The Medieval English Landscape, 1000-1540 Graeme J. White, 2012-09-06 The landscape of medieval England was the product of a multitude of hands While the power to shape the landscape inevitably lay with the Crown the nobility and the religious houses this study also highlights the contribution of the peasantry in the layout of rural settlements and ridge and furrow field works and the funding of parish churches by ordinary townsfolk The importance of population trends is emphasised as a major factor in shaping the medieval landscape the rising curve of the eleventh to thirteenth centuries imposing growing pressures on resources and the devastating impact of the Black Death leading to radical decline in the fourteenth century Opening with a broad ranging analysis of political and economic trends in medieval England the book progresses thematically to assess the impact of farming rural settlement towns the Church and fortification using many original case studies The concluding chapter charts the end of the medieval landscape with the dissolution of the monasteries the replacement of castles by country houses the ongoing enclosure of fields and the growth of towns The Pageant of English Landscape George Albemarle Bertie Dewar, 1924 Encyclopedia of the Romantic Era, 1760-1850 Christopher John Murray, 2004 Review Written to stress the crosscurrent of ideas this cultural encyclopedia provides clearly written and authoritative articles Thoughts themes people and nations that define the Romantic Era as well as some frequently overlooked topics receive their first encyclopedic treatments in 850 signed articles with bibliographies and coverage of historical antecedents and lingering influences of romanticism Even casual browsers will discover much to enjoy here The Top 20 Reference Titles of the Year American Libraries May 2004 Jane Austen and the English Landscape Mavis Batey, 1996 Jane Austen was deeply inspired by the landscape and rural comforts of southern England Her family's final move to Chawton in the depths of the Hampshire countryside and so near the Steventon rectory of her childhood gave her great satisfaction and led to her most creative period The English Landscape Garden David Jarrett, 1978 Common Land in English Painting, 1700-1850 Ian Waites, 2012 An examination of the treatment of common land in the work of English painters at a time when much of it was to disappear forever A most elegantly written book that calmly knocked many entrenched but erroneous notions about British landscape painting firmly on the head Longlisted and commended by the judges of the 2013 William M B Berger prize for British art history During the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries much of England's common land was eradicated by the processes of parliamentary enclosure However despite the fact that the landscape was frequently viewed as unproductive outmoded and unsightly many British landscape painters of the time including Constable Gainsborough and Turner resolutely continued to depict it This book is the first full study of how they did so using evidence drawn not only from art historical picture analysis but from contemporary poems and novels and the contemporary pamphlets essays and reports that advanced the rhetoric of both agricultural improvement and new theories on landscape aesthetics It highlights a deep rooted social and cultural attachment to the common field landscape and demonstrates that common land played a significant but until now underestimated role in both the history of English art and of the formation of an English national identity reflecting what are still highly sensitive issues of progress nostalgia and loss within the English countryside Recasting common land as a recurrent facet of English culture in the modern period the numerous paintings drawings and prints featured in this book give the reader a comprehensive and evocative sense of what this now almost wholly lost landscape looked like in its hey day Ian Waites is Senior Lecturer in History of Art and Design at the University of Lincoln Routledge Revivals: Patriotism: The Making and Unmaking of British National Identity (1989) Raphael Samuel, 2016-10-04 First published in 1989 this is the third of three volumes exploring the changing notions of patriotism in British life from the thirteenth century to the late twentieth century and constitutes an attempt to come to terms with the power of the national idea through a historically informed critique This volume studies some of the leading figures of national myth such as Britannia and John Bull One group of essays looks at the idea of distinctively national landscape and the ways in which it corresponds to notions of social order A chapter on the poetry of Edmund Spenser explores metaphorical representations of Britain as a walled garden and the idea of an enchanted national space is taken up in a series of essays on literature theatre and cinema An introductory piece charts some of the startling changes in the image of national character from the seventeenth century notion of the English as the most melancholy people in Europe to the more uncertain and conflicting images of today The Mantle of the Earth Veronica della Dora, 2021-01-18 The term mantle has inspired philosophers geographers and theologians and shaped artists and mapmakers visual vocabularies for thousands of years According to Veronica della Dora mantle is the metaphor par excellence for it unfolds between the seen and the unseen as a threshold and as a point of tension Featuring numerous illustrations The Mantle of the Earth Genealogies of a Geographical Metaphor is an intellectual history of the term mantle and its metaphorical representation in art and literature geography and cartography Through the history of this metaphor from antiquity to the modern day we learn about shifting perceptions and representations of global space about our planetary condition and about the nature of geography itself Game & the English Landscape Anthony Vandervell, Charles Coles, 1980 Publication Victoria and Albert Museum, 1919 Catalogue of Modern Wood-engravings Victoria and Albert Museum.
