Reading Medieval Anchoritism Mari Hughes-Edwards, 2012-06-15 This interdisciplinary study of medieval English anchoritism from 1080 1450 explodes the myth of the anchorhold as solitary death cell reveals it instead as the site of potential intellectual exchange and demonstrates an anchoritic spirituality in synch with the wider medieval world A Companion to Ancrone Wisse Yoko Wada, 2010 Ancrone Wisse introduced through a variety of cultural and critical approaches which establish the originality and interest of the treatise Anchoritism in the Middle Ages Catherine Innes-Parker, Naoë Kukita Yoshikawa, 2013-04-30 This volume explores medieval anchoritism the life of a solitary religious recluse from a variety of perspectives The individual essays conceive anchoritism in broadly interpretive categories challenging perceived notions of the very concept of anchoritic rule and guidance studying the interaction between language and linguistic forms addressing the connection between anchoritism and other forms of solitude particularly in European tales of sanctity and exploring the influence of anchoritic literature on lay devotion As a whole the volume illuminates the richness and fluidity of anchoritic texts and contexts and shows how anchoritism pervaded the spirituality of the Middle Ages for lay and religious alike It moves through both space and time ranging from the third century to the sixteenth from England to the Continent and back Placing Middle English in Context Irma Taavitsainen, Terttu Nevalainen, Päivi Pahta, Matti Rissanen, 2011-10-31 The future of English linguistics as envisaged by the editors of Topics in English Linguistics lies in empirical studies which integrate work in English linguistics into general and theoretical linguistics on the one hand and comparative linguistics on the other The TiEL series features volumes that present interesting new data and analyses and above all fresh approaches that contribute to the overall aim of the series which is to further outstanding research in English linguistics The Wooing of Our Lord and The Wooing Group Prayers Catherine Innes-Parker, 2015-07-22 The Wooing of Our Lord and the Wooing Group prayers occupy a key position in the history of English literature and the development of English religious devotion Dating from the second quarter of the thirteenth century they are among a group of texts written in English at a time when the language of literature and the court was Anglo Norman French and the language of church and state was Latin The text for which this group is named The Wooing of Our Lord is also a highly skilled composition combining beautiful and poetic expression with a profound affective theology Its first person female narrator speaks directly to Christ becoming the voice of the reader whom the text guides through a passionate meditation upon the magnitude of Christ's love his sufferings in his Passion and the response of the individual soul Catherine Innes Parker's graceful new translation is paired with the original Middle English dialect in a facing page format Studies in English and European Historical Dialectology Marina Dossena, Roger Lass, 2009 Originally presented at the second in the newly launched series of International Conferences on English Historical Dialectology held at the University of Bergamo in August 2007 the contributions collected in this volume discuss significant aspects of socio geo historical variation in language In addition to

British English the focus is on Dutch Scots and varieties of English outside England in Wales and in the American colonies of the seventeenth century in a time span ranging from medieval times to the nineteenth century The aim is to highlight the traits that allow scholars to approach the study of English in a broader European perspective identifying the patterns that show convergence or divergence not just in terms of shared linguistic features morphosyntactic lexical or pragmatic but also in terms of methodological approaches In this respect great attention is given to the latest developments in corpus and computational linguistics showing the extent to which such new tools as electronic atlases and tagged corpora may facilitate answers to important research questions At the same time perceptual dialectology is awarded new interest on account of its significant role in normative and argumentative language use

Gendering the Master Narrative Mary C.

Erler, Maryanne Kowaleski, 2018-08-06 Gendering the Master Narrative asks whether a female tradition of power might have existed distinct from the male one and how such a tradition might have been transmitted It describes women's progress toward power as a push pull movement showing how practices and institutions that ostensibly enabled women in the Middle Ages could sometimes erode their authority as well This book provides a much needed theoretical and historical reassessment of medieval women's power It updates the conclusions from the editors' essential volume on that topic Women and Power in the Middle Ages which was published in 1988 and altered the prevailing view of female subservience by correcting the nearly ubiquitous equation of power with public authority Most scholars now accept a broader definition of power based on the interactions between men and women In their Introduction Mary C Erler and Maryanne Kowaleski survey the directions in which the study of medieval women's agency has developed in the past fifteen years Like its predecessor this volume is richly interdisciplinary It contains essays by highly regarded scholars of history literature and art history and features seventeen black and white illustrations and two maps
