contains the work of well known figures such as John Toland Thomas Parnell Jonathan Swift Patrick Delany Laetitia Pilkington and Oliver Goldsmith there are many verses by lesser known writers and nearly eighty anonymous poems which come from the broadsheets manuscripts and chapbooks of the time What emerges is an entirely new perspective on life in eighteenth century Ireland We hear the voice of a hard working farmer s wife from county Derry of a rambling weaver from county Antrim and that of a woman dying from drink We learn about whale fishing in county Donegal about farming in county Kerry and bull baiting in Dublin In fact almost every aspect of life in eighteenth century Ireland is described vividly energetically with humor and feeling in the verse of this anthology Among the most moving poems are those by Irish speaking poets who use amhran or song meter and internal assonance both borrowed from Irish in their English verse Equally interesting is the work of the weaver poets of Ulster who wrote in vigorous and energetic Ulster Scots The anthology also includes political poems dating from the reign of James II to the Act of Union as well as a selection of lesser known nationalist and Orange songs Each poem is fully annotated and the book also contains a glossary of terms in Hiberno English and Ulster Scots

English As We Speak It in Ireland P. Joyce, 2021-09-10 Book Excerpt Coiner Tales of a Jury room and very near him come Charles Kickham in Knocknagow Crofton Croker in Fairy Legends and Edward Walsh These four writers almost exhaust the dialect of the South of Ireland On the other hand Carleton gives us the Northern dialect very fully especially that of Tyrone and eastern Ulster but he has very little idiom the peculiarities he has preserved being chiefly in vocabulary and pronunciation Mr Seumas MacManus has in his books faithfully pictured the dialect of Donegal of which he is a native and of all north west Ulster In the importation of Irish idiom into English Irish writers of the present day are also making their influence felt for I often come across a startling Irish expression in English words of course in some English magazine article obviously written by one of my fellow countrymen Here I ought to remark that they do this with discretion and common sense for they always make sure that Read More important grammatical features in which Irish English IrE differs from Standard English StE for instance phenomena concerning phonetics word stress rhythmic retentions syntax and semantics Concerning each field of study some striking features of IrE will be described and explained by the use of examples It will be of special interest to what extent the differences date back to the influence of the Irish mother tongue Gaelic³ Since English is a relatively new language in Ireland it will be the aim of this paper to find out if today s linguistic phenomena of IrE can be traced back to the period of the language shift from Irish to English While by now most of the Irish people s mother tongue is English it is still probable that the people are still influenced by their past at least by means of language Because of this certain approach towards IrE all the analysed features in this term paper will be a selection of features that somehow have to do with the native language of Ireland Before the analysis of grammatical features a brief overlook over the terminology concerning the term Irish English as well as an outline of the history of the English language in Ireland will be given After the analysis a last part will be stated in which it will be of interest to how far the Irish accent can be seen as part of the national identity of the Irish people In the end a final conclusion will be stated It is important to mention that although the term IrE is used for a general variety of English in Ireland a lot of internal distinctions could be made These accents are linked to different regions and sometimes even differ from city to city Because of this complexity of the topic this term paper will not go into detail concerning the different accents
