Comparative Literature Steven Tötösy de Zepetnek,1998 This book serves several purposes all very much needed in today's embattled situation of the humanities and the study of literature First in Chapter One the author proposes that the discipline of Comparative Literature is a most advantageous approach for the study of literature and culture as it is a priori a discipline of cross disciplinarity and of international dimensions After a Manifesto for a New Comparative Literature he proceeds to offer several related theoretical frameworks as a composite method for the study of literature and culture he designates and explicates as the systemic and empirical approach Following the introduction of the proposed New Comparative Literature the author applies his method to a wide variety of literary and cultural areas of inquiry such as Literature and Cultural Participation where he discusses several aspects of reading and readership Chapter Two Comparative Literature as and Interdisciplinarity Chapter Three where he deals with theory and application for film and literature and medicine and literature Cultures Peripherality and Comparative Literature Chapter Four where he proposes a theoretical designation he terms inbetween peripherality for the study of East Central European literatures and cultures as well as ethnic minority writing Women's Literature and Men Writing about Women Chapter Five where he analyses texts written by women and texts about women written by men in the theoretical context of Ethical Constructivism The Study of Translation and Comparative Literature Chapter Six where after a theoretical introduction he presents a new version of Anton Popovic's dictionary for literary translation as a taxonomy for the study of translation and The Study of Literature and the Electronic Age Chapter Seven where he discusses the impact of new technologies on the study of literature and culture The analyses in their various applications of the proposed New Comparative Literature involve modern and contemporary authors and their works such as Dorothy Richardson Margit Kaffka Mircea Cartarescu Robert Musil Alfred Döblin Hermann Hesse Peter Esterházy Dezső Kosztolányi Michael Ondaatje Endre Kúkörelly Else Seel and others Rewriting Apocalypse in Canadian Fiction Marlene Goldman,2005 This book traces the use of apocalyptic images in contemporary Canadian fiction

Making Sense Ralf Hertel,2021-07-26 Fiction is fascinating All it provides us with is black letters on white pages yet while we read we do not have the impression that we are merely perceiving abstract characters Instead we see the protagonists before our inner eye and hear their voices Descriptions of sumptuous meals make our mouths water we feel physically repelled by depictions of violence or are aroused by the erotic details of sexual conquests We submerge ourselves in the fictional world that no longer stays on the paper but comes to life in our imagination Reading turns into an out of the body experience or rather an in another body experience for we perceive the portrayed world not only through the protagonist's eyes but also through his ears nose tongue and skin In other words we move through the literary text as if through a virtual reality How does literature achieve this trick How does it turn mere letters into vividly experienced worlds This study argues that techniques of sensuous writing contribute decisively to bringing the text to life in the reader's imagination In detailed interpretations of British novels of the 1980s and 1990s by writers such as John Berger John Banville Salman Rushdie Jeanette Winterson or J M Coetzee it uncovers literary strategies for turning the sensuous experience into words and for conveying it to the reader demonstrating how we make sense in and of literature Both readers interested in the contemporary novel and in the sensuousness of the reading experience will profit from this innovative study that not only analyses the interest of contemporary authors in the senses but also pin points literary entry points for the sensuous force of reading

Ripostes Philip Marchand, 1998 Ripostes is a collection of essays on some salient features of the Canadian literary landscape a number of which were first published in the Toronto Star many of which appear in these pages for the first time Included are essays on Atwood Findley Ondaatje and Margaret Laurence as well as thematic explorations of Canadian literature such as an account of the demise of the Survival school of Canadian writing a look at the recent history of the Writers Union of Canada an examination of the role of fathers in Canadian fiction a study of the strange attraction of many of our writers to the occult and so on The tone is considered and critical rather than celebratory although the essays are respectful of the genuine achievements of Canadian literature in the past few decades They try to clear the air as it were of boosterism political correctness and other attitudes which hinder the appreciation and reception of good writing This is an honest re appraisal of Canadian literature undertaken at a time when we need no longer be overcome with relief and euphoria over the fact that some of our authors are now world famous or at least world famous in Hoboken New Jersey

