who he felt would be less likely to misunderstand or misquote him Yet even his good friend V S Pritchett spent considerable time trying to pin him down for his 1978 interview When he finally did arrange an interview Pritchett tells that Greene's flat conspiratorial laughing voice of itself makes him the best company I've known in the last forty years Other interviewers included here are V S Naipaul and Penelope Gilliatt shared Pritchett's opinion but many found that he avoided idle conversation for fear that his words would be misconstrued Greene's anxiety was not without foundation In an interview with Michael Menshaw Greene explained It's got so I hate to say who I am or what I believe A few years ago I told an interviewer I'm a gnostic The next day's newspaper announced that I had become an agnostic After such incidents Greene turned to the anecdote relating an experience with Fidel Castro or with Papa Doc Duvalier to communicate in interviews with strangers Nevertheless in all the interviews Greene granted over the years the reader hears very clearly the voice of a man whose conversation is as painfully honest and unpretentious as is his written prose The interviews here are divided chronologically into four periods loosely related to his subject matter or to his reputation at the time of the interview Thus the reader sees the development of the writer from a callow but gifted young man into one of the foremost men of letters in the English speaking world

British Fiction After Modernism M. MacKay, L. Stonebridge, 2007-01-08 This collection of essays offers a wide ranging and provocative reassessment of the British novel's achievements after modernism The book identifies continuities of preoccupation with national identity historiography and the challenge to literary form presented by public and private violence that span the entire century Postmodern Fiction and the Break-Up of Britain Hywel Dix, 2011-11-03 This study explores how British identity has been explored and renegotiated by contemporary writers It starts by examining the new emphasis on space and place that has emerged in recent cultural analysis and shows how this spatial emphasis informs different literary texts Having first analysed a series of novels that draw an implicit parallel between the end of the British Empire and the break up of the unitary British state the study explores how contemporary writing in Northern Ireland Scotland and Wales contributes to a sense of nationhood in those places and so contributes to the break up of Britain symbolically Dix argues that the break up of Britain is not limited to political devolution in Northern Ireland Scotland and Wales It is also an imaginary process that can be found occurring on a number of other conceptual coordinates Feminism class regional identities and ethnic communities are all terrains on which different writers carry out a fictional questioning of received notions of Britishness and so contribute in different ways to the break up of Britain Politics and the British Novel in the 1970s J. Russell Perkin, 2021-06-15 The 1970s in Britain saw a series of industrial disputes a referendum on membership in the European Economic Community conflict about issues of immigration and citizenship and emergent environmental and feminist movements It was also a decade of innovation in the novel and novelists often addressed the state of the nation directly in their works In Politics and the British Novel in the 1970s Russell Perkin looks at social novels by John Fowles and Margaret Drabble the Cold War thrillers of John le Carr Richard Adams's best selling fable Watership Down the popular campus novels of Malcolm Bradbury and David Lodge Doris Lessing's dystopian visions and V S Naipaul's explorations of post colonial displacement Many of these highly regarded works sold in large numbers and have enjoyed enduring success a testament to the power of the political novel to explain a nation to itself Perkin explores the connections between the novel and politics situating the works it discusses in the rich context of the history and culture of the decade from party politics to popular television shows Politics and the British Novel in the 1970s elucidates a period of literary history now fifty years in the past and offers a balanced perspective on the age revealing that these works not only represented the politics of the time but played a meaningful role in them
