Cheetham, 2017-07-05 Arguing in favour of renewed critical attention to the nation as a category in art history this study examines the intertwining of art theory national identity and art production in Britain from the early eighteenth century to the present day The book provides the first sustained account of artwriting in the British context over the full extent of its development and includes new analyses of such central figures as Hogarth Reynolds Gilpin Ruskin Roger Fry Herbert Read Art Language Peter Fuller and Rasheed Araeen Mark A Cheetham also explores how the Englishing of art theory which came about despite the longstanding occlusion of the intellectual and theoretical in British culture did not take place or have effects exclusively in Britain Theory has always travelled with art and vice versa Using the frequently resurgent discourse of cosmopolitanism as a frame for his discourse Cheetham asks whether English traditions of artwriting have been judged inappropriately according to imported criteria of what theory is and does This book demonstrates that artwriting in the English tradition has not been sufficiently studied and that English Art Theory is not an oxymoron Such concerns resonate today beyond academe and the art world in the many heated discussions of resurgent Englishness      [The Englishness of

[With Illustrations.] Nikolaus Pevsner, 1964 The Englishness of English Art, Etc. (B.B.C. Reith Lectures, 1955.-An Illustrated Guide.) Nikolaus Pevsner, 1955 English Art, 1860-1914 David Peters Corbett, Lara Perry, 2000 In one of the first studies of its kind Orphan texts seeks to insert the orphan and the problems its existence poses in the larger critical areas of the family and childhood in Victorian culture In doing so Laura Peters considers certain canonical texts alongside lesser known works from popular culture in order to establish the context in which discourses of orphanhood operated The study argues that the prevalence of the orphan figure can be explained by considering the family The family and all it came to represent legitimacy race and national belonging was in crisis In order to reaffirm itself the family needed a scapegoat it found one in the orphan figure As one who embodied the loss of the family the orphan figure came to represent a dangerous threat to the family and the family reaffirmed itself through the expulsion of this threatening difference Orphan texts will be of interest to final year undergraduates postgraduates academics and those interested in the areas of Victorian literature Victorian studies postcolonial studies history and popular culture AngloModern Janet Wolff, 2018-05-31 Early twentieth century art and art practice in Britain and the United States were Janet Wolff asserts marginalized by critics and historians in very similar ways after the rise of post Cubist modern art In a masterly book on the sociology of modernism Wolff explores work that was primarily realist and figurative and investigates the social institutional political and aesthetic processes by which that art fell by the wayside in the postwar period Throughout she shows that questions of gender and ethnicity play an important role in critical curatorial and historical evaluations For example Wolff finds that the work of the artists central to the development of the Whitney Museum was relegated to a secondary status in the postwar period when realism was labeled feminine in contrast to the aggressive masculinity of abstract expressionism The three key periods considered in AngloModern are the early twentieth century when modernist art and existing and new realist traditions coexisted in a certain tension the postwar period in which modernism claimed superiority over realism and the late twentieth century when a retrieval of the realist and figurative traditions seemed to occur Wolff concludes by considering this re emergence as well as the limitations of earlier discussions of the struggles of realist and figurative art to endure the currents of modernism Englishness of English Art Sir Nikolaus Pevsner, 1955 The Englishness of English Art Nikolaus Pevsner, 1955 "Landscape, Art and Identity in 1950s Britain " Catherine Jolivet, 2017-07-05 During the years following World War II debates about the British landscape fused with questions of national identity as the country reconstructed its sense of self For better or for worse artists statesmen and ordinary citizens saw themselves reflected in the landscape and in turn helped to shape the way that others envisioned the land While landscape art is frequently imagined in terms of painting this book examines the role of landscape in terms of a broader definition of visual culture to include the discussion not only of works of oil on canvas but also prints sculpture photography advertising fashion journalism artists biographies and the multi media stage of the national exhibition Making extensive use of archival materials newspaper reviews radio broadcasts interviews with artists letters and exhibition planning documents Catherine Jolivet explores the intersection of landscape art with a variety of discourses including the role of women in contemporary society the status of immigrant artists in Britain developments in science and technology and the promotion of British art and culture abroad

Nation and Narration Homi K. Bhabha, 2013-05-13 Bhabha in his preface writes Nations like narratives lose their origins in the myths of time and only fully encounter their horizons in the mind's eye From this seemingly impossibly metaphorical beginning this volume confronts the realities of the concept of nationhood as it is lived and the profound ambivalence of language as it is written From Gillian Beer's reading of Virginia Woolf Rachel Bowlby's cultural history of Uncle Tom's Cabin and Francis Mulhern's study of Leavis's English ethics to Doris Sommer's study of the magical realism of Latin American fiction and Sneja Gunew's analysis of Australian writing Nation and Narration is a celebration of the fact that English is no longer an English national consciousness which is not nationalist but is the only thing that will give us an international dimension