The Booker Prize and the Legacy of Empire Luke Strongman, 2002 This book is about the Booker Prize the London based literary award made annually to the best novel written in English by a writer from one of those countries belonging to or formerly part of the British Commonwealth The approach to the Prize is thematically historical and spans the award period to 1999 The novels that have won or shared the Prize in this period are examined within a theoretical framework mapping the literary terrain of the fiction Individual chapters explore themes that occur within the larger narrative formed by this body of novels collectively invoked cultures social trends and movements spanning the stages of imperial heyday and decline as perceived over the past three decades Individually and collectively the novels mirror often in terms of more than a single static image British imperial culture after empire contesting and reinterpreting perceptions of the historical moment of the British Empire and its legacy in contemporary culture The body of Booker novels narrates the demise of empire and the emergence of different cultural formations in its aftermath The novels are grouped for discussion according to the way in which they deal with aspects of the transition from empire to a post imperial culture from early imperial expansion through colonization retrenchment decolonization and postcolonial pessimism to the emergence of tribal nationalisms and post imperial nation states The focus throughout is primarily literary and contingently cultural Political Philosophy Comes to Rick's James F. Pontuso, 2005-01-01 Casablanca is a movie about love and loss virtue and vice good and evil duty and treachery courage and weakness friendship and hate It is a story that ends well but only because the main characters make a heartbreaking choice Casablanca is perhaps the most widely viewed motion picture ever made often finishing on critics lists second only to Citizen Kane What accounts for its continuing popularity What chord does it strike with audiences What lesson does Casablanca teach Americans about themselves What influence does popular culture have on public mores The contributors to Political Philosophy Comes to Rick s take up these questions finding that Casablanca raises many of the most important issues of political philosophy Perhaps Casablanca has an enduring quality because it like political philosophy raises questions of human life the nature of love friendship courage honor responsibility and justice

Michael Ondaatje: Haptic Aesthetics and Micropolitical Writing Milena Marinkova, 2011-07-14 This study of selected literary and cinematic works by Michael Ondaatje investigates the political potential of the Canadian author s aesthetics Contributing to current debates about affect and representation ideology critique and the artwork trauma and testimony this book uses the concept of the haptic to demonstrate how Ondaatje s multisensory fluid and historically inflected writing can forge an enabling relationship between audience author and text This is where Ondaatje s micropolitics often misconstrued as ideologically suspect aestheticism emerges a praxis that intimates how one can write and read politically with a difference

Literature into Film Linda Costanzo Cahir, 2014-12-24 For most people film adaptation of literature can be summed up in one sentence The movie wasn t as good as the book This volume undertakes to show the reader that not only is this evaluation not always true but sometimes it is intrinsically unfair Movies based on literary works while often billed as adaptations are more correctly termed translations A director and his actors translate the story from the written page into a visual presentation Depending on the form of the original text and the chosen method of translation certain inherent difficulties and pitfalls are associated with this change of medium So often our reception of a book based movie has more to do with our expectations and reading of the literature than with the job that the movie production did or did not do Avoiding these biases and fairly evaluating any particular literary based film takes an awareness of certain factors Written with a formalistic rather than historical approach this work presents a comprehensive guide to literature based films establishing a contextual and theoretical basis to help the reader understand the relationships between such movies and the original texts as well as the reader s own individual responses to these productions To this end it focuses on recognizing and appreciating the inherent difficulties encountered when basing a film on a literary work be it a novel novella play or short story Individual chapters deal with the specific issues and difficulties raised by each of these genres providing an overview backed up by case studies of specific film translations Films and literary works receiving this treatment include The Unbearable Lightness of Being The Manchurian Candidate 1962 Lady Windemere's Fan by Oscar Wilde and Shakespeare's Henry V Interspersed throughout the text are suggestions for activities the film student or buff can use to enhance his or her appreciation and understanding of the films Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here Ancient Muses John H. Jameson (Jr.), John E. Ehrenhard, Christine A. Finn, 2003-05-06 Known widely in Europe as interpretive narrative archaeology the practice of using creative methods to interpret and present current knowledge of the past is gaining popularity in North America This is a compilation of international case studies of the various artistic methods used in this new form of education Plays opera visual art stories poetry performance dance music sculpture digital imagery all can effectively communicate archaeological processes and cultural values to public audiences The 23 contributors to this volume are a diverse group of archaeologists educators and artisans who have direct experience in schools museums and at archaeological sites Citing specific examples such as the film The English Patient science fiction mysteries and hypertext environments they explain how creative imagination and the power of visual and audio media can personalize contextualize and demystify the research process
